Meets Same Death as Father

Catskill, N. Y., March 27 (AP)—Eighteen-year-old Paul Sinnott Jr., died last night the way his father did almost a year ago—in a car-truck collision. The Catskill youth was killed when his car and a tractor-trailer collided at an intersection four miles west of here. Paul Sinnott Sr. was killed last April near Saugerties, Ulster county, when his car and a tractor-trailer collided. (Earl Cooper photo)

Former Workers Are Questioned

Danvers, Mass., March 27 (AP)—FBI agents today began a roundup of all former employes of the U. S. Trucking Corp., one of whose armored trucks was robbed of $681,000 in Danvers Square Tuesday while its three guards sipped coffee about 20 feet away.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation maintained an official silence on the matter but the information was divulged by a source close to the investigation.

The source, who asked that his name not be used, said he believes the FBI hopes to determine if one of the former employes kept a key to the truck when he left the employ of the armored car service or divulged how a key could be obtained.

Officials Evolve Plan to Stave Off April Steel Strike

Washington, March 27 (AP)—Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson dropped plans today for a top level parley of government officials concerned with the threat of a steel strike April 8.

Instead, he talked separately with the various price and wage control executives and ruled out any announcement today of what he may do next to head off a strike.

Talk Scheduled

By NORMAN WALKER

Washington, March 27 (AP)—Top administration officials worked today on a new plan to stave off a scheduled April 8 steel strike.

Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson arranged to meet with a dissenting colleague, Chairman Nathan P. Feinsinger of the Wage Stabilization Board (WSB), along with Economic Stabilizer Roger Putnam and Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall.

Wilson apparently had a new idea for settling the steel industry's crucial wage-price stalemate. He has indicated he wants to carve down wage settlement proposals advanced by Feinsinger's wage board.

But Feinsinger was known to be firm on the notion that the WSB's recommendation for a 17½ cent hourly pay boost plus other benefits for CIO steelworkers is perfectly fair. Wilson has said the WSB's proposals are inflationary and too high.

May Quit Soon

This showdown among top administration officials, with President Truman due back from his Florida vacation in late afternoon, held the possibility that someone in the administration's hierarchy may quit soon. Such was the temper of the situation.

One thing appeared certain: that the CIO Steelworkers Union, headed by Philip Murray, will get nowhere in negotiations with steel firms until the administration makes up its mind. The companies said they'll need price boosts of $12-a-ton if they grant the WSB-recommended terms.

Bargaining talks between Murray's union and U. S. Steel Corp. and Jones & Laughlin Steel began yesterday in Pittsburgh, but nothing was accomplished. Both sides looked to Washington for guidance.

Task Is Two-Fold

The administration's real task was two-fold: to answer the questions (1) whether Feinsinger's WSB over-stepped itself in its suggested solution and (2) assuming a wage boost, whether steel profits require any price

Giles Corporation Bids Low on Job

Soil Exploration Work Would Be Done for $18,990 by Firm

The Giles Drilling Corp., of New York, is low bidder for soil exploration and foundation investigation on a seven-mile section of the New York State Thruway between Kingston and Whiteport, B. D. Tallamy, state commissioner of public works announced today.

The bid of $18,990, was among three opened by the public works department for the New York State Thruway Authority for this project.

Tallamy, who is also chairman of the authority, said, "It is expected that a formal award of the contract will be made to the low bidder following an analysis of bids and processing of the new contract forms."

Included in the work will be the drilling of some 4500 lineal feet of soil exploration holes at five locations. A total of 49 test holes are involved in the project which was estimated at $24,500.

The subsurface information obtained from this project will be used as the basis for detail design of this section of the Thruway. Work will be under the direction of J. S. Bixby, district engineer in charge of the department's Poughkeepsie office.

Will Mend Fences

Albany, N. Y., March 27 (AP)—Governor Dewey is planning some fence-mending. The wooden fence on the south side of the executive mansion will be rebuilt, and, incidentally, will be constructed to prevent peeping. The State Public Works Department announced today the low bid for the project was $14,564, by S. Cozzolino of Albany. The work will include installation of a concrete retaining wall under the fence.

Says Request Droped

Tehran, Iran, March 27 (AP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh said today Iran is dropping its request for a U. S. loan to help meet financial difficulties caused by a loss in oil revenue. The U. S. State Department said a week ago a loan could not be justified as long as Iran refused to reach a settlement with Britain for reviving the dormant oil industry.

Week's Time Is Taken—Counsel Claims Data Defective

Nine men arrested March 13 on gambling charges following a raid on an alleged local craps game won another week's adjournment through argument of counsel when they appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today.

The judge granted the adjournment to permit Attorney John Larkin, who represents the district attorney's office, time to answer counsel for the defendants who claim that the information on which the arrests were made is "jurisdictionally defective."

Vincent G. Connelly, appearing for Robert L. Vincent, of 49 Dunneman avenue, one of the defendants, argued for dismissal of the information and counsel for the others concurred.

Attorney Larkin revealed at the session that the district attorney has "some thought" of bringing the case before the grand jury,

Candidates Are Anxious For Primary

Taft Supporters Hope for Big Write-In in Nebraska Voting Next Tuesday

Kerr Sees Gains

Oklahoman Denies Role of 'Stalking Horse' for President

Omaha, March 27 (AP)—Republican and Democratic presidential candidates turned on a home-stretch drive today carefully planned to boom Nebraska's April 1 primary into an election of nation-wide importance.

Political leaders have chosen deliberately to make this state a "popularity" testing ground—a decision which could have strong repercussions throughout the mid-west farm belt.

On the Republican side:

Supporters of Senator Taft of Ohio hope to roll up a huge write-in vote to offset the senator's losses in New Hampshire and Minnesota to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. They called in retired Lt. Gen Albert C. Wedemeyer, a native Nebraskan, to open the final drive.

Eisenhower Aides Working

Eisenhower backers see the New Hampshire-Minnesota results as a trend which will carry the general to another write-in victory in this state. They are working hard to match the Taft drive.

On the Democratic side:

Senator Kefauver of Tennessee returned to Nebraska from Wisconsin for a weekend of whirlwind campaigning in the eastern part of the state, where his path was to cross that of his opponent, Senator Kerr of Oklahoma.

Kerr told newsmen in Lincoln last night "I think we are gaining on Kefauver." He added: "I have always thought that if I could win in Nebraska, I would have an excellent chance for the (Democratic) nomination. I am more convinced of that than ever."

Kerr denied he is a "stalking horse" for President Truman. But he has said repeatedly he will step aside if the President runs again.

Special interest centered on the Taft-Eisenhower race in this state which normally gives a top-heavy vote to the GOP presidential nominee.

Two weeks ago the Nebraska primary appeared to have little national significance so far as the Republicans were concerned. The only GOP candidates to qualify were Harold E. Stassen and Mrs. Mary Kenny of Lincoln, a housewife who is an avowed supporter of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

But after the astonishing write-in victory for Eisenhower in Minnesota, things began to happen. The Taft people decided to use the Nebraska primary as a vehicle for gaining lost prestige. The Eisenhower backers jumped in with a write-in campaign for the general.

Is Best Candidate

Wedemeyer told reporters he was convinced that "Taft is the best qualified avowed candidate for the presidency considering the conditions faced by our country today." He added that he considered Eisenhower an "avowed candidate," but not MacArthur.

Asked why he supports Taft, the general (who now is in business in New York) replied: "He would resist centralization of power in Washington. In foreign policy, Taft would put America first. He is not an isolationist. He is a realist."

Unlike Minnesota, there will be no voting by machines. Each ballot will have a blank line on which voters may write in their presidential choice.

Kefauver Opposes Idea

Queen Juliana, Party to Use Broadway Underpass April 5

Temporary Opening Is Planned by Lipsett to Assist Program

Queen Juliana of The Netherlands and her royal party through special, temporary arrangements will be the first to use the Broadway underpass now under construction, the city's 300th anniversary committee announced today.

This, the committee said, is an "unexpected favorable development" in plans for the queen's visit here April 5 as a highlight of the anniversary program.

The contractor on the Broadway crossing project, Lipsett Inc., has offered "at the cost of a great deal of effort and hundreds of dollars in extra labor and materials, to lay a temporary one-way road and provide special liability insurance so that the queen can be routed through the central Broadway shopping area from the high school to Academy Green," the announcement said.

Delays Are Regretted

A representative of the contractor said he regretted the unavoidable delays in the completion of the project "as much as the merchants in the area do" and the contractor wishes "to undertake this gesture as a token of appreciation from the company of the trials and tribulations that both contractor and the public have undergone."

The contractor's spokesman said it would be possible to permit only passage of the royal cavalcade on this day and it was regrettable that such accommodation could not be undertaken later without postponing the completion date.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk worked with the contractor and the celebration committee in facilitating the change so that the Broadway area could participate fully in the festivities and so that a full measure of protection to the city and for the speediest possible eventual completion of this job would be safeguarded.

The Central Businessmen's Association, through its president, Louis Jones, urged the Broadway merchants to put their best foot forward on the eventful day. He urged storeowners to display flags and any other simple decorations

These four brothers and a sister were left on a street in Bluefield, West Va., after being told to deliver a note to police. Chief C. N. Wilson said the note was signed by Kelly Hall, Pocahontas, Va., coal miner, and that it said the mother had left home with another man and that Hall could not take care of the children while working. The eldest child, Joyce Ann, 8, is holding the youngest, Lloyd, 9 months. At left Robert, 7, holds the hand of Richard, 2, Calvin, 3, is at right.

Chang Declares Americans Can't Talk for Koreans

Negotiators Swap Plans on Exchange of Prisoners for Both Sides

Munsan, Korea, March 27 (AP)—Korean truce negotiators today swapped detailed explanations of how they want to exchange prisoners of war as the UN command openly sought a compromise.

Col. Don O. Darrow inadvertently triggered the outburst while discussing a Korean translation of United Nations.

Darrow told the Communists they had no right to haggle over the point since "you seem to forget that I represent the Korean people also—those allied with the United Nations."

"The Americans cannot represent the Korean people," North Korean Col. Chang Chun San retorted angrily.

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, official UN spokesman, said the translation dispute has been regarded as a mere technicality, but it "is taking on some significance."

What They Want

The Communists want the UN command to be known in Korea as "allied forces," the UN prefers "international allied forces." One of these is about as close as you can come in Korean to United Nations.

Today's argument was in a session on supervising the truce.

Nuckols said both allied and Communist staff officers working on prisoner exchange made "extensive statements which are apparently well-considered views."

He declined to comment "on what the views are and the extent of their divergency, if any."

Nuckols said the three secret sessions on prisoner exchange have "produced some clarification." He did not elaborate.

Concentrate on Kling

New York, March 27 (AP)—The state in its wind-up court session against master criminal Willie Sutton, on trial for a $64,000 Queens bank robbery two years ago, concentrated today on linking his pal, Thomas Kling, with the getaway car. The car was found abandoned in Manhattan and has been identified by a third man charged with the hold-up, John De Venuta, as the car he drove to and from the bank. Three exploded .32 calibre shells were found in the car and the state has declared that Ballistics tests prove they were fired from the gun found on Kling when he was arrested last month.

Pilot Lands Plane With 50 Aboard, Then It Is Burned

Smooth Landing Made in Wheat Field in Kansas; Only One Hurt

Hugoton, Kas., March 27 (AP)—"The only sensible thing to do was land."

That was the only comment from Chief Pilot Jack Stanford who helped land a flying airliner with 50 persons aboard in a wheat field yesterday.

Only one passenger was injured.

The Braniff Airlines' DC-4 came down with one of its four engines gone and a wing in flames. The landing was perfect.

Minutes after the 45 passengers and five crew members scurried out, flames consumed virtually the entire plane.

Neither Stanford nor Co-Pilot John Beakley, both of Dallas, Tex., would take credit for an extraordinary job. They had little to say.

Lawyer Gives Story

But O. R. Stites, an Oklahoma city lawyer who was a passenger, described the landing "as smooth as any I've ever seen."

He gave this description:

"I was sitting on the right side about two seats back of the wing when I noticed fire around the right inboard engine. I called the stewardesses and they went forward to tell the captain (Stanford).

"He came back, took one quick look and told us to fasten our safety belts. Then he banked the plane to put the stress on the opposite wing and started down. I judged we were about 6,000 feet above ground then.

"About halfway down the motor feel off."

"No one talked at all. I guess

Senator Had His Sights On Fairness

Did Not Know Man

Says Attorney Asked Him to Check Points in Case

Washington, March 27 (AP)—Senator Styles Bridges (R.-N.H.) testified today he took an interest in a seven million dollar tax case against a Baltimore liquor dealer because he wanted to encourage "quick and proper action" by the government.

In the witness chair before House tax investigators, Bridges suggested that as a member of Congress he should be interested in seeing that the government secured a fair amount of tax and was also fair to the taxpayer.

He has nothing but "official interest" in the matter, he declared.

Bridges, Senate Republican floor leader, said his intercession was "a typical congressional inquiry" made on request. He added: "I handled this case as I handled thousands of others."

Says Maloney Asked

Bridges said his attention was called to the case by William Power Maloney, New York attorney and former Justice Department official.

The House group is making a general inquiry into tax scandals and irregularities.

It has developed that Bridges and Henry Grunewald, mysterious man-about-Washington, took an active interest in a seven-million-dollar jeopardy tax assessment the government placed in 1949 against Hyman Harvey Klein of Baltimore. There was testimony they made repeated inquiries to the Bureau of Internal Revenue about the case.

Involves 5 Millions

The case, still pending, involves five million dollars Klein said he made on a wartime liquor importing deal.

Klein has testified that he is not acquainted with either Bridges or Grunewald, hadn't authorized them to act in his case, and did not know why they interceded in it.

Maloney, who is now attorney for Grunewald, has testified that he asked Bridges as "a friend" to make inquiries about the case. Maloney said he had not been retained by Klein but acted because his law partner was a friend of Klein.

Bridges appeared before the investigating subcommittee at his own request and was placed under oath as all other witnesses have been.

He testified that he did not know Klein.

"My interest in this tax matter did not stem at all from Mr. Klein or his attorneys," Bridges went on.

Stems From Information

"It stemmed from the information that the Internal Revenue Bureau had already received a large tax payment and was making claims with penalties which might exceed the total profit.

"I knew that in such instances the government can tie up the assets of the taxpayer and that common ordinary fairness requires that the government be reasonably diligent in disposing of the matter so that the government obtains the fair amount of tax but also that the taxpayer has the benefits of whatever profit he was entitled to retain.

"My action in this matter was intended to encourage quick and proper action by the government."

Says He Was Competent

Bridges said he had known Maloney as a "competent public official" and had felt confident Maloney would not ask him to "make an inquiry which would be improper."

The senator added that if Maloney had made any reference to any fraud charge being involved in the case "I would have made no inquiry."

After declaring he had nothing but "official interest" in the matter and was prompted only by Maloney's request, Bridges added: "I do not have nor have I ever had any interest, direct or indirect, in any of the companies with which Mr. Klein is connect-

Tri-City Area Has Gain in Building

Private homebuilding authorizations in the state dropped nine per cent for the first two months of this year, it was announced today, but the Kingston-Newburgh-Poughkeepsie area shows a gain.

State Housing Commissioner Herman T. Stichman said that permit valuation for all types of building in urban places in the mid-Hudson area for the first two months in 1952 was $1,382,000.

Permits were issued for 118 dwellings valued at $1,119,900 as compared to 49 dwelling units valued at $450,400 for the first two months in 1951.

The total valuation for this year includes about $189,500 for additions and repairs and $72,700 for new non-residential structures in the area including the three larger cities as well as Beacon, Middletown, Port Jervis, Ellenville, Goshen, Saugerties, Highland Falls, Walden, Wappinger Falls and Warwick.

Total permits issued in the state this year for the first two months was 3,912 as against 4,319 a year ago.

Impellitteri Gets Governor Dewey's Okay Of New York's Program; Blasts Halley

Albany, N. Y., March 27 (AP)—Mayor Vincent Impellitteri today had Governor Dewey's approval of New York city's fiscal-relief program along with an implied blast at Council President Rudolph Halley, the mayor's bitter critic.

Dewey signed seven bills yesterday implementing a $234,800,000 stopgap program designed to balance the city's new budget without boosting its 10-cent transit fare.

The program calls for continuation of the city's 3-per-cent sales tax, expanded city authority to levy other "nuisance" taxes and a series of fiscal "shortcuts" that will give the city millions in extra revenues or savings.

In signing the bills, Dewey turned his guns on Halley by unmistakable implication.

The governor said the "attainment of a satisfactory permanent solution (to the city's financial problems) can be made more difficult, if not insoluble, by the irresponsible demagoguery which has been offered from persons who contribute nothing to finding sound answers."

"Partisan opportunists who are belatedly against everything that is proposed and proffer nothing that is constructive or attainable do the city and its people great disservice," Dewey asserted.

Dewey said the legislation was "designed to furnish a temporary solution for a situation which has developed over a period of years and is now aggravated by the current uncontrolled inflation."

The measures, he added, were "reluctantly accepted" by his Republican state administration "in an effort to provide the city with sufficient time to produce an acceptable long-range plan for the solution of its financial difficulties."

Halley attacked the city-state agreement on the "package" legislation last Sunday at a Democratic club meeting. He criticized the proposals themselves, chiefly the added nuisance taxes, and denounced the manner in which, he said, city officials had come to Albany to "beg" for legislation.

The council president, former quizmaster for the U. S. Senate's Crime Investigating Committee, contended the added nuisance taxes were not needed to balance the city's budget.

In addition to the seven bills,

Stevenson Rejects Truman Bid to Run for Nomination

Chicago, March 27 (AP)—The Chicago Daily Sun-Times, in a copyright dispatch from Washington, today said that Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois has "firmly declined President Truman's invitation to seek the Democratic presidential nomination."

"And," said the story written by Carleton Kent, "it was learned Wednesday only a full-blown convention draft could shake his (Stevenson's) decision."

"Stevenson communicated this decision, gently but with great firmness, to Mr. Truman shortly before the President's departure for a Key West holiday, on March 7," the Sun-Times added.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, in a copyright dispatch from Washington yesterday, said Truman had requested Stevenson to become the administration's presidential candidate.

Presidential Secretary Joseph Short, in Key West, Fla., said he had no comment on the story. He added that this was in line with White House refusal to comment on any political story.

Stevenson, in Springfield, Ill., said "I have no comment on the Post Dispatch story. As I have said repeatedly I am a candidate for re-election as governor of Illinois and have no other ambitions. I have also said repeatedly that I cannot comment on my conversation with President Truman."

Queen Juliana, Party to Use Broadway Underpass April 5

Temporary Opening Is Planned by Lipsett to Assist Program

Queen Juliana of The Netherlands and her royal party through special, temporary arrangements will be the first to use the Broadway underpass now under construction, the city's 300th anniversary committee announced today.

This, the committee said, is an "unexpected favorable development" in plans for the queen's visit here April 5 as a highlight of the anniversary program.

The contractor on the Broadway crossing project, Lipsett Inc., has offered "at the cost of a great deal of effort and hundreds of dollars in extra labor and materials, to lay a temporary one-way road and provide special liability insurance so that the queen can be routed through the central Broadway shopping area from the high school to Academy Green," the announcement said.

Delays Are Regretted

A representative of the contractor said he regretted the unavoidable delays in the completion of the project "as much as the merchants in the area do" and the contractor wishes "to undertake this gesture as a token of appreciation from the company of the trials and tribulations that both contractor and the public have undergone."

The contractor's spokesman said it would be possible to permit only passage of the royal cavalcade on this day and it was regrettable that such accommodation could not be undertaken later without postponing the completion date.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk worked with the contractor and the celebration committee in facilitating the change so that the Broadway area could participate fully in the festivities and so that a full measure of protection to the city and for the speediest possible eventual completion of this job would be safeguarded.

The Central Businessmen's Association, through its president, Louis Jones, urged the Broadway merchants to put their best foot forward on the eventful day. He urged storeowners to display flags and any other simple decorations

Homeless Children

These four brothers and a sister were left on a street in Bluefield, West Va., after being told to deliver a note to police. Chief C. N. Wilson said the note was signed by Kelly Hall, Pocahontas, Va., coal miner, and that it said the mother had left home with another man and that Hall could not take care of the children while working. The eldest child, Joyce Ann, 8, is holding the youngest, Lloyd, 9 months. At left Robert, 7, holds the hand of Richard, 2, Calvin, 3, is at right.

Chang Declares Americans Can't Talk for Koreans

Negotiators Swap Plans on Exchange of Prisoners for Both Sides

Munsan, Korea, March 27 (AP)—Korean truce negotiators today swapped detailed explanations of how they want to exchange prisoners of war as the UN command openly sought a compromise.

Col. Don O. Darrow inadvertently triggered the outburst while discussing a Korean translation of United Nations.

Darrow told the Communists they had no right to haggle over the point since "you seem to forget that I represent the Korean people also—those allied with the United Nations."

"The Americans cannot represent the Korean people," North Korean Col. Chang Chun San retorted angrily.

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, official UN spokesman, said the translation dispute has been regarded as a mere technicality, but it "is taking on some significance."

What They Want

The Communists want the UN command to be known in Korea as "allied forces," the UN prefers "international allied forces." One of these is about as close as you can come in Korean to United Nations.

Today's argument was in a session on supervising the truce.

Nuckols said both allied and Communist staff officers working on prisoner exchange made "extensive statements which are apparently well-considered views."

He declined to comment "on what the views are and the extent of their divergency, if any."

Nuckols said the three secret sessions on prisoner exchange have "produced some clarification." He did not elaborate.

Concentrate on Kling

New York, March 27 (AP)—The state in its wind-up court session against master criminal Willie Sutton, on trial for a $64,000 Queens bank robbery two years ago, concentrated today on linking his pal, Thomas Kling, with the getaway car. The car was found abandoned in Manhattan and has been identified by a third man charged with the hold-up, John De Venuta, as the car he drove to and from the bank. Three exploded .32 calibre shells were found in the car and the state has declared that Ballistics tests prove they were fired from the gun found on Kling when he was arrested last month.

Pilot Lands Plane With 50 Aboard, Then It Is Burned

Smooth Landing Made in Wheat Field in Kansas; Only One Hurt

Hugoton, Kas., March 27 (AP)—"The only sensible thing to do was land."

That was the only comment from Chief Pilot Jack Stanford who helped land a flying airliner with 50 persons aboard in a wheat field yesterday.

Only one passenger was injured.

The Braniff Airlines' DC-4 came down with one of its four engines gone and a wing in flames. The landing was perfect.

Minutes after the 45 passengers and five crew members scurried out, flames consumed virtually the entire plane.

Neither Stanford nor Co-Pilot John Beakley, both of Dallas, Tex., would take credit for an extraordinary job. They had little to say.

Lawyer Gives Story

But O. R. Stites, an Oklahoma city lawyer who was a passenger, described the landing "as smooth as any I've ever seen."

He gave this description:

"I was sitting on the right side about two seats back of the wing when I noticed fire around the right inboard engine. I called the stewardesses and they went forward to tell the captain (Stanford).

"He came back, took one quick look and told us to fasten our safety belts. Then he banked the plane to put the stress on the opposite wing and started down. I judged we were about 6,000 feet above ground then.

"About halfway down the motor feel off."

"No one talked at all. I guess

Senator Had His Sights On Fairness

Did Not Know Man

Says Attorney Asked Him to Check Points in Case

Washington, March 27 (AP)—Senator Styles Bridges (R.-N.H.) testified today he took an interest in a seven million dollar tax case against a Baltimore liquor dealer because he wanted to encourage "quick and proper action" by the government.

In the witness chair before House tax investigators, Bridges suggested that as a member of Congress he should be interested in seeing that the government secured a fair amount of tax and was also fair to the taxpayer.

He has nothing but "official interest" in the matter, he declared.

Bridges, Senate Republican floor leader, said his intercession was "a typical congressional inquiry" made on request. He added: "I handled this case as I handled thousands of others."

Says Maloney Asked

Bridges said his attention was called to the case by William Power Maloney, New York attorney and former Justice Department official.

The House group is making a general inquiry into tax scandals and irregularities.

It has developed that Bridges and Henry Grunewald, mysterious man-about-Washington, took an active interest in a seven-million-dollar jeopardy tax assessment the government placed in 1949 against Hyman Harvey Klein of Baltimore. There was testimony they made repeated inquiries to the Bureau of Internal Revenue about the case.

Involves 5 Millions

The case, still pending, involves five million dollars Klein said he made on a wartime liquor importing deal.

Klein has testified that he is not acquainted with either Bridges or Grunewald, hadn't authorized them to act in his case, and did not know why they interceded in it.

Maloney, who is now attorney for Grunewald, has testified that he asked Bridges as "a friend" to make inquiries about the case. Maloney said he had not been retained by Klein but acted because his law partner was a friend of Klein.

Bridges appeared before the investigating subcommittee at his own request and was placed under oath as all other witnesses have been.

He testified that he did not know Klein.

"My interest in this tax matter did not stem at all from Mr. Klein or his attorneys," Bridges went on.

Stems From Information

"It stemmed from the information that the Internal Revenue Bureau had already received a large tax payment and was making claims with penalties which might exceed the total profit.

"I knew that in such instances the government can tie up the assets of the taxpayer and that common ordinary fairness requires that the government be reasonably diligent in disposing of the matter so that the government obtains the fair amount of tax but also that the taxpayer has the benefits of whatever profit he was entitled to retain.

"My action in this matter was intended to encourage quick and proper action by the government."

Says He Was Competent

Bridges said he had known Maloney as a "competent public official" and had felt confident Maloney would not ask him to "make an inquiry which would be improper."

The senator added that if Maloney had made any reference to any fraud charge being involved in the case "I would have made no inquiry."

After declaring he had nothing but "official interest" in the matter and was prompted only by Maloney's request, Bridges added: "I do not have nor have I ever had any interest, direct or indirect, in any of the companies with which Mr. Klein is connect-

Tri-City Area Has Gain in Building

Private homebuilding authorizations in the state dropped nine per cent for the first two months of this year, it was announced today, but the Kingston-Newburgh-Poughkeepsie area shows a gain.

State Housing Commissioner Herman T. Stichman said that permit valuation for all types of building in urban places in the mid-Hudson area for the first two months in 1952 was $1,382,000.

Permits were issued for 118 dwellings valued at $1,119,900 as compared to 49 dwelling units valued at $450,400 for the first two months in 1951.

The total valuation for this year includes about $189,500 for additions and repairs and $72,700 for new non-residential structures in the area including the three larger cities as well as Beacon, Middletown, Port Jervis, Ellenville, Goshen, Saugerties, Highland Falls, Walden, Wappinger Falls and Warwick.

Total permits issued in the state this year for the first two months was 3,912 as against 4,319 a year ago.

Impellitteri Gets Governor Dewey's Okay Of New York's Program; Blasts Halley

Albany, N. Y., March 27 (AP)—Mayor Vincent Impellitteri today had Governor Dewey's approval of New York city's fiscal-relief program along with an implied blast at Council President Rudolph Halley, the mayor's bitter critic.

Dewey signed seven bills yesterday implementing a $234,800,000 stopgap program designed to balance the city's new budget without boosting its 10-cent transit fare.

The program calls for continuation of the city's 3-per-cent sales tax, expanded city authority to levy other "nuisance" taxes and a series of fiscal "shortcuts" that will give the city millions in extra revenues or savings.

In signing the bills, Dewey turned his guns on Halley by unmistakable implication.

The governor said the "attainment of a satisfactory permanent solution (to the city's financial problems) can be made more difficult, if not insoluble, by the irresponsible demagoguery which has been offered from persons who contribute nothing to finding sound answers."

"Partisan opportunists who are belatedly against everything that is proposed and proffer nothing that is constructive or attainable do the city and its people great disservice," Dewey asserted.

Dewey said the legislation was "designed to furnish a temporary solution for a situation which has developed over a period of years and is now aggravated by the current uncontrolled inflation."

The measures, he added, were "reluctantly accepted" by his Republican state administration "in an effort to provide the city with sufficient time to produce an acceptable long-range plan for the solution of its financial difficulties."

Halley attacked the city-state agreement on the "package" legislation last Sunday at a Democratic club meeting. He criticized the proposals themselves, chiefly the added nuisance taxes, and denounced the manner in which, he said, city officials had come to Albany to "beg" for legislation.

The council president, former quizmaster for the U. S. Senate's Crime Investigating Committee, contended the added nuisance taxes were not needed to balance the city's budget.

In addition to the seven bills,

Stevenson Rejects Truman Bid to Run for Nomination

Chicago, March 27 (AP)—The Chicago Daily Sun-Times, in a copyright dispatch from Washington, today said that Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois has "firmly declined President Truman's invitation to seek the Democratic presidential nomination."

"And," said the story written by Carleton Kent, "it was learned Wednesday only a full-blown convention draft could shake his (Stevenson's) decision."

"Stevenson communicated this decision, gently but with great firmness, to Mr. Truman shortly before the President's departure for a Key West holiday, on March 7," the Sun-Times added.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, in a copyright dispatch from Washington yesterday, said Truman had requested Stevenson to become the administration's presidential candidate.

Presidential Secretary Joseph Short, in Key West, Fla., said he had no comment on the story. He added that this was in line with White House refusal to comment on any political story.

Stevenson, in Springfield, Ill., said "I have no comment on the Post Dispatch story. As I have said repeatedly I am a candidate for re-election as governor of Illinois and have no other ambitions. I have also said repeatedly that I cannot comment on my conversation with President Truman."

Phone Strike Over

Newark, N. J., March 27 (AP)—State Treasurer Walter Margetts announced today a settlement in the strike of almost 7,000 New Jersey Bell Telephone Company workers. The agreement in the wage dispute was reached at a marathon mediation session here which lasted until early this morning. Margetts said the settlement would end the walkout of plant and accounting employes that started at 7 a. m. yesterday and hampered long-distance and non-dial calls. Non-striking telephone operators refused to cross picket lines that were set up outside 99 of the firm's 122 exchanges in the state. Terms of the new contract would give weekly pay boosts of from $4 to $6.50 to plant workers and from $3.50 to $5 weekly to the accounting employes. Margetts said.

Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

Retail egg prices advanced a little in many stores this week. Butter went down a few cents a pound.

Except for scattered declines in fryer and broiler chickens, beef rib and chuck roasts and a few other items, meat held about steady.

Fresh produce also was generally unchanged, although some large marketing sections posted slightly higher prices for best green beans, cabbage, celery, good lettuce, peppers, tomatoes and tangerines.

Retail mark-ups on eggs amounted to 2 to 4 cents a dozen and were attributed mostly to heavier military buying and shipment delays resulting from storms in the midwest last week-end.

Eggs are on List

However, eggs were still on the Agriculture Department's list of most-plentiful foods. And Barnett Gabriel, head of the National Egg and Poultry Department of the A & P food stores, reported: "Hens have been laying more eggs in recent weeks than ever before and present indications point to an adequate supply of the large whites for boiling and coloring for Easter eggs hunts."

The widespread reductions in butter prices reflected continued consumer price resistance, according to wholesalers in New York. One market authority said the outlook for expanding retail consumption of butter appeared dim "unless folks just get used to the idea of paying prices at about the current level and stop waiting for butter to go down sharply." The government's support price for butter would prevent any marked drop now, he said.

Chickens Available

Frying and broiling chickens were high on the list of advertised specials of many stores for the coming week-end. Supplies were large and were expected to increase even more in coming weeks. Chick placements in the major broiler production areas of the nation have been running two to three million birds a week larger than a year ago. Peak output is expected to come about mid-April and continue into June.

Turkeys also were in heavy supply. Turkey hatcheries reporting to the government produced nearly 60 per cent more gobblers last month than a year earlier, and at the beginning of this month had 30 per cent more turkey eggs in incubators than a year ago.

Featured Foods

Foods to be featured this week-end by major store chains and independents included these most frequently: chuck, rib and pot roast, leg and rump of veal, leg of lamb, lamb chops, fresh or smoked pork shoulder, hams, pork loins, round steak, several varieties of fresh and frozen fish, cabbage, carrots, lettuce, pascal celery, and citrus fruits.

The Agriculture Department's list of most-plentiful foods for thrifty buying this week included cabbage, cottage cheese and fish.

Its national list of plentifuls for the coming month: oranges, processed orange products, processed grapefruit (in the eastern and central U. S.), dried prunes, domestic dates, eggs, broilers and fryers, cottage cheese, nonfat dry milk, frozen fish, peanut butter, pecans, almonds, lard, vegetable shortening and salad oils.

Wholesale food prices dipped this week to the same average level as that of mid-October of 1950, according to the Dun & Bradstreet food index. Totaling up the wholesale cost of a pound each of 31 widely-used foods, the business reporting firm found the index at $6.48 this week compared with $6.54 last week and $7.21 a year ago. It had not been lower since it touched $6.41 on July 18, 1950.

Seaman Is Injured

New York, March 27 (AP)—Paul Daniel Cunningham, of Taunton, Mass., a seaman, first class, was in critical condition today at Marine Hospital, St. Albans, Queens, from a gunshot wound. Hospital authorities said Cunningham wounded himself accidentally late yesterday while on sentry duty at the navy special devices center, Sands Point. Details of the accident were not made public.

Scientists say the human brain is capable of holding 3,000,000,000 separate ideas.

KERHONKSON

Students Attend Tribune Forum

Kerhonkson, March 26 — Students from the Kerhonkson Union School were numbered among those attending the New York Herald Tribune Forum at the Hotel Astor Saturday. The primary purpose of which was to bring together the youth of the world and through them help to fight communism and at the same time seek an answer to the topic, around which the Forum centered The World We Want.

The first part of the Forum was given over to guest speakers and the children heard Governor Dewey, Percy Spender, Australian ambassador to the U. S.; Jonothan Bingham, Department of State representative. In brief, these men seemed to be of one mind; i.e., "we must build swiftly and firmly so that a strong power can not rise and divide us; keeping in mind the blessings of liberty, as set forth in the Bill of Rights. We must also help the people in foreign lands to improve their own standards of living, so that with a sense of hope for the future, these people will be better able to resist the false appeal of communism."

The Easten guests of this forum, representing 17 countries, participated in two forums; one in which they gave their reactions to life in the U. S.; and the second discussing The World We Want. In these panels the foreign students expressed themselves freely and one of the things that seem to come up repeatedly was that they could not quite understand the lack of respect that is shown teachers and parents by the youth here in America. The Eastern guests could not quite understand the American's idea to conform to a specific pattern in behavior and dress, for in their countries, each sought out individualism.

By the same token, U. S. students were impressed by the knowledge gained concerning living conditions, and the struggle for survival. Another striking impression left was the command that the foreign student has of the English language together with the level of intelligence, which in some instances reached a college level although these students were high school seniors. It seemed to be the unanimous opinion of all delegates that this was an experience that should be repeated more frequently for it helps to break down prejudices and discriminations that are in the minds of the youth who are the citizens of tomorrow.

Local students attending including Beatrice Booth, Clifford Markle, Barbara Decker, James Mesceda, Judith Misner and Arnold Van Etten, were accompanied by Robert Cummings, guidance director and social studies teacher; and Mr. and Mrs. Milford Misner.

The foreign students were brought to the U. S. for 10 weeks by the Pan-American World Airways and Trans-World Air Lines, and were returned in the same manner Monday.

Youth Needed in Politics

Bonn, Germany (AP)—The high mortality rate in the West German parliament has brought an urgent appeal for young people to get into politics. And, in fact, twenty-two members of the 402-member Bundestag have died since it was constituted in 1949. Only three of these have been accidental deaths. Alarmed by this and by the advanced age of many legislators, a 35-year-old deputy recently broadcast a radio plea for youth to get into politics "for the good of Germany and the European idea."

Rabbit Skin Prices Drop

Sydney, Australia (AP) — The price for rabbit skins here is the lowest since the depression of the early 1930's. "Actually prices today are worse than depression prices because of high costs," one dealer said. "When you see so many men going without hats, that's part of the answer. Hat makers have been among our biggest buyers." Demand from the United States, once a big buyer, has also dropped.

Antibiotics Aid Stock

Halifax, N. S. (AP)—Feeding of poultry and swine with foods spiked with special antibiotic ingredients, a process started in Nova Scotia a year ago, has apparently produced better birds and animals at reduced costs, agricultural officials announced. Use of the antibiotics brings the stock along quicker, making it ready for marketing at an earlier date. However, the foods have little affect on egg production, said one authority.

Dozen Baths Not Enough

Toledo (AP)—Orbin Shock takes a dozen baths a day but still takes another when he gets home. The first 12 don't do him any good because he's wearing a rubber diving suit that comes up to his chin, he says. He's underwater test driver for the sea-going Jeep being built here for the army. To test the engine, he drives the Jeep into a specially built pool where he lets the engine run for 15 minutes before shutting it off. After a minute he starts it up again and drives out.

Students Attend Tribune Forum

Kerhonkson, March 26 — Students from the Kerhonkson Union School were numbered among those attending the New York Herald Tribune Forum at the Hotel Astor Saturday. The primary purpose of which was to bring together the youth of the world and through them help to fight communism and at the same time seek an answer to the topic, around which the Forum centered The World We Want.

The first part of the Forum was given over to guest speakers and the children heard Governor Dewey, Percy Spender, Australian ambassador to the U. S.; Jonothan Bingham, Department of State representative. In brief, these men seemed to be of one mind; i.e., "we must build swiftly and firmly so that a strong power can not rise and divide us; keeping in mind the blessings of liberty, as set forth in the Bill of Rights. We must also help the people in foreign lands to improve their own standards of living, so that with a sense of hope for the future, these people will be better able to resist the false appeal of communism."

The Easten guests of this forum, representing 17 countries, participated in two forums; one in which they gave their reactions to life in the U. S.; and the second discussing The World We Want. ## TREATY RATIFICATION

The Senate's thumping 66 to 10 ratification of the Japanese Peace Treaty represents the "greatest deliberative body in the world" in one of its more enlightened moods. These have not been too frequent in recent times.

The treaty with Japan, already approved by five other countries, is a new departure in peace pacts. It is not vindictive and punitive. It is designed to promote among the Japanese a wholesome growth of democracy, a sound, self-sustaining economy and a friendly partnership with the free nations in the battle against communism.

Unquestionably the pact is not perfect. It represents the range of agreement that was possible among all the peace-making powers. No country will be wholly satisfied. If any were, the others would be dissatisfied.

But this treaty was ably conceived and hammered out. Many tributes have already been paid to the principal architect, John Foster Dulles. Final congratulations are now in order.

Dulles is a Republican, but a number of GOP senators were not by this fact shaken out of their customary opposition to American foreign commitments of whatever sort. And they were joined by Democratic Senator McCarran of Nevada, who also finds it necessary to be against things that involve other governments.

Nevertheless, the majority in both parties backed the treaty, and all efforts to attach crippling reservations or postpone action were beaten. It was widely recognized that this pact would do more to introduce elements of stability in the Far East than anything that has appeared on the scene since World War II ended.

This is the first major treaty to be adopted without the participation of our erstwhile Russian allies. It is an indication that we need not wait forever to attempt the creation of order in those portions of the world where our strength is commanding.

As if to emphasize this lesson, the Senate simultaneously ratified three accompanying security accords covering the Pacific area. Two were mutual agreements between the United States and the Philippines, and the U. S. and Australia-New Zealand. The third is a pact between this country and Japan, providing for the stationing of American troops in the Japanese islands, and otherwise reinforcing the peace treaty.

The 1952 session of the 82nd Congress is unlikely to be distinguished for much bold legislation, since election necessities normally exert a taming influence upon the lawmaker. The ratifying of the Japanese treaty may well be the real high-water mark for Congress this season.

RED SETBACK IN JAPAN

The Russian representatives in Tokyo may find themselves without any official status once the Japanese Peace Treaty is ratified by the Western Powers. The Soviet has refused to sign the treaty and as a result a state of war will exist between Russia and Japan long after Japan has regained its sovereignty from the West. Russia, whose total struggle against Japan amounted to six days of fighting immediately before the surrender, is heartily opposed to the Japanese Treaty.

When the treaty is signed Japanese officials indicate that they will close the Soviet embassy unless Russia makes some effort at negotiations. Russia, which demonstrated astuteness in dealing with other countries after the war, has fumbled the ball badly in Japan. The Japanese wonder what happened to 300,000 of their soldiers who are held as prisoners of war in Siberia. They are suspicious of the Russian occupation of the Kurile islands.

Had Russia decided to be cooperative it might have had a voice in the formation of the Japanese Treaty. Instead, the Soviet did everything in its power to prevent the treaty and now finds itself outside the door, with the door swinging shut.

Whoever thought that the wind could not blow from four directions at the same time must never have looked in on an evening poker game.

McCARRAN VS. LATTIMORE

When Owen Lattimore issued his 17,500-word diatribe against Congress and the world, many newspapers published huge parts of it. Senator McCarran's reply, to which all the members of his committee subscribed, was, in my judgment, insufficiently noted.

It would seem that Senator McCarran's formal charges, part of the record of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, places upon the attorney general the obligation to examine the record and to initiate actions under the law.

Senator McCarran said:

". . . The committee was confronted with an initial fusillade of invective, and a consistently evasive, contentious, and belligerent attitude.

"Suggestions have been made that the committee should seek to discipline Mr. Lattimore for his contumacious and contemptuous conduct. Clearly, Mr. Lattimore did, on many occasions, stand in contempt of the committee. . . ."

As regards Lattimore's memory, Senator McCarran stated:

"Mr. Lattimore has testified to having a type of memory with which the committee is quite familiar. With respect to some matters, he has demonstrated that his memory is extremely good. But he has testified that his memory was unreliable with respect to matters which ordinary men might be expected to remember most clearly. Very few men forget about their visits to the President of the United States, if the number of such visits is small. But Mr. Lattimore, who said he saw President Truman just once, wanted this committee to believe he had forgotten the incident when he testified befpre the Tydings Committee with respect to his influence on foreign policy.

"Mr. Lattimore also has testified before this committee that all during that prior Senate investigation he forgot the fact that he had a desk in the State Department Building, for 'four, five, or six' months during the last war.

"The precise extent to which Mr. Lattimore gave untruthful testimony before this committee will never be determined. Human limitations will prevent us from ever attaining the complete knowledge of all his activities which would make it possible to assess each statement he has made and to catalogue fully whatever untruths he may have uttered. That he has uttered untruths stands clear on the record. . . ."

Senator McCarran then proceeded to report in detail a number of untruths which appear in the testimony. As I am now engaged in reading the whole of the transcript of this hearing. I seem to have found some that Senator McCarran missed—contradictions, tricks of memory, etc. Of course, none of us can be sure of memories, but the subject matter with which the committee concerns itself relates directly to the fields in which Lattimore is a reputed expert. In such fields, it is expected that his memory will serve.

One interesting phase of the Lattimore testimony is his relationship to American policy. He denies that he has influenced the United States policy in the Far East. Yet, his testimony, as Senator McCarran states, shows that he exercised a very potent influence. This is the senator's statement:

". . . Mr. Lattimore's testimony is significant with respect to the facts. He testified that he wrote a letter to the President of the United States, in 1945, making certain statements with regard to conditions in the Far East, and urging a review of United States foreign policy with respect to the Far East, from which review then top officials of the State Department should be excluded. Mr. Lattimore testified that he saw the President personally, and left with him memoranda suggesting certain courses of action with respect to Japan and China; and that these memoranda included a recommendation for giving a larger measure of high authority to officials with China backgrounds.

"Soon thereafter, according to Mr. Lattimore's own testimony, the then top officials of the State Department were replaced, including former Ambassador Grew. Further, the number and importance of top jobs in the State Department, held by persons with China backgrounds, was increased. Finally this witness testified that the policy advocated, shortly thereafter, in the so-called 'Directive' on December 15, 1945, on China policy, and which our government sought to carry out in China, was substantially the same as the policy outlined in Mr. Lattimore's memoranda with respect to China; and that the policy adopted by the United States, with respect to Japan, was substantially the same as the policy with respect to Japan outlined in Mr. Lattimore's memoranda."

RELAXATION METHODS

During and since World War 1, the whole world has been in an upset condition. The tensions we suffer bring fatigue and tiredness. And so a number of books on relaxation have appeared, all of them of a helpful nature.

In American Journal of Psychiatry, New York, Dr. W. Neufeld states that, in 1943, reports from flight instructors at naval training stations indicated that many cadets seemed fatigued, restless, sleepless and apprehensive. Questionnaires filled out by 3,181 cadets at five preflight schools indicated nervous complaints in most of them. States of excessive tension while learning to fly came to be recognized as a menace, and reports from combat zones showed that high tension seemed partly responsible for loss of pilots and planes.

The relations of restlessness, insomnia, fatigue, apprehension and fear to states of nerve and muscle tension has been shown by Dr. Edmund Jabsobson, author of "You Must Relax." These symptoms can be lessened by methods of progressive relaxation which can be taught to a group.

When a training program for the relief of nervous symptoms and fatigue was introduced, five officers were given a course in progressive relaxation by Dr. Jacobson. These officers then instructed other officers and those in turn instructed cadets in classes numbering up to 300. The course in relaxation was of 10 weeks' duration, consisting of three periods a week of one-half hour each. Had the cadets practised between lectures, results obtained would have been much better.

Tests at the preflight school at Iowa City on 983 cadets who had received relaxation training showed a 19 per cent reduction of sprains, strains, fractures and other minor injuries in the test group as compared with a control group. Tests in these same groups revealed a 38 per cent reduction of days lost from injuries.

In three preflight schools, data were secured concerning the rest in bed of 140 cadets who had received relaxation training as compared with 190 cadets without such training. There was a marked decrease in restlessness. The cadets who had received relaxation training went to sleep more quickly and had less insomnia.

Lying on side, closing the eyes, breathing deeply as if exhausted and avoiding any purposeful movement is one method of relaxing and getting off to sleep.

"Mind a Suggestion That'll Help Us Both?"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—"How to get rich while working for the government" might well be the title of the testimony given the King tax-fraud subcommittee last week by Joe Nunan, ex-commissioner of internal revenue, the man who once collected the nation's taxes.

Only trouble with Nunan's sensational testimony was that it was given behind closed doors. The public couldn't get the full benefit of the Nunan object lesson in how to make money while working for the government.

However, this column is able to give the public a detailed report of what happened. Here are the highlights:

1. Nunan's outside law fees and other outside income increased from $13,306 to $77,450 while he was tax commissioner. This was from 1944 to 1947.

2. Nunan attended a party given by racketeer Frankie Costello at the Copacabana Night Club, which Costello owns. Parenthetically, it should be noted that, after he left the government, Nunan turned up working for the night-club owners of New York, of which Costello was one.

3. Nunan threw a $3,000 cocktail party for Attorney General McGrath and Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark. This was after he had left the government, and the purpose of the party was to introduce his law clients to McGrath and Justice Clark.

Star Prosecutor

Star of the closed hearing was Adrian De Wind, the committee's crack counsel, who hammered at Nunan relentlessly. The ex-tax chief remained cool, however, politely refused to answer when questions got too ticklish.

"While you were commissioner of internal revenue, you continued to have a private law practice, did you not?" demanded De Wind.

"That is correct," acknowledged the suave New Yorker.

De Wind then read from Nunan's tax returns showing that his law business brought in $13,306 in 1944, doubled to $27,000 in 1945, jumped to $57,363 in 1946 and finally hit $77,450 in 1947—the four years that Nunan served as internal revenue commissioner.

"Your income from your law business increased substantially during the time that you were commissioner of internal revenue, did it not?" observed Congressman Robert Kean, New Jersey Republican.

"Yes, sir," agreed Nunan.

"Why was that?" asked Kean.

"Because I guess we did more business, I can't say why," shrugged Nunan.

"Did you give any time to your law firm?" broke in Congressman Carl Curtis, Nebraska Republican.

"No, sir, very little," Nunan replied.

"Did your firm ever handle any tax work at all?" asked Congressman John Byrnes, Wisconsin Republican.

"Very little," Nunan replied.

"Did not they do tax work while you were commissioner?" insisted Byrnes.

"Yes, sir. They did some tax work," admitted Nunan.

"Did the income from that go into some of these legal fees that you reported?" Byrnes demanded.

"Under the agreement with the firm, it wasn't supposed to, Mr. Congressman," explained Nunan.

"Did the only federal practice of the firm consist of tax practice?" De Wind interrupted.

"That would be, yes, I don't think they had anything with any of the other government agencies," replied the former commissioner.

Nunan's Own Tax Returns

The House probers were also critical of the slipshod way Nunan made out his own tax returns while he was tax chief. Under sharp questioning from De Wind, Nunan admitted that he hadn't bothered to itemize his expenses, contributions and other deductions—though the returns explicitly called for itemized lists.

"Do you not think that a commissioner of internal revenue ought to carry out his own instructions?" needled Congressman Byrnes.

"Yes, sir," meekly agreed Nunan.

De Wind then explored Nunan's acquaintance with racketeer Frankie Costello.

"I have met him twice, yes, sir," admitted Nunan. On both occasions, he explained that they had met at a New York bar and had been introduced by mutual friends.

"You have never attended any party or dinner or other affair given by Mr. Costello?" fired De Wind.

"Yes, I did," Nunan recalled. "I attended that dinner at the Copacabana that was supposed to be given for the Salvation Army."

"It was while you were commissioner?" pressed De Wind.

"Yes, sir," acknowledged Nunan. "I was invited to this party by, I think it was a man named Jim O'Connel."

He identified O'Connel as an old friend in the construction business; also testified that no other federal officials had attended Costello's party.

$3,000 Cocktail Party

As for Nunan's own party giving, he admitted shelling out $3,191 for a fancy party for Attorney General McGrath and Supreme Court Justice Clark at Washington's swahk Statler Hotel in October, 1949.

"The two federal officials were entertained and then the firm and you invited your private clients to the dinner?" asked De Wind.

"Yes, that is right," agreed Nunan.

"And you and the law firm viewed that as entirely a business expense?" pressed the counsel.

"Yes, sir," nodded Nunan.

"The party was designed to increase the business of the law firm?" asked De Wind.

"No, sir," denied Nunan. Then he admitted: "Well, in a certain respect it was; we had a good many of our clients there."

But when the committee started getting specific about the cash in Nunan's safe-deposit box and details of his business dealings, he clammed up and claimed his constitutional right not to answer. Meanwhile, a federal grand jury is still investigating him.

Crime Council Approved

Trenton, N. J., March 27 (AP)—The Legislature has approved Governor Driscoll's proposal for a five-man council with power to investigate crime anywhere in New Jersey. The council, which was given a one-year life, was created under a Senate bill passed last night by the Assembly. Driscoll is expected to sign the bill despite the fact that the Legislature refused to make the council a permanent body. He has said that when its one-year term expires, it will be easy to renew its existence. Council members would be non-salaried, and would be appointed by the governor with the consent of the Senate.

During the Johnstown, Pa., flood in 1889, a house owned by the parents of Mrs. F. B. Wood, of Washington, D.C., was swept from its foundation, moved two miles and finally settled on the foundation of a house being built by the same contractor who had built their house. William Thomas, owner of the property, bought the house and it stood on its new location until 1936 when another flood destroyed it.

Court Decision Illustrates How Individual Is Discriminated Against Under Tax Laws

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 27 — Congress sooner or later is going to wake up to the fact that the individual citizen is seriously discriminated against under the tax laws of today as compared with the treatment given businesses of all kinds.

The latest illustration is a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States this week, which said that a man who was assessed by the Treasury an additional $145,000 above what he had previously paid in gift taxes and ultimately was required by the tax court to pay a fraction of it—about $16,000—couldn't deduct as an expense what he paid his attorneys to fight the case.

While the majority of the court held that the present law means that attorneys' fees paid for contesting the amount of a federal gift tax couldn't be deducted, three dissenting judges felt the other way about it. This means that Congress alone can correct the inequity as portrayed in the dissenting decision written by Justice Jackson.

The issue affects every taxpayer who is faced with the choice of fighting a Treasury assessment or yielding to the demands of the government because the expense of litigation is too great to bear.

The present law reads that nonbusiness expenses may be deducted by the individual only when they are incurred "for the production or collection of income." In the instant case, the transaction arose out of a gift of stock over which there was a dispute as to its proper valuation. There is often a difference of opinion among experts as to the valuation of stock for gift-tax purposes. It so happens that the legal fees paid by the taxpayer in trying the case amounted to about $7,300, but he saved in all about $130,000 by going to court and, as Justice Jackson says, the taxpayer was thus able to preserve not only the capital but the income on the sum conserved. Justice Jackson wrote:

"Certainly contest against unwarranted exaction, regardless of its amount or outcome, is for the conservation of property and its reasonable cost is deductible.

"A majority of my brethren seem to think they can escape this conclusion by going further back in the chain of causation. They say the cause of this legal expense was the gift. Of course one can reason, as my brethren do, that if there had been no gifts there would have been no tax, if there had been no tax there would have been no deficiency, if there were no deficiency there would have been no contest, if there were no contest there would have been no expenses. And so the gifts caused the expense. The fallacy of such logic is that it would be just as possible to employ it to prove that the lawyer's fees were caused by having children. If there had been no children there would have been no gift, and if no gift no tax, and if no tax no deficiency, and if no deficiency no contest, and if no contest no expense. Hence, the lawyer's fee was not due to the contest at all but was a part of the cost of having babies. If this reasoning were presented by a taxpayer to avoid a tax, what would we say of it? So treacherous is this kind of reasoning that in most fields the law rests its conclusion only on proximate cause and declines to follow the winding trail of remote and multiple causations. . . .

"I think Congress allows a taxpayer to protect his estate, even against the Treasury. It seems to me a tacit slander of the nation's credit that need for money should drive us to such casuistry as this."

While Justice Black dissented from the six-judge majority opinion written by Justice Burton, he did not join in the minority opinion, which was written by Justice Jackson and concurred in by Justice Frankfurter.

When divisions like this occur, it is up to Congress to make more explicit by amendment to existing law just what it meant by authorizing deduction of expenses "paid or incurred during the taxable year for the production or collection of income."

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

A few days ago Harrison M. Lavender died in the house in La Jolla, California, which he had built and furnished in the last year of his life to be his home after his retirement from the copper mining industry in Arizona. Everything about Harry Lavender was fine and I would like to tell the unique story of his life. It may revive the wavering faith of some of our despondents.

I hope I will not be high-sounding about this.

Harry's father was a captain of our navy who retired because he had developed tuberculosis of the lungs. He took his wife, two sons and a daughter to Alaska in the gold rush. Mrs. Lavender soon died and the father came back to the states with the children. My information on the daughter is rather sketchy. She was sent to a sisters' school, married and, according to my informants, died a few years ago.

Harry was about three years old when they came back from Alaska. His brother was about 16. Mr. Lavender took the boys to Teluride, Colo., a gold camp then, and three years later he died, leaving the older boy with a six-year-old kid brother on his hands.

This young man got two rooms upstairs over the New Sheridan saloon in Teluride and busied himself at mining. In later years, he was very prominent in copper.

The little boy's best friend was a faro-dealer in the gambling room of the New Sheridan who gave him a pearl gray derby. Harry so cherished this grey derby that when his sister, now an elegant young lady, came to town for a short visit and tried to bribe him to ditch it for a sissy sailor hat with silk ribbons on the side, Harry was morally shocked.

She did not seem to realize that she was asking him to repudiate his friend, the faro-leader.

To sweeten the inducement, she offered to take him to a circus which was coming to town. Harry did not see the circus although in his heart he could imagine no more beautiful experience. His sister went back to North Dakota, doubting that her little brother ever would amount to anything. Hanging around a gambling house and drinking saloon. Listening to rough talk from coarse miners. And wearing that terrible hat.

Harry's diet was entirely steak and fried potatoes, except occasionally, ham and eggs or bacon and eggs, and fried potatoes, and, of course, coffee.

But Miss Fanny Dempsey, a waitress in the dining room, began to take a hand in his raising and made him eat oatmeal for breakfast. She seems to have been the first influential woman in his conscious life, for he had lost his mother when he was hardly more than a baby.

When Harry was ten he bought a pop-corn route from another boy. The clientele consisted mainly of the girls in the brothels. They were pleasant individuals and Mr. Lavender had a sincerely favorable opinion of them in his later years.

In his late 'teens, Harry hoboed across the northwest, working the harvest in the wheat country, which was a rather common experience of young men out that way in those years. After that, with the guidance of his brother, he went through the Colorado School of Mines, playing on the football team most of the way. A few years ago at my home in Tucson he modestly told Gene Fowler that he had received some pleasant mention in the paper under the by-line of a Cub sportswriter of the same name. They struck up a mutual admiration which was well justified. Gene, be it remembered, had a childhood similar to Harry's. He was a waif almost, the son of a father who had simply wandered off and had never come back. His grandmother raised him.

Harry Lavender took part in the Bisbee Deportation of 1917, in which vigilantes rounded up a lot of miners and shoved them over to Deming, N. M., in boxcars. He was not proud of that. Unquestionably, the strike and many brutal attacks on loyal American miners were fomented by Austrians and Turks in the mine who were enemy aliens then, Mexican Villistas and Wobblies devoted to chaos as a means of demolishing our capitalist republic. But Harry said the deportation was an emotional exploit conjured by a few imaginative hot-heads whose scheme got momentum and couldn't be checked.

At first the men were herded into the local ball-yard. The late Jack Greenway, one of Theodore Roosevelt's old Rough Riders, covered them with a gatling gun from a roof. He had no occasion to fire and the men went peacefully into the cars when the time came, but Harry often said that if they had just had the presence of mind to lie down and stay down the deportation would have failed.

There wasn't enough manpower or organization to man-handle them into the cars. Incidentally, President Wilson and Newton D.

TREATY RATIFICATION

The Senate's thumping 66 to 10 ratification of the Japanese Peace Treaty represents the "greatest deliberative body in the world" in one of its more enlightened moods. These have not been too frequent in recent times.

The treaty with Japan, already approved by five other countries, is a new departure in peace pacts. It is not vindictive and punitive. It is designed to promote among the Japanese a wholesome growth of democracy, a sound, self-sustaining economy and a friendly partnership with the free nations in the battle against communism.

Unquestionably the pact is not perfect. It represents the range of agreement that was possible among all the peace-making powers. No country will be wholly satisfied. If any were, the others would be dissatisfied.

But this treaty was ably conceived and hammered out. Many tributes have already been paid to the principal architect, John Foster Dulles. Final congratulations are now in order.

Dulles is a Republican, but a number of GOP senators were not by this fact shaken out of their customary opposition to American foreign commitments of whatever sort. And they were joined by Democratic Senator McCarran of Nevada, who also finds it necessary to be against things that involve other governments.

Nevertheless, the majority in both parties backed the treaty, and all efforts to attach crippling reservations or postpone action were beaten. It was widely recognized that this pact would do more to introduce elements of stability in the Far East than anything that has appeared on the scene since World War II ended.

This is the first major treaty to be adopted without the participation of our erstwhile Russian allies. It is an indication that we need not wait forever to attempt the creation of order in those portions of the world where our strength is commanding.

As if to emphasize this lesson, the Senate simultaneously ratified three accompanying security accords covering the Pacific area. Two were mutual agreements between the United States and the Philippines, and the U. S. and Australia-New Zealand. The third is a pact between this country and Japan, providing for the stationing of American troops in the Japanese islands, and otherwise reinforcing the peace treaty.

The 1952 session of the 82nd Congress is unlikely to be distinguished for much bold legislation, since election necessities normally exert a taming influence upon the lawmaker. The ratifying of the Japanese treaty may well be the real high-water mark for Congress this season.

RED SETBACK IN JAPAN

The Russian representatives in Tokyo may find themselves without any official status once the Japanese Peace Treaty is ratified by the Western Powers. The Soviet has refused to sign the treaty and as a result a state of war will exist between Russia and Japan long after Japan has regained its sovereignty from the West. Russia, whose total struggle against Japan amounted to six days of fighting immediately before the surrender, is heartily opposed to the Japanese Treaty.

When the treaty is signed Japanese officials indicate that they will close the Soviet embassy unless Russia makes some effort at negotiations. Russia, which demonstrated astuteness in dealing with other countries after the war, has fumbled the ball badly in Japan. The Japanese wonder what happened to 300,000 of their soldiers who are held as prisoners of war in Siberia. They are suspicious of the Russian occupation of the Kurile islands.

Had Russia decided to be cooperative it might have had a voice in the formation of the Japanese Treaty. Instead, the Soviet did everything in its power to prevent the treaty and now finds itself outside the door, with the door swinging shut.

Whoever thought that the wind could not blow from four directions at the same time must never have looked in on an evening poker game.

McCARRAN VS. LATTIMORE

When Owen Lattimore issued his 17,500-word diatribe against Congress and the world, many newspapers published huge parts of it. Senator McCarran's reply, to which all the members of his committee subscribed, was, in my judgment, insufficiently noted.

It would seem that Senator McCarran's formal charges, part of the record of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, places upon the attorney general the obligation to examine the record and to initiate actions under the law.

Senator McCarran said:

". . . The committee was confronted with an initial fusillade of invective, and a consistently evasive, contentious, and belligerent attitude.

"Suggestions have been made that the committee should seek to discipline Mr. Lattimore for his contumacious and contemptuous conduct. Clearly, Mr. Lattimore did, on many occasions, stand in contempt of the committee. . . ."

As regards Lattimore's memory, Senator McCarran stated:

"Mr. Lattimore has testified to having a type of memory with which the committee is quite familiar. With respect to some matters, he has demonstrated that his memory is extremely good. But he has testified that his memory was unreliable with respect to matters which ordinary men might be expected to remember most clearly. Very few men forget about their visits to the President of the United States, if the number of such visits is small. But Mr. Lattimore, who said he saw President Truman just once, wanted this committee to believe he had forgotten the incident when he testified before the Tydings Committee with respect to his influence on foreign policy.

"Mr. Lattimore also has testified before this committee that all during that prior Senate investigation he forgot the fact that he had a desk in the State Department Building, for 'four, five, or six' months during the last war.

"The precise extent to which Mr. Lattimore gave untruthful testimony before this committee will never be determined. Human limitations will prevent us from ever attaining the complete knowledge of all his activities which would make it possible to assess each statement he has made and to catalogue fully whatever untruths he may have uttered. That he has uttered untruths stands clear on the record. . . ."

Senator McCarran then proceeded to report in detail a number of untruths which appear in the testimony. As I am now engaged in reading the whole of the transcript of this hearing. I seem to have found some that Senator McCarran missed—contradictions, tricks of memory, etc. Of course, none of us can be sure of memories, but the subject matter with which the committee concerns itself relates directly to the fields in which Lattimore is a reputed expert. In such fields, it is expected that his memory will serve.

One interesting phase of the Lattimore testimony is his relationship to American policy. He denies that he has influenced the United States policy in the Far East. Yet, his testimony, as Senator McCarran states, shows that he exercised a very potent influence. This is the senator's statement:

". . . Mr. Lattimore's testimony is significant with respect to the facts. He testified that he wrote a letter to the President of the United States, in 1945, making certain statements with regard to conditions in the Far East, and urging a review of United States foreign policy with respect to the Far East, from which review then top officials of the State Department should be excluded. Mr. Lattimore testified that he saw the President personally, and left with him memoranda suggesting certain courses of action with respect to Japan and China; and that these memoranda included a recommendation for giving a larger measure of high authority to officials with China backgrounds.

"Soon thereafter, according to Mr. Lattimore's own testimony, the then top officials of the State Department were replaced, including former Ambassador Grew. Further, the number and importance of top jobs in the State Department, held by persons with China backgrounds, was increased. Finally this witness testified that the policy advocated, shortly thereafter, in the so-called 'Directive' on December 15, 1945, on China policy, and which our government sought to carry out in China, was substantially the same as the policy outlined in Mr. Lattimore's memoranda with respect to China; and that the policy adopted by the United States, with respect to Japan, was substantially the same as the policy with respect to Japan outlined in Mr. Lattimore's memoranda."

RELAXATION METHODS

During and since World War I, the whole world has been in an upset condition. The tensions we suffer bring fatigue and tiredness. And so a number of books on relaxation have appeared, all of them of a helpful nature.

In American Journal of Psychiatry, New York, Dr. W. Neufeld states that, in 1943, reports from flight instructors at naval training stations indicated that many cadets seemed fatigued, restless, sleepless and apprehensive. Questionnaires filled out by 3,181 cadets at five preflight schools indicated nervous complaints in most of them. States of excessive tension while learning to fly came to be recognized as a menace, and reports from combat zones showed that high tension seemed partly responsible for loss of pilots and planes.

The relations of restlessness, insomnia, fatigue, apprehension and fear to states of nerve and muscle tension has been shown by Dr. Edmund Jabsobson, author of "You Must Relax." These symptoms can be lessened by methods of progressive relaxation which can be taught to a group.

When a training program for the relief of nervous symptoms and fatigue was introduced, five officers were given a course in progressive relaxation by Dr. Jacobson. These officers then instructed other officers and those in turn instructed cadets in classes numbering up to 300. The course in relaxation was of 10 weeks' duration, consisting of three periods a week of one-half hour each. Had the cadets practised between lectures, results obtained would have been much better.

Tests at the preflight school at Iowa City on 983 cadets who had received relaxation training showed a 19 per cent reduction of sprains, strains, fractures and other minor injuries in the test group as compared with a control group. Tests in these same groups revealed a 38 per cent reduction of days lost from injuries.

In three preflight schools, data were secured concerning the rest in bed of 140 cadets who had received relaxation training as compared with 190 cadets without such training. There was a marked decrease in restlessness. The cadets who had received relaxation training went to sleep more quickly and had less insomnia.

Lying on side, closing the eyes, breathing deeply as if exhausted and avoiding any purposeful movement is one method of relaxing and getting off to sleep.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—"How to get rich while working for the government" might well be the title of the testimony given the King tax-fraud subcommittee last week by Joe Nunan, ex-commissioner of internal revenue, the man who once collected the nation's taxes.

Only trouble with Nunan's sensational testimony was that it was given behind closed doors. The public couldn't get the full benefit of the Nunan object lesson in how to make money while working for the government.

However, this column is able to give the public a detailed report of what happened. Here are the highlights:

1. Nunan's outside law fees and other outside income increased from $13,306 to $77,450 while he was tax commissioner. This was from 1944 to 1947.

2. Nunan attended a party given by racketeer Frankie Costello at the Copacabana Night Club, which Costello owns. Parenthetically, it should be noted that, after he left the government, Nunan turned up working for the night-club owners of New York, of which Costello was one.

3. Nunan threw a $3,000 cocktail party for Attorney General McGrath and Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark. This was after he had left the government, and the purpose of the party was to introduce his law clients to McGrath and Justice Clark.

Star Prosecutor

Star of the closed hearing was Adrian De Wind, the committee's crack counsel, who hammered at Nunan relentlessly. The ex-tax chief remained cool, however, politely refused to answer when questions got too ticklish.

"While you were commissioner of internal revenue, you continued to have a private law practice, did you not?" demanded De Wind.

"That is correct," acknowledged the suave New Yorker.

De Wind then read from Nunan's tax returns showing that his law business brought in $13,306 in 1944, doubled to $27,000 in 1945, jumped to $57,363 in 1946 and finally hit $77,450 in 1947—the four years that Nunan served as internal revenue commissioner.

"Your income from your law business increased substantially during the time that you were commissioner of internal revenue, did it not?" observed Congressman Robert Kean, New Jersey Republican.

"Yes, sir," agreed Nunan.

"Why was that?" asked Kean.

"Because I guess we did more business, I can't say why," shrugged Nunan.

"Did you give any time to your law firm?" broke in Congressman Carl Curtis, Nebraska Republican.

"No, sir, very little," Nunan replied.

"Did your firm ever handle any tax work at all?" asked Congressman John Byrnes, Wisconsin Republican.

"Very little," Nunan replied.

"Did not they do tax work while you were commissioner?" insisted Byrnes.

"Yes, sir. They did some tax work," admitted Nunan.

"Did the income from that go into some of these legal fees that you reported?" Byrnes demanded.

"Under the agreement with the firm, it wasn't supposed to, Mr. Congressman," explained Nunan.

"Did the only federal practice of the firm consist of tax practice?" De Wind interrupted.

"That would be, yes, I don't think they had anything with any of the other government agencies," replied the former commissioner.

Nunan's Own Tax Returns

The House probers were also critical of the slipshod way Nunan made out his own tax returns while he was tax chief. Under sharp questioning from De Wind, Nunan admitted that he hadn't bothered to itemize his expenses, contributions and other deductions—though the returns explicitly called for itemized lists.

"Do you not think that a commissioner of internal revenue ought to carry out his own instructions?" needled Congressman Byrnes.

"Yes, sir," meekly agreed Nunan.

De Wind then explored Nunan's acquaintance with racketeer Frankie Costello.

"I have met him twice, yes, sir," admitted Nunan. On both occasions, he explained that they had met at a New York bar and had been introduced by mutual friends.

"You have never attended any party or dinner or other affair given by Mr. Costello?" fired De Wind.

"Yes, I did," Nunan recalled. "I attended that dinner at the Copacabana that was supposed to be given for the Salvation Army."

"It was while you were commissioner?" pressed De Wind.

"Yes, sir," acknowledged Nunan. "I was invited to this party by, I think it was a man named Jim O'Connel."

He identified O'Connel as an old friend in the construction business; also testified that no other federal officials had attended Costello's party.

$3,000 Cocktail Party

As for Nunan's own party giving, he admitted shelling out $3,191 for a fancy party for Attorney General McGrath and Supreme Court Justice Clark at Washington's swank Statler Hotel in October, 1949.

"The two federal officials were entertained and then the firm and you invited your private clients to the dinner?" asked De Wind.

"Yes, that is right," agreed Nunan.

"And you and the law firm viewed that as entirely a business expense?" pressed the counsel.

"Yes, sir," nodded Nunan.

"The party was designed to increase the business of the law firm?" asked De Wind.

"No, sir," denied Nunan. Then he admitted: "Well, in a certain respect it was: we had a good many of our clients there."

But when the committee started getting specific about the cash in Nunan's safe-deposit box and details of his business dealings, he clammed up and claimed his constitutional right not to answer. Meanwhile, a federal grand jury is still investigating him.

Crime Council Approved

Trenton, N. J., March 27 (AP)—The Legislature has approved Governor Driscoll's proposal for a five-man council with power to investigate crime anywhere in New Jersey. The council, which was given a one-year life, was created under a Senate bill passed last night by the Assembly. Driscoll is expected to sign the bill despite the fact that the Legislature refused to make the council a permanent body. He has said that when its one-year term expires, it will be easy to renew its existence. Council members would be non-salaried, and would be appointed by the governor with the consent of the Senate.

During the Johnstown, Pa., flood in 1889, a house owned by the parents of Mrs. F. B. Wood, of Washington, D.C., was swept from its foundation, moved two miles and finally settled on the foundation of a house being built by the same contractor who had built their house. William Thomas, owner of the property, bought the house and it stood on its new location until 1936 when another flood destroyed it.

Court Decision Illustrates How Individual Is Discriminated Against Under Tax Laws

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 27 — Congress sooner or later is going to wake up to the fact that the individual citizen is seriously discriminated against under the tax laws of today as compared with the treatment given businesses of all kinds.

The latest illustration is a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States this week, which said that a man who was assessed by the Treasury an additional $145,000 above what he had previously paid in gift taxes and ultimately was required by the tax court to pay a fraction of it—about $16,000—couldn't deduct as an expense what he paid his attorneys to fight the case.

While the majority of the court held that the present law means that attorneys' fees paid for contesting the amount of a federal gift tax couldn't be deducted, three dissenting judges felt the other way about it. This means that Congress alone can correct the inequity as portrayed in the dissenting decision written by Justice Jackson.

The issue affects every taxpayer who is faced with the choice of fighting a Treasury assessment or yielding to the demands of the government because the expense of litigation is too great to bear.

The present law reads that nonbusiness expenses may be deducted by the individual only when they are incurred "for the production or collection of income." In the instant case, the transaction arose out of a gift of stock over which there was a dispute as to its proper valuation. There is often a difference of opinion among experts as to the valuation of stock for gift-tax purposes. It so happens that the legal fees paid by the taxpayer in trying the case amounted to about $7,300, but he saved in all about $130,000 by going to court and, as Justice Jackson says, the taxpayer was thus able to preserve not only the capital but the income on the sum conserved. Justice Jackson wrote:

"Certainly contest against unwarranted exaction, regardless of its amount or outcome, is for the conservation of property and its reasonable cost is deductible.

"A majority of my brethren seem to think they can escape this conclusion by going further back in the chain of causation. They say the cause of this legal expense was the gift. Of course one can reason, as my brethren do, that if there had been no gifts there would have been no tax, if there had been no tax there would have been no deficiency, if there were no deficiency there would have been no contest, if there were no contest there would have been no expenses. And so the gifts caused the expense. The fallacy of such logic is that it would be just as possible to employ it to prove that the lawyer's fees were caused by having children. If there had been no children there would have been no gift, and if no gift no tax, and if no tax no deficiency, and if no deficiency no contest, and if no contest no expense. Hence, the lawyer's fee was not due to the contest at all but was a part of the cost of having babies. If this reasoning were presented by a taxpayer to avoid a tax, what would we say of it? So treacherous is this kind of reasoning that in most fields the law rests its conclusion only on proximate cause and declines to follow the winding trail of remote and multiple causations. . . .

"I think Congress allows a taxpayer to protect his estate, even against the Treasury. It seems to me a tacit slander of the nation's credit that need for money should drive us to such casuistry as this."

While Justice Black dissented from the six-judge majority opinion written by Justice Burton, he did not join in the minority opinion, which was written by Justice Jackson and concurred in by Justice Frankfurter.

When divisions like this occur, it is up to Congress to make more explicit by amendment to existing law just what it meant by authorizing deduction of expenses "paid or incurred during the taxable year for the production or collection of income."

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

A few days ago Harrison M. Lavender died in the house in La Jolla, California, which he had built and furnished in the last year of his life to be his home after his retirement from the copper mining industry in Arizona. Everything about Harry Lavender was fine and I would like to tell the unique story of his life. It may revive the wavering faith of some of our despondents.

I hope I will not be high-sounding about this.

Harry's father was a captain of our navy who retired because he had developed tuberculosis of the lungs. He took his wife, two sons and a daughter to Alaska in the gold rush. Mrs. Lavender soon died and the father came back to the states with the children. My information on the daughter is rather sketchy. She was sent to a sisters' school, married and, according to my informants, died a few years ago.

Harry was about three years old when they came back from Alaska. His brother was about 16. Mr. Lavender took the boys to Teluride, Colo., a gold camp then, and three years later he died, leaving the older boy with a six-year-old kid brother on his hands.

This young man got two rooms upstairs over the New Sheridan saloon in Teluride and busied himself at mining. In later years, he was very prominent in copper.

The little boy's best friend was a faro-dealer in the gambling room of the New Sheridan who gave him a pearl gray derby. Harry so cherished this grey derby that when his sister, now an elegant young lady, came to town for a short visit and tried to bribe him to ditch it for a sissy sailor hat with silk ribbons on the side, Harry was morally shocked.

She did not seem to realize that she was asking him to repudiate his friend, the faro-leader.

To sweeten the inducement, she offered to take him to a circus which was coming to town. Harry did not see the circus although in his heart he could imagine no more beautiful experience. His sister went back to North Dakota, doubting that her little brother ever would amount to anything. Hanging around a gambling house and drinking saloon. Listening to rough talk from coarse miners. And wearing that terrible hat.

Harry's diet was entirely steak and fried potatoes, except, occasionally, ham and eggs or bacon and eggs, and fried potatoes, and, of course, coffee.

But Miss Fanny Dempsey, a waitress in the dining room, began to take a hand in his raising and made him eat oatmeal for breakfast. She seems to have been the first influential woman in his conscious life, for he had lost his mother when he was hardly more than a baby.

When Harry was ten he bought a pop-corn route from another boy. The clientele consisted mainly of the girls in the brothels. They were pleasant individuals and Mr. Lavender had a sincerely favorable opinion of them in his later years.

In his late 'teens, Harry hoboed across the northwest, working the harvest in the wheat country, which was a rather common experience of young men out that way in those years. After that, with the guidance of his brother, he went through the Colorado School of Mines, playing on the football team most of the way. A few years ago at my home in Tucson he modestly told Gene Fowler that he had received some pleasant mention in the paper under the by-line of a Cub sportswriter of the same name. They struck up a mutual admiration which was well justified. Gene, be it remembered, had a childhood similar to Harry's. He was a waif almost, the son of a father who had simply wandered off and had never come back. His grandmother raised him.

Harry Lavender took part in the Bisbee Deportation of 1917, in which vigilantes rounded up a lot of miners and shoved them over to Deming, N. M., in boxcars. He was not proud of that. Unquestionably, the strike and many brutal attacks on loyal American miners were fomented by Austrians and Turks in the mine who were enemy aliens then, Mexican Villistas and Wobblies devoted to chaos as a means of demolishing our capitalist republic. But Harry said the deportation was an emotional exploit conjured by a few imaginative hot-heads whose scheme got momentum and couldn't be checked.

At first the men were herded into the local ball-yard. The late Jack Greenway, one of Theodore Roosevelt's old Rough Riders, covered them with a gatling gun from a roof. He had no occasion to fire and the men went peacefully into the cars when the time came, but Harry often said that if they had just had the presence of mind to lie down and stay down the deportation would have failed.

Crackdown Begins For Tax Violators

New York, March 27 (AP)—U. S. Attorney Myles J. Lane, announcing the start of a crackdown on income tax evading racketeers, says he intends to "root out every violator, big and small."

Lane made the statement yesterday as charges were filed against four men. He said:

"This is only a slight beginning in what appears to be a widespread condition where racketeers, large and small, have apparently disregarded completely the revenue laws of the United States."

Lane said the four men accused yesterday had engaged in illegal occupations. Federal charges were lodged against Philip Albanese, 44; Vincent J. Squillante, 34; Mario Rizza, 37, and Samuel Resnick, 50.

They were charged with failure to file tax returns for certain years on income ranging from $3,000 to $47,000.

License Refused At Area Resort On Gambling Ties

New York, March 27 (AP)—A New York city tavern operator's application for a liquor license at a Catskills hotel has been turned down because of the hotel manager's background.

The operator put in a manager who formerly served big gambling figures like Frank Costello and Frank Erickson at a New Jersey restaurant.

The State Liquor Authority disclosed yesterday it had turned down the application of Magno Sorriente, operator of an uptown Manhattan bar and grill, for permission to take over the license of the Commodore Inn, at Cairo, N. Y.

Sorriente already had made a down payment of $4,000 to the present owner and licensee of the inn, Arthur Arnold, of Cairo, for purchase ot the hotel.

Sorriente also had installed John (Johnny Duke) De Noia as manager of the inn on the edge of the Catskills. Since De Noia went to work there, records showed that bar receipts had jumped from $159 to more than $2.000 a month.

De Noia said it was because he got "a lot of trade" from the nearby city of Hudson.

The SLA, in denying Sorriente the right to take over the liquor license for the hotel, said Sorriente had a clean record, or he would not have his New York city license.

But De Noia admitted at an Albany hearing March 20, the SLA said, that top men in the underworld were frequent and regular customers at a restaurant he operated until recently in New Jersey.

The SLA action does not affect the Catskill hotel's present license.

ROCK LOBSTER FOR LENTEN MENUS

CAPE OF GOOD HOPE ROCK LOBSTER in shell makes a satisfying Lenten treat for meatless meals.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Spring appetites need a little coaxing. That's where frozen South African rock lobster tails come into the meatless menu picture. They are wonderfully good and very easy to prepare.

Cape of Good Hope Rock Lobster in Shell
(5-6 servings)

Five to 6 (8-ounce) South African rock lobster tails, 3 tablespoons olive oil, 1 small clove garlic, peeled, ¼ cup minced onion, 2 cans tomato paste, ½ cup water, 1 bay leaf, 1-8 teaspoon thyme, 1-8 teaspoon marjoram, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 drops Tabasco.

Boil rock lobster tails according to directions. Remove meat and reserve shells. Chill meat and dice. Heat olive oil, add garlic clove, cook 2 minutes and remove. Add minced onion, tomato paste, water and seasonings. Let simmer 10 minutes or more.

Add diced rock lobster to mixture, heat and re-fill shells. Serve remaining sauce separately. Boiled white rice or wild rice may be served with this.

Directions for Boiling: Place rock lobster tails, either thawed or frozen, into large kettle boiling salted water (1 teaspoon salt for each quart water.) When water reboils, lower heat so water boils gently and begin counting time. Keep covered. Boil tails 1 minute longer than their individual weight in ounces. For instance, boil an 8-ounce tail 9 minutes. Add 2 minutes to all boiling times when tails are cooked frozen.

To remove meat easily from shell, drain off hot water, drench with cold water. Using scissors, cut lengthwise through center of membrane covering flesh and insert fingers under meat at open end and pull meat out.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Sliced bananas, jelly omelet, enriched toast, butter or fortified margarine, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Tomato juice, baked elbow macaroni and cheese, whole wheat bread, cabbage and apple salad, peanut cookies, tea, milk.

DINNER: Cape of Good Hope rock lobster in shell, steamed rice, buttered tiny canned peas, crusty rolls, butter or fortified margarine, watercress and grapefruit salad, French dressing, lemon meringue pie, coffee, milk.

The People vs. Wallace C. Campbell.

Minnie Hill, town of Gardiner, was arraigned under a charge of abduction and violation of Section 483 of the Penal Law, alleged to have been committed in the town of Gardiner. A plea of innocent was entered.

In the case of Victor Tompkins, charged with rape, in violation of Section 2010, a misdemeanor, a plea of innocent was also entered. Tompkins, a resident of Tuttletown, is involved in the Hill case and the crime for which he was indicted allegedly took place on May 19, 1951. When arraigned he stated he was "guilty" of the charge but since he had no attorney, Justice Taylor advised him of his rights to be represented by counsel at all stages of the case and a formal plea of innocent was then entered. Counsel will be assigned in County Court.

Gibson Pleads Innocent

Edward Gibson, Red Hook, who was indicted for grand larceny, first degree, alleged to have been committed on January 22, 1952, when the Highland diner was robbed, entered a plea of innocent. He is represented by Charles Saccoman. The case goes to County Court.

Conrad Tubbs of Highland, charged with forgery, second degree, alleged to have been committed on January 4, 1952, entered a plea of innocent to the two counts of the bill. The charge grows out of an alleged forgery of an employer's check.

William Joseph Dougherty, charged with burglary, third degree and unlawful entry, arising out of a burglary at a Highland gas station, last March 12, entered a plea of innocent. Counsel will be assigned by county court.

Vivian Leonard, Kingston, entered a plea of innocent to a charge of grand larceny, second degree, growing out of the loss of funds by Wilbur Delanoy. The act allegedly took place on January 27, in Kingston. Charles Saccoman represents defendant. The case was transferred to county court.

Justice Taylor excused the grand jurors until the next term of Supreme court at which a grand jury will be present, October 4, at 11 a. m., but he told the grand jurors they would not need report unless summoned to appear at that time or at a prior date.

Using Drip Coffee Maker

If you use a drip coffee maker remember that the water must be actively boiling just before you pour it into the top section of the coffee maker. If you wish to heat the coffee some more after the water has dripped through be sure to do so without letting it boil.

Controls Face Storm

Washington, March 27 (AP)—Storm signals were up in Congress today on the administration's request to extend and strengthen the network of price, wage, rent, credit and materials controls. Angry comments about the proposed steel workers' pay boost, intended to avert a crippling strike, whipped up gales of opposition. Chairman Maybank (D.-S. C.) is pushing the Senate Banking Committee to get its extension bill onto the Senate floor.

and counsel for the defendants held that it would be unfair to take such action at this time. Judge Mino said the district attorney may do this if he cares to.

The nine arrested were John Carpino, 124 South Manor avenue; Robert L. Vincent, 49 Dunneman avenue; Peter Cerasaro, Lucas avenue extension; Joseph J. Greco, Glasco; Charles Nettis, R.D., Saugerties; William Buckman, 61 Brewster street; John Sangaline, 315 East Chester street; James Sottile, 245 Broadway, and Shale Alcon, 11 Downs street.

They were arrested when local police and a sheriff's squad walked in on the alleged craps game on the second floor of a building at Broadway and Thomas street.

The only other one represented separately by counsel is Cerasaro for whom Charles H. Gaffney appears. All of the others are represented by Charles Saccoman.

Points Are Argued

Main points argued by Attorney Connelly included the contention that "If a crime is not committed in the presence of a police officer, the information must be on information and belief and must reveal the sources of information and belief; otherwise it is jurisdictionally defective."

Sgt. Lemuel Howard led local police in the raid and counsel for the defendants contend "that no one was engaged as a dealer, game-keeper or player when he came on the premises allegedly used for gambling."

They contend further that all that Howard saw upon entering the room containing "some 60 men" was the men and "a table on which money and dice reposed."

'Brought on Information'

Connelly argued that the officer "did not see any activity of any nature whatsoever relating to gambling," and he held that his client Vincent "was not brought to police headquarters for an hour and a half or two hours after several people were questioned and ostensibly was brought there on the basis of information stated by someone being questioned."

The attorney charged further that "Nevertheless Howard swore to an information as if he did personally see himself the acts alleged to have been committed by nine separate defendants."

Another point in the argument was that "the present informations charges each of the nine defendants with being game-keepers, dealers or players," and that "It cannot be held that one defendant was all three things at once." He called attention also to the fact that the alleged violation was for playing craps and not cards or other gambling.

Thus, he held, "The informations are defective because they charge the defendants with inconsistent and alternative acts," and concluded "The present information is all inconducive and does not fairly advice defendants of the specific charge they must be prepared to meet. The proof need to controvert a charge of being a player is vastly different from that of being a gamekeeper."

Four Children Killed

Foggia, Italy, March 27 (AP)—Four children were killed and 22 other persons were injured, several critically, when a woman threw a bomb on a bonfire during a religious celebration near here. Hoping to liven up a celebration of the feast day of St. Annunziata with harmless fireworks, the woman threw a large metal tube, a war relic, into one of several bonfires around which adults and children were sitting, singing hymns. The accident occurred in the village of San Marco in Lamis.

Old Maid—But why should a great strong man like you be found begging?

Wayfarer—Dear lady, it is the only profession I know in which a gentleman can address a beautiful woman without an introduction.

An electrician was examining an electric refrigerator that was using too much electricity, and could not find the reason. He idly asked the cook:

Electrician—How do you like the refrigerator?

Cook—I like it fine. I open the door and it cools off the whole kitchen.

There seems to be no hope of some people getting away from their domestic troubles. A woman devoted her life to reforming a worthless husband. Finally she succeeded in making another man out of him. And what do you suppose he did? He started out trying to get another man's wife.

Benjamin Franklin, when a child, found the long graces said by his father irksome. One day, after the winter's provisions had been salted, he said, "I think, father, if you said grace over the whole cask, once for all, it would be a vast saving of time."

When the stone walls of a jail in Annapolis, Md., began to crumble, Blaine Decker, an inmate and trusty, picked up the telephone and called the police.—Evelyn Kraus, Washington.

Mother (to little daughter who is praying)—A little louder, Susie; I can't hear you.

Susie—But I'm not talking to you.

A woman is like a salad. Much depends on the dressing.

Sally—Oh, about five minutes.

Success is the ability to get along with some people—and ahead of others.

Jerry—My Uncle William has a new cedar chest.

Perry—So! Last time I saw him he just had a wooden leg.:

Harry Hershfield, to whom there are no unvacancies, reports about a woman who rented the twentieth floor rooms in a big New York apartment house. After a few months, she decided she wanted to move up to the thirty-ninth floor.

Landlord—Is there anything wrong with the twentieth floor?

Woman—No.

Landlord—Then why move up?

Woman—I hear it's a better neighborhood.

Some girls will kiss the first man who comes along. Others, the first man who comes through.

Dewey Signs Bill Banning Cameras, Other Publicity

Albany, March 27 (AP)—Governor Dewey today signed a bill prohibiting the televising, broadcasting or taking motion pictures at any official proceeding to which witnesses are subpoenaed.

The drastic measure covers all proceedings conducted in New York by a court, commission, committee, administrative agency or other tribunal.

Dewey said in a memorandum that "it is basic to our concept of justice that a witness compelled to testify have a fair opportunity to present his testimony. . . .

"The use of television, motion pictures and radio at such proceedings impairs this basic right," he added.

Dewey also signed bills that:

1—Implement a $234,800,000 stop-gap, fiscal-relief program for New York city, which calls for continuation of the city's 3-percent sales tax, greater authority to levy other "nuisance" taxes and several fiscal manipulations that will provide the city with millions in extra revenues or savings.

Camp for Workers

2—Authorize the state agriculture commissioner to establish day-care centers for children under 14 of migratory farm workers.

3—Continue for another year, to March 31, 1953, the state financial aid program for farmers who curtail potato production to help knock out the golden nematode disease. The bill also reduces from $40 to $30 an acre the maximum payment that may be made to farmers.

The governor vetoed a bill that would have permitted school districts in the 56 cities of less than 125,000 population to award, without advertising for bids, a contract calling for an expenditure of up to $3,000. The present maximum is $1,000.

Dewey quoted objections raised by the State Department of Audit and Control which told him that "public bidding is a protection both to the taxpayer and to the public official."

Bill Is Vetoed

Dewey also vetoed a bill that would have provided for lump-sum death benefits to members of the State Teachers Retirement System if they died before retirement.

Present law provides that the accumulated contributions of a member who dies before retirement must be paid to his estate or to a person designated by him prior to his death.

The vetoed bill would have called for payment of a lump sum equal to one-twelfth of the contributor's salary in his last year of service, multiplied by the number of years of his total credited state service, but not exceeding six years.

The steel industry was known to doubt whether it should saddle itself with higher wage rates and higher prices for the future, with a new and vastly growing aluminum industry in the offing. In other words, a real factor in the background of the situation was the steel industry's estimate of its own future.

Not Based on Steel

Wilson's fears were based not on steel, but on possible effects to the economy generally. John L. Lewis is waiting to see what Murray does on steel before trying to drive a new wage bargain for coal miners. In short, a new wage pattern is in the making, at least in Wilson's view.

Back of that, if steel firms raise prices, a whole host of other industries will be breaking down the doors for higher prices, too. In other words, Wilson's group fears a new burst of inflation.

Feinsinger has said the WSB's proposed boosts for steelworkers are not only fair but "uninflationary." He contends other workers and unions already have done as well as Murray's steelworkers, and Murray now is merely "catching up."

One inch of rain over one acre of land amounts to 6,272,640 cubic inches of water.

Prowler Reported Active in 2 Areas

Following a complaint at 3 p. m., yesterday that a prowler had been seen nightly in the Fairmont avenue area, police received two more early today.

One at 1:10 p. m., said a prowler had been seen on Lounsberry Place and the other at 1:29 a. m. said one appeared to be active in the same area.

A few days ago police were notified that a prowler was active in the Lucas avenue Miller's Lane area and that a baby sitter had been chased by a man in a yard off Lucas avenue.

Local police have a standing request that all local residents suspecting prowlers in their neighborhood telephone police headquarters without any loss of time.

The report Wednesday said a pair of men's shoes and shorts had been found in a barn in the Fairmont avenue area.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, March 27 (AP)—The position of the treasury March 25: Net budget receipts, $722,408,538.26; budget expenditures, $273,040,676.85; cash balance, $6,731,243,623.65; customs receipts for month, $35,900,349.41; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $42,719,332,193.76; budget expenditures fiscal year, $46,335,168,747.66; budget deficit, $3,615,836,553.90; total debt, $258,313,108,224.33; decrease under previous day, $856,662,557.21; gold assets, $23,290,712,483.89.

Cooking Bacon

Easiest way to cook bacon for a crowd is to bake it. Just lay the strips of bacon with their fat edges overlapping the lean of the next strip on a rack in a shallow pan. Bake on the top shelf of a 400 F. oven for 12 to 15 minutes, or until crisp.

Shakespeare wrote during the reign of Queen Elizabeth and most of his plays first were acted at the Globe Theatre, in London.

RECORD FOOD GOALS SET — Down on the farm — about 5,400,000 of them—more crops will be sown this year than ever before in an attempt to meet the record food goals set by the Department of Agriculture for 1952. Newschart above shows that less rice will be raised to achieve greater production of other crops, notably an 18 per cent increase in wheat and a 7 per cent hike in potato production.

RECORD FEED PRODUCTION URGED—Corn production tops the Department of Agriculture's 1952 feed grain goals. Newschart above shows that a 15 per cent increase over last year's corn harvest will be sought at the expense of oats and hay. Record production is also sought for barley and hay in an effort to meet the nation's fast-growing demand for meat and meat products.

Battle of Tulips Lost at Capital

By RUTH COWAN

Washington, March 27 (AP)—The White House admitted today it has lost "the battle of the tulips."

There just won't be any tulips in bloom when Queen Juliana of the Netherlands arrives April 2 for a three-day visit with the President and Mrs. Truman.

The President succeeded in hurrying up carpenters, painters and movers in getting the newly redone White House ready, but the thousands of tulips, planted in the grounds especially for the occasion, are taking their own bloomin' time.

In fact, these tulips are causing a lot of worry to the White House, the Netherlands embassy and in high official greenhouse circles.

Are New Variety

The tulips are a new variety in a special shade of orange—Juliana is a member of the House of Orange—and they have never been exported from the Netherlands before.

R. J. Benkenkamp, agricultural attache at the Netherlands embassy, and the Associated Bulb Growers of Holland, decided it would be a nice gesture if bulbs of this new variety were sent here to plant in the White House grounds and at the embassy.

It was hoped they would be blooming during Juliana's visit.

But the bulbs had landing trouble. They reached New York last fall during the longshoreman's strike and couldn't be unloaded. They were returned to Holland, shipped back a month later.

They planted about 5,000 around the fountain on the Pennsylvania avenue side and an equal number in the south garden. They will be flowering around Easter.

The gardeners potted about 2 000 bulbs and speeded up their growth in greenhouses. These will be ready for decorating the White House interior.

Brush Fires Start

The season of brush fires bowed in Wednesday on the warmest day of the year. The Bloomington fire department was called at 10:52 a. m., to fight one in Creek Locks and at 12:30 p. m., the High Falls department was called out to fight another in that area.

Burmese Are Silent

Rangoon, Burma, March 27 (AP)—The Burmese government kept mum today about the offensive it said had been launched against Chinese Nationalist forces in Kengtung state along the Chinese-Burma border. Home minister Bo Khin Maung Glay told a news conference yesterday that a full scale offensive had been launched. He said Burmese Communists were making loud protests against the presence of the Chinese Nationist forces now, but had been remarkably silent back in June, 1950, when the government had almost lost the capital of Gengtung state to the Chinese.

Breakup Is Ordered

Washington, March 27 (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board voted 3 to 2 today to order a breakup of the Transamerica Corporation's big banking empire in five western states. The majority found that the corporation—which controls seven billion dollars in bank deposits and half the bank loans in California, Oregon, Nevada, Washington and Arizona—tends to "lessen competition and restrain commerce."

Talkathon Is Ended

London, March 27 (AP)—A weary House of Commons ended a record talkathon on textiles today, just 22 hours, 57 minutes and 59 speeches after it began. Tousled members got only a half hour respite before debate was scheduled to start on the government's controversial national health bill. The debate on Britain's textile crisis was the longest of the present Parliamen.

Treated for Burns

Bertha Laur, 55, of Shokan, was admitted to Kingston Hospital at 9:30 p. m. yesterday for treatment of first and second degree burns of the face, chest and arms. She was reported in fair condition today. It was reported that she suffered the burns when gas exploded as she lit a match.

High Was 66 Degrees

The 66 degrees at 1:30 p. m., yesterday was the high temperature for the day recorded by the city engineer's office. It was the warmest day of the year to date and no day was warmer since early last December. The high at 1:30 p. m. today was 51 degrees.

Business Plans More Expansion

By SAM DAWSON

New York, March 27 (AP)—American business plans to spend more than ever this year to expand. But this time they appear to have their eye on Uncle Sam as their best bet for a sure-fire customer.

Industries planning to spend more this year than last for new plants and equipment are mostly those catering directly or indirectly to the defense program, for which billions of dollars have already been appropriated by Congress.

Businesses that look mostly to ordinary consumers for their customers say they won't spend as much on growth this year as last.

But a pick-up in commercial building may develop later, as a result of a relaxation promised in federal curbs.

And the home-building industry is now hoping to turn out more than the 800,000 new homes the government once set as its limit for this year. Some talk of getting up around the million mark again. Builders hope for relaxation in federal curbs on use of materials and easing in mortgage restrictions.

Pick-Up Expected

Makers of building materials also are expecting a pick-up in sales by summer. I. J. Harvey, president of Flintkote, told the annual stockholders meeting yesterday that he expected sales to move along at a faster clip from July to the end of the year. Much of his hope was pinned to expectations of further credit restriction relaxations.

Total business spending in 1952 for new plant and equipment will run better than 24 billion dollars, according to a survey of industry plans made by the Department of Commerce and the Securities and Exchange Commission. This is a four per cent jump over 1951, when expansion was at the record rate of 23¼ billion dollars.

More than half of the 24 billion dollars, however, will be spent in the first half of this year. And then business expansion will taper off.

The survey—taken before the National Production Authority started to relax restrictions on commercial building—anticipates a 10 per cent drop in that type of construction this year. But builders think this may change, now that commercial buildings are getting the green light.

These Will Spend Less

Consumer goods industries planning to spend less on expansion this year than last include textile, food, paper, and fabricated metals.

Industries planning to spend considerably more this year than last include non-ferrous mining, electrical machinery, electric and gas utilities, petroleum, steel, and rubber products. All of these either serve the military or supply companies that do.

In many cases the expansion plans are based on anticipated rise in sales. The survey notes that mining companies expect this year's sales to top last's by 11 per cent. Electric and gas utilities expect to do 10 per cent more business. And manufacturers as a whole predict a five per cent sales rise.

Sales, however, are one thing, and profits are another. Rising costs and higher taxes—most companies feel—will hold their net earnings below last year.

Exile Is Permanent

London, March 27 (AP)—The government announced today it has decided permanently to bar exiled Seretse Khama from the chieftainship of his African tribe, and to offer him a job in Jamaica instead. The chief of the big Bamangwato trible in Bechuanaland married English typist Ruth Williams in 1948 while a student in Britain. Seretse, with his wife and child, are staying in London. The tribe — biggest in arid, sprawling Bechuanaland—now is under the rule of a white official.

The Joiners

A regular meeting of Charles DeWitt Council, 91, JOUAM, will be held Friday at 8 p. m. at Mechanics' Hall, 14 Henry street. All members are requested to attend. A social hour with refreshments will follow the meeting.

Late Bulletin

Washington, March 27 (AP)—Chairman Nathan P. Feinsinger of the Wage Stabilization Board (WSB) told reporters "hell no" today when asked if Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson has asked the WSB to reduce its recommendations for settling the steel case. He had just left a meeting with Wilson, who has said the WSB's settlement plan, calling for a 17½ cent wage boost, was a serious threat to anti-inflation efforts.

Negotiations Recess

Pittsburgh, March 27 (AP)—Negotiations between the CIO United Steelworkers and another large steel producer recessed indefinitely today. Vice President W. R. Elliot of Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. said no further sessions with the union will be held until the company gives further study to the recommendations of the Wage Stabilization Board for settling the steel dispute. The action taken by the USW and J. and L. follows that of the union and the U. S. Steel Corp. There is no indication of when either company will choose to hold another negotiation session.

Assembly Is Chosen

Asmara, Eritrea, March 27 (AP)—Eritrea, in its first election, has chosen a 68-man Assembly evenly divided between Moslems and Copts, a Christian sect, it was announced today. Thirty-four Copts were chosen through direct or indirect elections. Thirty-one Moslems have been elected. Three seats where the result still had not been reported were from Moslem constituencies.

Spring Grass Fire

Spring grass fires began happening in series yesterday as firemen were called to quench three and one blaze in some leaves. The grass fire calls were: 2:15 p. m., end of First avenue; 3:05 p. m., off Kingston Terrace and East Chester street; 4:23 p. m., leaves near 20 Burgevin street and 4:56 p. m., grass along First avenue near Kingston street.

Beer Reported Taken

Police were notified at 7:09 a. m., today that 12 cartons of beer had been taken from the building of the Dobler Brewing Co., Inc., 40 Bruyn avenue, by some person or persons who broke into the place. Each carton contained 12 bottles of beer and the total value is $18, the report said. Officers Earl Schoonmaker and Leonard Ellsworth were assigned to investigate, and later Detective Clarence Brophy was assigned.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 27 (AP)—A strong group of railroads headed a generally higher stock market today.

There was generous support for the rails throughout the list despite several soft areas. Steels held steady.

The advance carried up to around 2 points at the best among leaders while some issues stepped out smartly ahead of that average gain. Losses were almost universally fractional.

Oils and companies with oil interests displayed the heavier gains with Texas Pacific Land Trust for example running up a gain of between 6 and 7 points at times. It was up 12 points yesterday and opened today on a block of 1,200 shares up 6 at 190. And good progress was made by Phillips Petroleum, Amerada Petroleum, Columbian Carbon, Kern County Land, and Northern Pacific.

More active issues on the curb exchange showed a rising tendency. Higher were Alaska Airlines, International Petroleum, McWilliams Dredging, New Mexico & Arizona Land, and Venezuelan Petroleum. Lower were Creole Petroleum, Investors Royalty, and National Union Radio.

Corporate bonds advanced narrowly. Long-term governments improved while shorter maturities held steady in the over the counter market.

Prostate Cancer Is Main Form in Men Over 40 Years

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

New York, March 27 (AP)—A new test discovered cancer of the prostate gland in 30 per cent of 100 men, all 45 or older, and all with no obvious signs of cancer.

The test and results were described today by doctors at Columbia University's College of Physicians and Surgeons, during a tour sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

Prostate cancer is the main form of cancer in men over 40. The Columbia study was designed to learn more about it, and to detect it early.

Until more men are examined, it can't be assumed that 30 per cent of all men over 45 are likely to have unsuspected prostate cancer, the doctors said.

In all 30 men, the cancers were caught early enough to be cured by surgery. The test uses a minor new operation and a quick method of checking tissue by microscope to see if there is cancer.

Columbia gynecologists meanwhile checked 1,000 women for cancer of the cervix, the neck of the womb, and found 16 had seeds of cancer. These cancers were detected by two tests, one that checks cells in body fluids, and one that checks bits of tissue taken from the cervix.

The physicians declared that new detection methods, and public interest in having cancer check-ups, are encouraging news, making it possible to find cancers early, when they are most easily cured.

Sworn In as Premier

Colombo, Ceylon, March 27 (AP)—Cambridge-educated, cricket-loving Dudley Senanayake, 41, was sworn in last night as prime minister of Ceylon. He took over the mantle of his father, Don Stephen Senanayake, who died last Saturday after a fall from a bolting horse. The new prime minister is one of the youngest in the British commonwealth. He is popularly regarded here as this baby dominion's most eligible bachelor. His personal political views lean towards Fabian socialism. He now leads the powerful United National party, which is a bitter foe of communism.

Denial Is Made

Hartford, Conn., March 27 (AP)—Dr. Donald F. Gibson of Redding gave the State Medical Examining Board a general denial of all accusations today as the board opened a hearing on six charges of unprofessional conduct which have been filed against him. The one sentence denial was voiced by David Goldstein, Bridgeport lawyer who successfully defended the dapper 50-year-old physician at his trial on a manslaughter charge last year. The Superior Court dismissed the charge for lack of evidence.

Tornado Death Toll Is Revised Downward

Little Rock, Ark., March 27 (AP)—The toll of known dead in tornadoes and a flood which hit the south last Friday has been revised slightly downward.

Latest total for Arkansas was placed at 120 by the Red Cross after elimination of duplications and errors on the list of dead.

That dropped to around 220 the overall toll for Arkansas, Tennessee, Missouri, Mississippi and Alabama tornadoes and a Kentucky flood. But seven persons still are missing in Arkansas.

Previous Red Cross statistics gave the death toll as 224. More than 1,200 persons were injured.

Recognition Is Given

Havana, Cuba, March 27 (AP)—The United States today became the 18th nation to recognize the revolutionary government of Fulgencio Batista. The announcement of American recognition came as ousted President Carlos Prio Socarras appealed from exile in Miami, Fla., to the Cuban Senate not to recognize the Batista regime, which seized power March 10. The newspaper Informacion said the new regime was expected to abolish the 1940 constitution soon to avoid "legal entanglements." There was no confirmation from official sources.

The inquiry is designed to determine whether the IPR exercised a subversive influence in U. S. Far Eastern policy.

Three Guards Questioned

The three guards of the armored truck robbed of $681,000 cash in Danvers, Mass., March 25, are questioned by Harold V. Klem (right), assistant to the president of the U. S. Armored Car Corp., the same day. Three robbers looted the truck while the trio of guards had coffee in a drug store. Left to right: Lawrence Johansen, Dennis Walsh and Joseph Riley. (AP Wirephoto)

Burmese Are Silent

Rangoon, Burma, March 27 (AP)—The Burmese government kept mum today about the offensive it said had been launched against Chinese Nationalist forces in Kengtung state along the Chinese-Burma border. Home minister Bo Khin Maung Glay told a news conference yesterday that a full scale offensive had been launched. He said Burmese Communists were making loud protests against the presence of the Chinese Nationist forces now, but had been remarkably silent back in June, 1950, when the government had almost lost the capital of Gengtung state to the Chinese.

Breakup Is Ordered

Washington, March 27 (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board voted 3 to 2 today to order a breakup of the Transamerica Corporation's big banking empire in five western states. The majority found that the corporation—which controls seven billion dollars in bank deposits and half the bank loans in California, Oregon, Nevada, Washington and Arizona—tends to "lessen competition and restrain commerce."

Talkathon Is Ended

London, March 27 (AP)—A weary House of Commons ended a record talkathon on textiles today, just 22 hours, 57 minutes and 59 speeches after it began. Tousled members got only a half hour respite before debate was scheduled to start on the government's controversial national health bill. The debate on Britain's textile crisis was the longest of the present Parliamen.

Treated for Burns

Bertha Laur, 55, of Shokan, was admitted to Kingston Hospital at 9:30 p. m. yesterday for treatment of first and second degree burns of the face, chest and arms. She was reported in fair condition today. It was reported that she suffered the burns when gas exploded as she lit a match.

High Was 66 Degrees

The 66 degrees at 1:30 p. m., yesterday was the high temperature for the day recorded by the city engineer's office. It was the warmest day of the year to date and no day was warmer since early last December. The high at 1:30 p. m. today was 51 degrees.

Business Plans More Expansion

By SAM DAWSON

New York, March 27 (AP)—American business plans to spend more than ever this year to expand. But this time they appear to have their eye on Uncle Sam as their best bet for a sure-fire customer.

Industries planning to spend more this year than last for new plants and equipment are mostly those catering directly or indirectly to the defense program, for which billions of dollars have already been appropriated by Congress.

Businesses that look mostly to ordinary consumers for their customers say they won't spend as much on growth this year as last.

But a pick-up in commercial building may develop later, as a result of a relaxation promised in federal curbs.

And the home-building industry is now hoping to turn out more than the 800,000 new homes the government once set as its limit for this year. Some talk of getting up around the million mark again. Builders hope for relaxation in federal curbs on use of materials and easing in mortgage restrictions.

Pick-Up Expected

Makers of building materials also are expecting a pick-up in sales by summer. I. J. Harvey, president of Flintkote, told the annual stockholders meeting yesterday that he expected sales to move along at a faster clip from July to the end of the year. Much of his hope was pinned to expectations of further credit restriction relaxations.

Total business spending in 1952 for new plant and equipment will run better than 24 billion dollars, according to a survey of industry plans made by the Department of Commerce and the Securities and Exchange Commission. This is a four per cent jump over 1951, when expansion was at the record rate of 23¼ billion dollars.

More than half of the 24 billion dollars, however, will be spent in the first half of this year. And then business expansion will taper off.

The survey—taken before the National Production Authority started to relax restrictions on commercial building—anticipates a 10 per cent drop in that type of construction this year. But builders think this may change, now that commercial buildings are getting the green light.

These Will Spend Less

Consumer goods industries planning to spend less on expansion this year than last include textile, food, paper, and fabricated metals.

Industries planning to spend considerably more this year than last include non-ferrous mining, electrical machinery, electric and gas utilities, petroleum, steel, and rubber products. All of these either serve the military or supply companies that do.

In many cases the expansion plans are based on anticipated rise in sales. The survey notes that mining companies expect this year's sales to top last's by 11 per cent. Electric and gas utilities expect to do 10 per cent more business. And manufacturers as a whole predict a five per cent sales rise.

Sales, however, are one thing, and profits are another. Rising costs and higher taxes—most companies feel—will hold their net earnings below last year.

Exile Is Permanent

London, March 27 (AP)—The government announced today it has decided permanently to bar exiled Seretse Khama from the chieftainship of his African tribe, and to offer him a job in Jamaica instead. The chief of the big Bamangwato tribe in Bechuanaland married English typist Ruth Williams in 1948 while a student in Britain. Seretse, with his wife and child, are staying in London. The tribe — biggest in arid, sprawling Bechuanaland—now is under the rule of a white official.

The Joiners

News of Interest to Fraternal Organizations

A regular meeting of Charles DeWitt Council, 91, JOUAM, will be held Friday at 8 p. m. at Mechanics' Hall, 14 Henry street. All members are requested to attend. A social hour with refreshments will follow the meeting.

Late Bulletin

Washington, March 27 (AP)—Chairman Nathan P. Feinsinger of the Wage Stabilization Board (WSB) told reporters "hell no" today when asked if Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson has asked the WSB to reduce its recommendations for settling the steel case. He had just left a meeting with Wilson, who has said the WSB's settlement plan, calling for a 17½ cent wage boost, was a serious threat to anti-inflation efforts.

Negotiations Recess

Pittsburgh, March 27 (AP)—Negotiations between the CIO United Steelworkers and another large steel producer recessed indefinitely today. Vice President W. R. Elliot of Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. said no further sessions with the union will be held until the company gives further study to the recommendations of the Wage Stabilization Board for settling the steel dispute. The action taken by the USW and J. and L. follows that of the union and the U. S. Steel Corp. There is no indication of when either company will choose to hold another negotiation session.

Assembly Is Chosen

Asmara, Eritrea, March 27 (AP)—Eritrea, in its first election, has chosen a 68-man Assembly evenly divided between Moslems and Copts, a Christian sect, it was announced today. Thirty-four Copts were chosen through direct or indirect elections. Thirty-one Moslems have been elected. Three seats where the result still had not been reported were from Moslem constituencies.

Spring Grass Fire

Spring grass fires began happening in series yesterday as firemen were called to quench three and one blaze in some leaves. The grass fire calls were: 2:15 p. m., end of First avenue; 3:05 p. m., off Kingston Terrace and East Chester street; 4:23 p. m., leaves near 20 Burgevin street and 4:56 p. m., grass along First avenue near Kingston street.

Beer Reported Taken

Police were notified at 7:09 a. m., today that 12 cartons of beer had been taken from the building of the Dobler Brewing Co., Inc., 40 Bruyn avenue, by some person or persons who broke into the place. Each carton contained 12 bottles of beer and the total value is $18, the report said. Officers Earl Schoonmaker and Leonard Ellsworth were assigned to investigate, and later Detective Clarence Brophy was assigned.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 27 (AP)—A strong group of railroads headed a generally higher stock market today.

There was generous support for the rails throughout the list despite several soft areas. Steels held steady.

The advance carried up to around 2 points at the best among leaders while some issues stepped out smartly ahead of that average gain. Losses were almost universally fractional.

Oils and companies with oil interests displayed the heavier gains with Texas Pacific Land Trust for example running up a gain of between 6 and 7 points at times. It was up 12 points yesterday and opened today on a block of 1,200 shares up 6 at 190. And good progress was made by Phillips Petroleum, Amerada Petroleum, Columbian Carbon, Kern County Land, and Northern Pacific.

More active issues on the curb exchange showed a rising tendency. Higher were Alaska Airlines, International Petroleum, McWilliams Dredging, New Mexico & Arizona Land, and Venezuelan Petroleum. Lower were Creole Petroleum, Investors Royalty, and National Union Radio.

Corporate bonds advanced narrowly. Long-term governments improved while shorter maturities held steady in the over the counter market.

Prostate Cancer Is Main Form in Men Over 40 Years

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

New York, March 27 (AP)—A new test discovered cancer of the prostate gland in 30 per cent of 100 men, all 45 or older, and all with no obvious signs of cancer.

The test and results were described today by doctors at Columbia University's College of Physicians and Surgeons, during a tour sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

Prostate cancer is the main form of cancer in men over 40. The Columbia study was designed to learn more about it, and to detect it early.

Until more men are examined, it can't be assumed that 30 per cent of all men over 45 are likely to have unsuspected prostate cancer, the doctors said.

In all 30 men, the cancers were caught early enough to be cured by surgery. The test uses a minor new operation and a quick method of checking tissue by microscope to see if there is cancer.

Columbia gynecologists meanwhile checked 1,000 women for cancer of the cervix, the neck of the womb, and found 16 had seeds of cancer. These cancers were detected by two tests, one that checks cells in body fluids, and one that checks bits of tissue taken from the cervix.

The physicians declared that new detection methods, and public interest in having cancer checkups, are encouraging news, making it possible to find cancers early, when they are most easily cured.

Sworn In as Premier

Denial Is Made

Hartford, Conn., March 27 (AP)—Dr. Donald F. Gibson of Redding gave the State Medical Examining Board a general denial of all accusations today as the board opened a hearing on six charges of unprofessional conduct which have been filed against him. The one sentence denial was voiced by David Goldstein, Bridgeport lawyer who successfully defended the dapper 50-year-old physician at his trial on a manslaughter charge last year. The Superior Court dismissed the charge for lack of evidence.

Tornado Death Toll Is Revised Downward

Little Rock, Ark., March 27 (AP)—The toll of known dead in tornadoes and a flood which hit the south last Friday has been revised slightly downward.

Latest total for Arkansas was placed at 120 by the Red Cross after elimination of duplications and errors on the list of dead.

That dropped to around 220 the overall toll for Arkansas, Tennessee, Missouri, Mississippi and Alabama tornadoes and a Kentucky flood. But seven persons still are missing in Arkansas.

Previous Red Cross statistics gave the death toll as 224. More than 1,200 persons were injured.

Recognition Is Given

Havana, Cuba, March 27 (AP)—The United States today became the 18th nation to recognize the revolutionary government of Fulgencio Batista. The announcement of American recognition came as ousted President Carlos Prio Socarras appealed from exile in Miami, Fla., to the Cuban Senate not to recognize the Batista regime, which seized power March 10. The newspaper Informacion said the new regime was expected to abolish the 1940 constitution soon to avoid "legal entanglements." There was no confirmation from official sources.

Professor Testifies

Washington, March 27 (AP)—A Yale professor testified today he regards Owen Lattimore as "probably the principal agent of Stalinism" among American Far Eastern specialists. Prof. David N. Rowe made the statement in testimony before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee. The committee is investigating the Institute of Pacific Relations, a private research organization of which Lattimore, a Johns Hopkins professor and one-time State Department consultant, is a trustee. The inquiry is designed to determine whether the IPR exercised a subversive influence in U. S. Far Eastern policy.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of 'Etiquette,' 'Children Are People,' etc.)

NEWCOMER WAITS

A young woman of hospitable intentions explains: "Some months ago we moved to a strange city. One of the old residents became a real friend and did a great deal to make us welcome—including giving me a luncheon. We are not only grateful to this person, but very fond of her. I would like to give a luncheon in her honor and wondered if it would be proper to invite the women I met at the luncheon given for me, even though they have not called on me."

If you live in a very informal community this might be very successful. But if you live in a formal community, it would handicap rather than help you to take the first step. As a matter of fact, they should invite you to their houses, after which you then return their invitations.

To Write Or Not To Write?

Dear Mrs. Post: I am married and have been working for this company eight months. About three months ago one of the young men who worked here left to go into the service. I have written to him twice since he's gone and he has answered me. My husband does not think it proper for me to write to him—especially since he doesn't know him—and thinks I should stop. Will you please give me your opinion?

Answer: It depends entirely upon your letters. If your letters show too much personal interest in him, you should not write him. If they are merely newsy letters telling him about his friends at the office, there is no harm in writing him occasionally.

Avoid Forcing The Season

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married the first week in May, and the men in the wedding party would like to wear white coats with their tuxedo trousers. Would this be proper, or is it too early in the season for white coats?

Answer: May is a little early for white coats, unless you are going to be married in the deep south.

Some of the questions asked about engagements are—how to make public announcement, is a ring necessary, who should call on the groom's family? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but leaflet E-1 will be helpful. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. ## Landmark to Be Restored

San Gabriel, Calif. (AP) — San Gabriel Valley merchants are making sure some of the old landmarks remain. They recently donated money and materials to restore an adobe home built in 1840 by San Gabriel Mission Indians. The adobe once belonged to Miguel Blanco, or Mike White, an English sailor of fortune who married into a wealthy Spanish family here. Mementos from California's pioneer days will be displayed in the old adobe building after its reconstruction.

College Aides To Hold Session

Schenectady, March 27—Public relations representatives of 16 New York state colleges will meet in Schenectady at the Van Curler Hotel on Monday, March 31, to prepare a publicity and public relations program for the newly organized Empire State Foundation of Independent Liberal Arts Colleges. Harold M. Van de Car, director of Development at Union College, is chairman of the meeting. The proposed program, in turn, will be presented to the directors of the Foundation which will hold its first corporation meeting in Albany on Tuesday, April 1. President Carter Davidson will represent Union College at the Albany meeting.

Bullet Proof Windows Set in White House

Washington, March 27 (AP)—Bullet proof windows have been installed in the refurbished White House, the Washington Post said today.

The President moves back to the 1600 Pennsylvania avenue address today on his arrival from Key West, Fla., after more than three years in Blair House.

It was while the Trumans were living in Blair House in 1950 that an attempt was made on the President's life. His family was uninjured but a guard and one of the two assassins were killed.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of 'Etiquette,' 'Children Are People,' etc.)

NEWCOMER WAITS

A young woman of hospitable intentions explains: "Some months ago we moved to a strange city. One of the old residents became a real friend and did a great deal to make us welcome—including giving me a luncheon. We are not only grateful to this person, but very fond of her. I would like to give a luncheon in her honor and wondered if it would be proper to invite the women I met at the luncheon given for me, even though they have not called on me."

If you live in a very informal community this might be very successful. But if you live in a formal community, it would handicap rather than help you to take the first step. As a matter of fact, they should invite you to their houses, after which you then return their invitations.

To Write Or Not To Write?

Dear Mrs. Post: I am married and have been working for this company eight months. About three months ago one of the young men who worked here left to go into the service. I have written to him twice since he's gone and he has answered me. My husband does not think it proper for me to write to him—especially since he doesn't know him—and thinks I should stop. Will you please give me your opinion?

Answer: It depends entirely upon your letters. If your letters show too much personal interest in him, you should not write him. If they are merely newsy letters telling him about his friends at the office, there is no harm in writing him occasionally.

Avoid Forcing The Season

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married the first week in May, and the men in the wedding party would like to wear white coats with their tuxedo trousers. Would this be proper, or is it too early in the season for white coats?

Answer: May is a little early for white coats, unless you are going to be married in the deep south.

* * *

Some of the questions asked about engagements are—how to make public announcement, is a ring necessary, who should call on the groom's family? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but leaflet E-1 will be helpful. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Landmark to Be Restored

San Gabriel, Calif. (AP) — San Gabriel Valley merchants are making sure some of the old landmarks remain. They recently donated money and materials to restore an adobe home built in 1840 by San Gabriel Mission Indians. The adobe once belonged to Miguel Blanco, or Mike White, an English sailor of fortune who married into a wealthy Spanish family here. Mementos from California's pioneer days will be displayed in the old adobe building after its reconstruction.

Avoiding Stiff Traps Is Mark of Champion

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When the Midwest Regional Tournament begins next Wednesday in Milwaukee, it is expected that Jack Hancock and Manny Hochfeld will be on hand to defend the open pair championship they won in this tournament last year.

Jack and Manny are both members of the group of "youngsters" from Chicago who have scored sensational successes in bridge tournaments during the last couple of years.

In the hand shown today, Hancock and Hochfeld demonstrated their ability to stay out of trouble in defending a difficult hand.

Hancock opened the queen of diamonds from the West hand, and dummy won with the ace. Declarer immediately tried to trump finesse, losing to the king. South took the diamond return with the king, entered dummy with a trump, and ruffed a diamond.

Now he led the ace of hearts and returned the ten of hearts, allowing either opponent to win the second round of the suit. The idea was to persuade the defenders that a real end-play had taken place.

Medicore defenders would have been bamboozled into leading clubs. It is easy to see that declarer can play to lose only one club trick (and thus make his contract) if either opponent begins the suit.

It's a little harder, however, to hornswoggle the two young experts from Chicago. Whichever defender won the second heart was sure to lead the suit right back. This would allow declarer to ruff in his hand and discard a club from dummy, but the discard would do him no good. He would still have to lose two club tricks for a one-trick set.

Public Welfare... Questions, Answers

In view of increasing public interest in public welfare matters, the Ulster County Children's Committee of the State Charities Aid Association, an independent citizens' group, presents the following question and answer as part of its program of providing information on tax-supported welfare activities.

What happens to children when they cannot be cared for in their own homes?

The children are placed in a foster family home or institution. A foster family can give the personal affection and individual attention children need. The care may be given free, or essential costs may be met with public funds under the supervision of the welfare department. Many such children later return to their own families. Others may be adjudged, with parental consent, legally free to be placed for adoption. Care in institutions is sometimes necessary for older children and those needing special medical treatment, vocational training or other services.

Additional questions about public welfare activities may be sent to the committee through Mrs. Albert E. Milliken, R.D. 3, Kingston. Mrs. Virgil DeWitt of New Paltz is chairman of the committee.

Needs Official OK

Frankfurt, Germany (AP)—Having a baby in Germany is easy on the father until it comes time to pick out a name. A proud parent can't just select any name he wants. Officialdom has its own rigid ideas. If you don't register your child there less than a week after birth, it doesn't exist—legally. When you make out your income tax declaration, you're still "married without children." They say a child should have a name well recognized in Germany and fit for christening. They have a little book containing all the names which the state allows.

Health for All

Surgery for TB Patients

One word every tuberculosis patient hears repeatedly is "rest." For complete rest — mental and physical—in a tuberculosis hospital is basic to the treatment of TB.

Sometimes, in addition to his bed rest, a patient may need extra help to supplement the healing forces of nature. This "outside help" may be in the form of drugs or even surgery.

Chest surgery falls into two general categories. One is known as resection, when part or all of the lung is removed, and the other, collapse therapy, when the lung is collapsed either temporarily or permanently.

Resection includes an operation called pneumonectomy, in which an entire lung is removed, and lobectomy, which is the removal of a lobe of the lung. Within recent years, with improvement of surgical techniques and the availability of new drugs, it is possible to remove smaller sections of lung. Drugs given before the operation minimize the danger of the disease's spread until the infected area is safely removed. Known as segmental resection, this technique makes possible the preservation of healthy lung tissue and comparatively little impairment of lung function.

One simple type of collapse therapy is pneumothorax, a temporary collapse of the lung which results when air is inserted between the chest wall and the lung. Another form of temporary collapse is peumoperitoneum, in which air is injected under the diaphragm, the large muscle below the lung which ordinarily stretches and contracts the lung with each breath. In both types of temporary collapse, healing is promoted by decreasing the size of the lung, and lessening its motion.

Temporary paralysis of the phrenic nerve, which originates in the neck and controls the diaphragm, is frequently used with pneumoperitoneum.

Permanent collapse of the diseased area of a lung is secured by an operation called thoracoplasty. Ribs or sections of ribs over the injured area are removed and the soft rib covering falls in and collapses the diseased section. New ribs grow back in such a way that the injured lung area is permanently collapsed.

Surgery, like drugs, is a supplement to bed rest—never a substitute for it. But modern surgical techniques, which are constantly being improved, have been directly responsible for saving the lives of many tuberculosis patients.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health, by the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Forgery Easy in U. S.

Reds Plan Tree Wall

San Francisco (AP)—The Chinese Communists boast that they are erecting a "modern Great Wall" in Manchuria—a vast shelter belt of trees intended to alter the climate of a windswept region of arid dunes. The Peiping radio says that the shelter belt is to be 683 miles long, extending from Heilungkiang Province down to Liaotung peninsula and Shanhaikwan, southeastern end of the actual Great Wall of ancient China. Width will range up to 186 miles, the Reds say.

MEN...Here's How A&P's "Super-Right" Meat-Cutting Method Helps Your Wife Get More of the Center-Cut in Pork Loins Without Paying "Center-Cut Prices!"

There's only so much of the choice center meat in every Pork Loin. Naturally, everyone prefers it—and naturally, too, that's why the center cut (or chops) sell at a higher price. A&P, however, wants to give every Pork Loin buyer a fair share of the center meat — not just small ends. A&P gives you any size Rib End up to 6 lbs. or any size Loin End you want—with all the center meat that goes with it—and, without charging the higher "center cut price" for it.

Of course, the larger your roast, the more center meat you get with it. So for maximum value, A&P suggests that you buy a large family size roast—and A&P will gladly cut the extra chops for you for another meal at no additional charge. Instead of costing you the "Center Cut Price," these extra chops will cost you either the Rib End or Loin End price—whichever you choose to buy.

Health for All

Surgery for TB Patients

One word every tuberculosis patient hears repeatedly is "rest." For complete rest — mental and physical—in a tuberculosis hospital is basic to the treatment of TB.

Sometimes, in addition to his bed rest, a patient may need extra help to supplement the healing forces of nature. This "outside help" may be in the form of drugs or even surgery.

Chest surgery falls into two general categories. One is known as resection, when part or all of the lung is removed, and the other, collapse therapy, when the lung is collapsed either temporarily or permanently.

Resection includes an operation called pneumonectomy, in which an entire lung is removed, and lobectomy, which is the removal of a lobe of the lung. Within recent years, with improvement of surgical techniques and the availability of new drugs, it is possible to remove smaller sections of lung. Drugs given before the operation minimize the danger of the disease's spread until the infected area is safely removed. Known as segmental resection, this technique makes possible the preservation of healthy lung tissue and comparatively little impairment of lung function.

One simple type of collapse therapy is pneumothorax, a temporary collapse of the lung which results when air is inserted between the chest wall and the lung. Another form of temporary collapse is peumoperitoneum, in which air is injected under the diaphragm, the large muscle below the lung which ordinarily stretches and contracts the lung with each breath. In both types of temporary collapse, healing is promoted by decreasing the size of the lung, and lessening its motion.

Temporary paralysis of the phrenic nerve, which originates in the neck and controls the diaphragm, is frequently used with pneumoperitoneum.

Permanent collapse of the diseased area of a lung is secured by an operation called thoracoplasty. Ribs or sections of ribs over the injured area are removed and the soft rib covering falls in and collapses the diseased section. New ribs grow back in such a way that the injured lung area is permanently collapsed.

Surgery, like drugs, is a supplement to bed rest—never a substitute for it. But modern surgical techniques, which are constantly being improved, have been directly responsible for saving the lives of many tuberculosis patients.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health, by the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Health for All

Surgery for TB Patients

One word every tuberculosis patient hears repeatedly is "rest." For complete rest — mental and physical—in a tuberculosis hospital is basic to the treatment of TB.

Sometimes, in addition to his bed rest, a patient may need extra help to supplement the healing forces of nature. This "outside help" may be in the form of drugs or even surgery.

Chest surgery falls into two general categories. One is known as resection, when part or all of the lung is removed, and the other, collapse therapy, when the lung is collapsed either temporarily or permanently.

Resection includes an operation called pneumonectomy, in which an entire lung is removed, and lobectomy, which is the removal of a lobe of the lung. Within recent years, with improvement of surgical techniques and the availability of new drugs, it is possible to remove smaller sections of lung. Drugs given before the operation minimize the danger of the disease's spread until the infected area is safely removed. Known as segmental resection, this technique makes possible the preservation of healthy lung tissue and comparatively little impairment of lung function.

One simple type of collapse therapy is pneumothorax, a temporary collapse of the lung which results when air is inserted between the chest wall and the lung. Another form of temporary collapse is peumoperitoneum, in which air is injected under the diaphragm, the large muscle below the lung which ordinarily stretches and contracts the lung with each breath. In both types of temporary collapse, healing is promoted by decreasing the size of the lung, and lessening its motion.

Temporary paralysis of the phrenic nerve, which originates in the neck and controls the diaphragm, is frequently used with pneumoperitoneum.

Permanent collapse of the diseased area of a lung is secured by an operation called thoracoplasty. Ribs or sections of ribs over the injured area are removed and the soft rib covering falls in and collapses the diseased section. New ribs grow back in such a way that the injured lung area is permanently collapsed.

Surgery, like drugs, is a supplement to bed rest—never a substitute for it. But modern surgical techniques, which are constantly being improved, have been directly responsible for saving the lives of many tuberculosis patients.

Forgery Easy in U. S.

Reds Plan Tree Wall

San Francisco (AP)—The Chinese Communists boast that they are erecting a "modern Great Wall" in Manchuria—a vast shelter belt of trees intended to alter the climate of a windswept region of arid dunes. The Peiping radio says that the shelter belt is to be 683 miles long, extending from Heilungkiang Province down to Liaotung peninsula and Shanhaikwan, southeastern end of the actual Great Wall of ancient China. Width will range up to 186 miles, the Reds say.

No. 9 of a series of ads directed to men in the belief that the substantial savings made possible by A&P's "Super-Right" meat-cutting method are of special interest to the family wage-earner.

MEN...Here's How A&P's "Super-Right" Meat-Cutting Method Helps Your Wife Get More of the Center-Cut in Pork Loins Without Paying "Center-Cut Prices!"

There's only so much of the choice center meat in every Pork Loin. Naturally, everyone prefers it—and naturally, too, that's why the center cut (or chops) sell at a higher price. A&P, however, wants to give every Pork Loin buyer a fair share of the center meat — not just small ends. A&P gives you any size Rib End up to 6 lbs. or any size Loin End you want—with all the center meat that goes with it—and, without charging the higher "center cut price" for it.

Of course, the larger your roast, the more center meat you get with it. So for maximum value, A&P suggests that you buy a large family size roast—and A&P will gladly cut the extra chops for you for another meal at no additional charge. Instead of costing you the "Center Cut Price," these extra chops will cost you either the Rib End or Loin End price—whichever you choose to buy.

Customers' Corner

"Two guarantees—for the price of one!"

A&P is famous for famous grocery brands—and for value on 'em, too. Everybody knows that!

But did you know that every brand sold in your A&P is backed by two reputations? Yes, the maker's and A&P's!

In these days when getting your money's worth counts more than ever, A&P insures it by stocking brands guaranteed by the makers and, by guaranteeing all these brands itself.

So whatever the brand . . . whoever makes it . . . if ever you're not completely satisfied with it see your friend — your A&P manager — he'll return your money without question!

Belfast, Northern Island (AP)—Forgery is easier in the U. S. than in Britain, says Dr. Cecil L. Wilson, of Queen's University, Belfast. Dr. Wilson, an expert on forgery, recently visited the FBI in Washington, where he was shown checks worth millions of dollars—all forged. "In the United States," said Dr. Wilson, "people are so anxious to do business and salesmanship is of such a high-pressure nature that a check will be accepted almost from anyone. In Britain, a check is more difficult to cash, hence check forgery is much less common."

Reds Plan Tree Wall

San Francisco (AP)—The Chinese Communists boast that they are erecting a "modern Great Wall" in Manchuria—a vast shelter belt of trees intended to alter the climate of a windswept region of arid dunes. The Peiping radio says that the shelter belt is to be 683 miles long, extending from Heilungkiang Province down to Liaotung peninsula and Shanhaikwan, southeastern end of the actual Great Wall of ancient China. Width will range up to 186 miles, the Reds say.

No. 9 of a series of ads directed to men in the belief that the substantial savings made possible by A&P's "Super-Right" meat-cutting method are of special interest to the family wage-earner.

MEN...Here's How A&P's "Super-Right" Meat-Cutting Method Helps Your Wife Get More of the Center-Cut in Pork Loins Without Paying "Center-Cut Prices!"

There's only so much of the choice center meat in every Pork Loin. Naturally, everyone prefers it—and naturally, too, that's why the center cut (or chops) sell at a higher price. A&P, however, wants to give every Pork Loin buyer a fair share of the center meat — not just small ends. A&P gives you any size Rib End up to 6 lbs. or any size Loin End you want—with all the center meat that goes with it—and, without charging the higher "center cut price" for it.

Of course, the larger your roast, the more center meat you get with it. So for maximum value, A&P suggests that you buy a large family size roast—and A&P will gladly cut the extra chops for you for another meal at no additional charge. Instead of costing you the "Center Cut Price," these extra chops will cost you either the Rib End or Loin End price—whichever you choose to buy.

Customers' Corner

"Two guarantees—for the price of one!"

A&P is famous for famous grocery brands—and for value on 'em, too. Everybody knows that!

But did you know that every brand sold in your A&P is backed by two reputations? Yes, the maker's and *A&P's!

In these days when getting your money's worth counts more than ever, A&P insures it by stocking brands guaranteed by the makers and, by guaranteeing all these brands itself.

So whatever the brand . . . whoever makes it . . . if ever you're not completely satisfied with it see your friend — your A&P manager — he'll return your money without question!

CUSTOMER RELATIONS DEPT
A&P Food Stores
420 Lexington Ave., New York 17, N. Y.

Remember — it's not the price per pound but the total cost to you that counts. So buy the family size roast and save.

PORK LOIN RIB END

The Rib-End has more bone, but the price per pound is much lower . . . making an economical roast. A&P's "Super-Right" Cutting Method enables you to buy the family size Rib-End Roast up to 6 lbs. and get a good share of center chops at the same low price. A&P cuts the chops for you at no extra charge.

UP TO 6 POUNDS LB 43c

The center cut chops are worth 75c lb., or a saving of 32c lb. on the extra center chops you get.

PORK LOIN LOIN END

The Loin-End is meatier and has less bone-weight. It also has the tenderloin. Buy a large size Loin-End so as to have a delightful roast plus extra center chops for another meal. A&P cuts the chops for you at no extra charge.

ANY SIZE PIECE LB 53c

The center cut chops are worth 75c lb., or a saving of 22c lb. on the extra center chops you get.

Eats Breakfast Foods

Long Beach, Calif., (AP)—Tico-Tico, a midget Mexican parrot, once flew with many of his kind in destructive raids on Mexico's grain fields. Now the pet of young Clinton and Marstan Smith, Tico-Tico's foraging habits haven't improved. The pint-sized bird now competes with the boys for their meals. Their mother, Mrs. J. Stanley Smith, reports milk and cereal is the bird's favorite dish. Tico-Tico sometimes stands on a syrupy pancake and pecks away at it.

As Pegler Sees It

Baker, the secretary of war, were howling for more and more cooper.

After that, Harry went to the war as a lieutenant of infantry.

His first wife was killed in an automobile smash. A few years ago, he married the widow of the late Stewart Brush, and when he took his beautiful bride, Michael, to Denver on their honeymoon the first social visit they made was a call on Miss Fanny Dempsey, who admonished the new Mrs. Lavender to be sure to make him eat his oatmeal.

Harry was very brave but it was not from him that I learned the details of the time that a blast in a new drift in the big mine at Bisbee blew out the last barrier against an unsuspected underground lake, letting a terrific flood into the mine. This was 2,000 feet down. In advancing new drifts, Arizona miners keep a sort of door moving forward, to be slammed and secured in just such a case. But this time the door was fouled by some stray lumber and the men could not close it readily. They ran for their lives. Harry was some distance off but he rushed down the drift, swam to the door, freed it and closed it, shutting out the flood.

For more than two years, Harry had known that he had a very dangerous condition which often is fatal. Nevertheless, he insisted on putting up the house at La Jolla for his declining years. A few days ago one of those bad Arizona dust storms irritated his lungs and in 48 hours he was gone.

Harry was the active superintendent of all the copper mining works of Phelps-Dodge in Arizona and northern Mexico. He was a big, stocky man with a ruddy face, gray temples and a strange shyness. It is beyond me to convey the nobility of this great soul, his affection and his uncompromising observance of his principles which, of course, were beautiful ideals.

A great new open pit mine, now being developed at Bisbee, is called the Harrison M. Lavender pit.

Chinese Habits Scored

Singapore (AP) — Singapore Chinese are too lavish in spending and are not punctual. So thinks Mr. Homer Cheng, president of the Chinese YMCA. He has noticed Chinese extravagance in funeral, dinners and weddings. He said the Chinese YMCA has organized mass weddings at only $10 per couple. He believes Chinese restaurants could be persuaded to cut down the number of courses in Chinese dinners. Weddings, funerals and dinners usually don't start on time because of the Chinese habit of being late.

Gasman Loses Tools

Salem, Mass. (AP)—Now it's the gasman instead of the plumber who forgets his tools. And he doesn't forget to bring them, he forgets to take them home. Police received a call recently from the foreman of a group of workers adjusting home appliances for the advent of natural gas. One of his employes had left a box of tools worth almost $100 in the gutter. Inquiries were made but the box was not located.

Senator Sues Senator

Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) (left) makes notes from reference books in his office at Washington, March 26, after announcing he has filed a $2,000,000 "libel, slander and conspiracy" suit against Sen. William Benton (D.-Conn.) (right). Benton has demanded that McCarthy be ousted from the Senate. McCarthy said he plans to serve as his own attorney.

Don't Forget Soup Kettle

Brides who are buying kitchen equipment should remember to include a large kettle to use for making soup, stew, cooking a ham or a smoked tongue.

Morris Says Truman Only One With Interest

New York, March 27 (AP)—Newbold Morris says President Truman is the only person in Washington who has "his heart and soul" in the job of investigating corruption in the federal government.

Morris, named by Truman to head the corruption probe, told a WPIX television audience last night:

"There is no one in Washington who really has his heart and soul in what I am trying to do—either on Capitol Hill or in the various branches of the executive."

After the program, newsmen asked Morris for clarification of his statement. He then said he excluded President Truman from his remark and added:

"He's the only one in Washington who does have his heart and soul in what I am trying to do."

Respect, Confidence Main Cogs in Preparing for Parole

Gaining respect and confidence of those in correctional institutions is the basis of success for the parole system used by New York state it was stressed at Rotary Wednesday by Major Thomas J. Hanlon, superintendent of Napanoch Institution for Male Defective Delinquents.

More than 75 Rotarians and guests enjoyed the talk given by Hanlon whose 30 years in the correctional field have qualified him to discuss the "new approach" to rehabilitating offenders to join society again instead of spending the rest of their lives in jail under the old punitive system of brutality, confinement and just serving time.

Displaying a handmade dummy pistol taken from an oppressed inmate under the old "treat 'em rough" system, Hanlon said the man intended to use it in an escape attempt.

The prisoner who made it was moved by a feeling that he "didn't belong" and nobody cared about him, the major said. The attitude struck when he finally was released and he was electrocuted for murder.

Human Understanding

In contrast, Hanlon exhibited a number of things made at Napanoch such as miniature planes, oil paintings and a real work of handcraft, an army tank fashioned from wooden match sticks.

The major told the Rotarians that control is maintained at Napanoch through human understanding and he stressed that 85 per cent of those released on parole make good despite the old theory that delinquents were hopeless.

Hanlon said that 65 per cent of those sent to Napanoch cannot read or write, and he told of one 20-year inmate who learned within a year in order that he might be eligible for parole.

Encourages Others

Inmates who have joined the services have made good the major said and he related how one of his "graduates" had spent $12 to phone him from Germany to urge other inmates to make good through the program at the institution.

Hanlon said he always welcomes to his institution those who have made good on parole, because their presence encourages those serving time, and the fact that they have not forgotten their former associates "gives a great lift" to those still paying their debt to society.

The major invited the Rotarians to inspect Napanoch as a group and advised them that they would be amazed at accomplishments made by the "superintendent's class," conducted by the inmates themselves for courses in the various fields of education.

There's a clinic too where inmates may discuss their problems, and, the major advised the difficulties seem to vanish once the men have been allowed to talk about their troubles to understanding folk.

Hanlon's advice was that the same human approach used in revamping the prison system is the answer for solving juvenile delinquency, a condition that develops from a feeling on the part of a child that nobody loves or cares about him.

The speaker praised Kingston agencies working on programs for the children of the community, and paid special tribute to Harry L. Edson, assistant superintendent of recreation here, with whom he became acquainted years ago.

The Rev. Dean Dykstra as president of Rotary presided over the post luncheon program in the Stuyvesant Hotel.

Guests Present

Guests for the occasion were Hubert Hoderath of the Kingston school system who was with Principal John H. Martin of Kngston High School; Edward Huben of the Central Hudson with James Rowe and Joe Kelly with Rotarian Louis R. Netter, managing editor of The Freeman.

Major Hanlon was invited and introduced by Jack Matthews, chairman of the speaker's program.

O & W Hearing Is Adjourned by Court

New York, March 27 (AP)—A hearing on an application to approve the sale of the bankrupt New York, Ontario and Western Railway Co., has been adjourned until April 16.

Adjournment was ordered yesterday by Federal Judge Edward A. Conger to give bondholders more time to complete sale arrangements.

Two separate contracts have been signed to buy pieces of the 500-mile road, which connects western New York and eastern Pennsylvania with Weehawken, N. J.

One of the contracts provides for selling the Kingston, Port Jervis and Monticello subsidiary and branch lines to Lincoln Epworth of New York city. The other involves selling the rest of the line and its property to Robert A. Nordblom, also of New York.

Before ordering adjournment, Judge Conger reserved decision on the following:

1. An application directing the trustees of the railroad to pay $180,000 in taxes allegedly due the town of West New York, N. J.
2. A motion to abandon the line.

On Mt. Washington, N. H., a 231-mile-an-hour wind was recorded in 1934.

Volunteer Air Reserves Hold Banquet

Among the principals attending the third annual banquet of the 9267th Volunteer Air Reserve Training Squadron Tuesday night at the Airport Inn were seated (l. to r.) Lt. Col. Horton W. Stickle, Jr., of Headquarters 1st Air Force; Major Edward DeGroff, toastmaster; and Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk. Standing are Major Chester Baltz, Jr., Major Theodore Lee, commanding officer of the Kingston Reserve Squadron; Captain William Friga, liaison officer; and Lt. Winfield Benoit. (Freeman photo)

Air Reserve Plan Has Been Started

A revitalized air reserve program has been instituted and will be offered to the reserve airmen in the next year, Lt. Col. Horton W. Stickle, Jr., of Headquarters, 1st Air Force, told members and guests attending the third annual banquet of the 9267th Volunteer Air Reserve Training Squadron Tuesday night at the Airport Inn.

Col. Stickle, director of volunteer air reserve training for the 1st Air Force, supervises squadrons and groups in 15 northeastern states and the District of Columbia.

He explained the revitalized air reserve program by saying that he expected the new experimental reorganization of the reserve into reserve districts will be accepted as the most efficient and proper organizational setup.

The volunteer air reserve training director also emphasized the training available now to officers in civilian contract schools.

He said "this program gives officers extremely valuable training in industrial leadership problems and other fields of executive management.

Character Recognized

Concluding his talk, Col. Stickle said "the universal character of military service is being recognized as the fundamental necessity for the strength of our country. Some form of military service has become accepted as a responsibility by the thinking American today. It is recognized that the great need for military preparedness without a large standing army means that we must have a large, well-trained reserve corps. No better way can the veteran give security to his family and serve his country than by being a part of the reserve."

The reserves present were entertained by two talented young amateurs. Tony Amato sang several songs and as usual was well received and showed his ability to present a song in a professional manner. Miss Patricia Rosinski who is a member of the Roger Baer accordion ensemble, presented several accordion solos and demonstrated that she has much musical ability and has mastered a difficult instrument.

Major Edward DeGroff acted as toastmaster and introduced the guests who responded with appropriate remarks. Those introduced were Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, Major Theodore Lee, commanding officer of the Kingston Reserve Squadron; Captain William Friga, liason officer; and Col. Charles Gaffney.

President Plans Return to Capital

Key West, Fla., March 27 (AP)—President Truman, looking tanned, relaxed and healthy after a three-week vacation, flies back to Washington—and work—today.

He takes off at 2:30 p. m. (EST) from the Boca Chica naval air station 8½ miles from the submarine station he makes his Little White House. He is due in the capital around 6 p. m.

Immediately upon his return he will move into the White House he vacated November, 1948 to permit a five million dollar rebuilding program to get underway.

His immediate schedule calls for a cabinet meeting tomorrow, at which the steel situation undoubtedly will be discussed, and a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner address Saturday night.

Speculation that he will not seek re-election seemed equally matched by speculation that he will. Truman has told reporters nothing about his plans since he flew south March 7.

Passengers Delayed

New York, March 27 (AP)—Mechanical trouble delayed passengers on Long Island Rail Road trains bound for New York on the Port Washington Division this morning. The company said that as a train was leaving the Great Neck station at 6:36 (a.m.) couplers connecting two cars parted. The road said 11 minutes were lost in recoupling the cars, delaying two following trains. At 7:51 a. m. a broken coupler was discovered on a train being made up at Port Washington. An 11-minute delay resulted and two following trains were late.

A hamlet in the state of West Virginia has the ominous name of "War."

He takes off at 2:30 p. m. (EST) from the Boca Chica naval air station 8½ miles from the submarine station he makes his Little White House. He is due in the capital around 6 p. m.

Immediately upon his return he will move into the White House he vacated November, 1948 to permit a five million dollar rebuilding program to get underway.

His immediate schedule calls for a cabinet meeting tomorrow, at which the steel situation undoubtedly will be discussed, and a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner address Saturday night.

Speculation that he will not seek re-election seemed equally matched by speculation that he will. Truman has told reporters nothing about his plans since he flew south March 7.

Achievement Test Method Discussed

Woodstock, March 27—The use of achievement tests in charting the educational curriculum of each individual pupil, was discussed Wednesday night by Charles Traphagan, guidance counselor for the Onteora School, at a meeting of parents of children, of the Shady School, who will go to Onteora next fall.

"There are two kinds of achievement tests," Traphagan explained, "those which test speed and those which indicate power. The latter is especially helpful in assessing the abilities of the slower child and helping him to speed up."

Traphagan showed samples of a number of achievement tests which have been made up by psycologists and given to thousands of children all over the country.

"These tests never fail to indicate to a teacher the standing of a child on the subject matter," he stated, "and the only variation is when a child is either not up to par physically or emotionally. The tests are the best indicators of the success likely to be achieved by a student both in high school and college."

One test, for instance, designed to test the student's ability in social studies, contained maps and charts and measured his skill in using and finding reference material. Another enlightened the teaching staff as to his area of interest. This test, he pointed out, was exceptionally valuable in disclosing a child's artistic talents.

Traphagan has been engaged for a number of months setting up guidance records of the students in the Shady and nearby areas for future use at the Onteora School. Following the general discussion he held individual conferences with the parents of the children attending the Shady School.

Calm Is Ominous

Tunis, Tunisia, March 27 (AP)—Tunisia was ominously calm today but political storms raged elsewhere over yesterday's sudden French clampdown of martial law and the arrest of four top Tjnisian cabinet ministers. In Paris, at least two major political parties prepared to rake the already-shaky government of Premier Antoine Pinay over the coals for the dramatic and drastic action.

Following the meeting the members enjoyed several humorous readings by Mrs. Kutzschbach, a piano solo by Mrs. William Klippel, a zither solo by Mrs. Kutzschbach, a vocal trio by Mrs. Roger Grazier, Miss Audrey Sheriff and Mrs. Leroy O'Brien. Group singing concluded the program.

Calm Is Ominous

Tunis, Tunisia, March 27 (AP)—Tunisia was ominously calm today but political storms raged elsewhere over yesterday's sudden French clampdown of martial law and the arrest of four top Tjnisian cabinet ministers. In Paris, at least two major political parties prepared to rake the already-shaky government of Premier Antoine Pinay over the coals for the dramatic and drastic action.

12 Airmen Killed

Tucson, Ariz., March 27 (AP)—Twelve military airmen were killed in two plane crashes in the southwest yesterday. Eight died in the flaming wreckage of a B-29 bomber from Davis Monthan Air Force Base here and four perished in the crash of a B-17 Stratojet bomber from Kirtland AFB on the edge of Albuquerque. Both crashes occurred shortly after the planes had taken off from their bases.

Goddard Ponders Guilt of Rosario

New York, March 27 (AP) — Did one loyal brother go to prison to help his "black sheep" brother?

That is the question Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard must decide after hearing this story yesterday from Attorney Benjamin Schmier:

Anhony Pisciotta, 28, was "the black sheep of the family. He was always looking for an easy way to make an easy dollar."

But his brother, Rosario, 32, led "an exemplary life."

One day, Anthony asked Rosario to deliver a package. His easy-going brother took the package—and was arrested. It contained narcotics.

Anthony also was arrested—and for him it wasn't the first time.

Would Impose Maximum

When Rosario shouted his innocence, the U. S. attorney said the maximum sentence would be imposed if the case went to trial.

Anthony urged his brother to plead guilty so that Anthony, who had a record, wouldn't get too stiff a sentence. A lawyer told Rosario the judge probably would give him six months at the most.

So both brothers pleaded guilty to peddling narcotics. Anthony got nine years. Rosario got seven years. They went to prison about a year ago.

Rosario wrote Judge Goddard from prison, saying he was innocent. The case was turned over to the Legal Aid Society and Schmier was assigned.

"I received a letter from Anthony," Schmier told the judge, "and believe me, it was written in blood. He said his conscience bothered him so much he couldn't sleep nights and he swore his brother was innocent."

After hearing the story, Judge Goddard ordered Rosario to enter a plea of innocent. If the brother proves his case, he will be a free man.

Said the judge:

Routing Eliminated

These revised plans eliminate the original routing through Foxhall, Flatbush and Albany avenues.

Colonel Frank W. Harkin, commanding officer of the 156th Field Artillery Battalion, of the New York National Guard, has offered the use of his command to lend a ceremonious air to the Queen's reception. In addition to the Kingston batteries of the unit, two batteries of the battalion from Poughkeepsie have been ordered to Kingston to participate in this duty.

Colonel Harkin was quoted as feeling that his command had been given an unusual honor and distinction in being designated the guard of honor for Her Majesty. It is expected that every man of the unit, except any who may be bedridden by illness, will be on hand for the occasion.

Interest on the part of out-of-towners is greater than ever as the date of the Royal Visit approaches, the committee said. The offices of the Tercentenary committee and of the Chamber of Commerce have been snowed under with letters, telegrams and telephone calls from people and organizations in other cities who are arranging to be in Kingston on April 5.

A great number of reporters and photographers from big city papers and news services have requested permission to cover the event. Newsreel cameramen and at least one large radio affiliate of a national chain have made arrangements for coverage.

Hundreds of photographs of Kingston and background material have been furnished this week to correspondents of European papers. A fully illustrated story on Kingston appeared as a syndicated feature this week in newspapers in Holland, Belgium and France. The mayor has been invited to tell the people of a large area about our celebration on a television program over Schenectady's WRGB on next Tuesday night.

Transferred to Local Recruiting Office

SGT. GLORIA J. COLON

Sgt. Gloria J. Colon is scheduled to be transferred from Poughkeepsie to the local U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting station, Tuesday, April 1, and expects to be stationed here for approximately two years.

Enlisting in the Air Force August, 1950, Sgt. Colon received her basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas. She performed duty at Lackland until ordered to Recruiting School at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, September, 1951. Upon graduation from school, she was reassigned to the Northern New York Recruiting district with duty station at Albany. Sgt. Colon has a brother and a sister in the Air Force. Her brother is stationed at Kessler Air Force Base in Mississippi and her sister is undergoing basic training at Lackland Base.

The local recruiting station located in the central post office is open daily, Mondays through Friday from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. and on Saturday from 8 a. m. to 12 noon. (Freeman photo).

Telephone Strike Ends

Newark, N. J., March 27 (AP)—A strike of nearly 7,000 New Jersey Bell Telephone workers ended early today after a marathon mediation session, and service was completely back to normal by 8 a. m. The company said a statewide checkup showed all telephone operators at work and plant and accounting employes also on the job. The operators had refused to cross picket lines set up by the plant workers after they walked out at 7 a. m. yesterday.

Aerial Survey Begins

New York, March 27 (AP)—An aerial survey of the six airports in the metropolitan district was begun today by former air force General James H. Doolittle, chairman of the Presidential Airport Investigating Commission, and Rear Admiral Charles F. Horn, U.S.N., retired, a member of the commission and head of the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

60 Answer Call to Help 1952 Cancer Crusade for $20,000 in Ulster County

A call for "an army of workers, so that we in our small way may help to turn the battle against cancer in our favor," was issued by Herman G. Rafalowsky, general chairman, at the organizational meeting of the 1952 Cancer Crusade in Ulster county.

The meeting, held Wednesday night in the Tumor Clinic library, was attended by more than 60 persons and was termed by the chairman the "most successful" organizational meeting in several years. Almost all sections of the county were represented.

Rafalowsky asked that all persons interested in joining the fight against cancer volunteer their services by calling at the office of the Ulster County Branch of the American Cancer Society, 400 Broadway, on weekdays between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m., or by telephoning 6400.

Attorney John Larkin, Kingston city campaign chairman, also addressed the meeting.

After a Long Illness, an article by Bruce Barton in the April issue of Readers Digest, was read. It was reported that Barton donated the check he received for the article to the American Cancer Society.

The article, describing the author's wife's death from cancer, was cited by several persons present as their motivation for joining the Cancer Crusade.

Quota Is $20,000

Senate Majority Leader Arthur H. Wicks is honorary chairman. Assistant honorary chairmen are Sister M. Berenice, Mrs. James H. Betts, the Rev. William C. Cain, Msgr. Stephen P. Connelly, Capt. Andrew S. Hickey, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, Thomas J. Plunket, Sheriff Cluett Schantz, Walter R. Seamon, William B. Sheldon, Assemblyman John F. Wadlin, and Rabbi Philip H. Weinberg.

Treasurer is George C. Bode, Kingston Trust Company, Central Branch. The drive opens officially on April 1.

Students Seek Return

Rome, March 27 (AP)—Small groups of high school and university students, books under arms, took to the streets again today to shout for Trieste's return to Italy. Compared with the massive, stone-throwing demonstrations of the past three days in which scores were injured in Rome, Milan and Naples, the rallies were tame. The announcement yesterday by British Gen. Sir John Winterton, Allied Military Government chief at Trieste, that administrative elections in the British-American zone will be held at the same time as the Italian elections this spring helped restore calm and order.

British postmen have their shoes soled and heeled every five weeks and buy at least two working pairs annually.

Tax Assistants Will Give Help

As state income tax filing date nears, squads of state tax examiners will in the next 20 days visit 35 communities in the state to offer help in making out returns for 1951 due April 15.

In this area, services of examiners are available at the Ulster County Court House, Kingston, March 31 through April 15.

State income tax returns must be filed by single persons who had net income and net capital gain of $1,000 or more in 1951, and by married couples who had net income and net capital gain of $2,500 or more.

The 10 per cent tax reduction is continued this year. Taxpayers apply normal rates to determine the normal tax and pay only 90 per cent of that amount.

The expert services of the tax examiners are available without charge to those who wish to have help in making out the returns. Taxpayers should, however, come prepared with full information as to income and deductions.

Approval Is Given

Geneva, Switzerland, March 27 (AP)—A United Nations group approved today a draft convention aimed at getting women equal political rights with men all over the world. The UN Commission on the Status of Women will submit the convention to the Economic and Social Council. Before its goal can be reached, the convention must be made into law by about 20 governments, including Switzerland, which do not yet grant women the right to vote.

Opinion Is Suicide

Williamstown, Mass., March 27 (AP)—Medical Examiner George T. Mullen gave an opinion of suicide in the death of Millard Romaine, Jr., 19, Williams College student who was found dead of a bullet wound in a fraternity house last Feb. 18. He offered that opinion at a public inquest yesterday.

Mysterious Fire Destroys Barn In Amenia Area

Amenia, N. Y., March 27 (AP)—Another in a series of mysterious fires near the New York-Connecticut state line destroyed a barn at Ancramdale during the night with a loss estimated unofficially at $25,000.

This was the sixth fire of unknown origin in the same general area in a week.

Roads in the area are being patrolled by state police, volunteer firemen and deputy sheriffs on the possibility that a firebug is on the loose.

The fire at Ancramdale, 20 miles north of here in Columbia county, leveled a barn on the Fred Barton farm. Fifty head of cattle in the barn were saved.

An abandoned one-story schoolhouse at Pleasant Ridge, about 15 miles from Amenia, was destroyed by flames Tuesday night.

Earlier three fires on the New York side of the line and one in Sharon, Conn., in a 24-hour period starting last Thursday destroyed farms and homes with an estimated loss of $250,000.

Witnesses in French courts are permitted to tell more than the truth. They may even use their imaginations in testifying.

Arrangements for Benedictine Hospital Auxiliary Ball Announced at Meeting

A meeting of the chairmen of various committees in charge of arrangements for the annual Benedictine ball, sponsored by the Benedictine Ladies' Auxiliary, which will take place Saturday evening, April 19, in the Governor Clinton Hotel, was held Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. John A. Cooke, president. Many phases of the ball were discussed and the chairmen reported excellent progress.

Mrs. Allen Baker, general chairman, has distributed the patrons tickets. She expressed appreciation for the general support given the auxiliary by the patrons in past years. This will be of particular importance this year, said Mrs. Baker, because of the extensive work undertaken by the auxiliary to furnish two obstetrical rooms in the new wing of the hospital.

The entertainment program was outlined and will consist of a vocalist and the Candlight Trio. The trio, which has appeared at the Embassy Room and at Bartke's and other clubs in Albany, has been enjoyed by many local residents. Additional information regarding the entertainment will be given at a later date. Johnny Knapp's orchestra will play for dancing.

Members of the Benedictine nursing staff will serve on the reception committee.

Spring flowers and palms will be used for decorating the ballroom and tables.

Arrangements for Benedictine Hospital Auxiliary Ball Announced at Meeting

A meeting of the chairmen of various committees in charge of arrangements for the annual Benedictine ball, sponsored by the Benedictine Ladies' Auxiliary, which will take place Saturday evening, April 19, in the Governor Clinton Hotel, was held Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. John A. Cooke, president. Many phases of the ball were discussed and the chairmen reported excellent progress.

Mrs. Allen Baker, general chairman, has distributed the patrons tickets. She expressed appreciation for the general support given the auxiliary by the patrons in past years. This will be of particular importance this year, said Mrs. Baker, because of the extensive work undertaken by the auxiliary to furnish two obstetrical rooms in the new wing of the hospital.

The entertainment program was outlined and will consist of a vocalist and the Candlight Trio. The trio, which has appeared at the Embassy Room and at Bartke's and other clubs in Albany, has been enjoyed by many local residents. Additional information regarding the entertainment will be given at a later date. Johnny Knapp's orchestra will play for dancing.

Spring flowers and palms will be used for decorating the ballroom and tables.

Belles and Beaux Will Present New Compositions

Original Compositions have been written by Mrs. Melvin Navy and Seymour Markowitz for the Belles and Beaux Revue which will be presented by the ladies' group of Agudas Achim Congregation, Saturday evening at the Elks Club Auditorium on Fair street. The production is under the direction of Herman Lurie.

The costume and make-up committee, of which Miss Ida Epstein is chairman, is making every effort to obtain authentic costumes for the entertainment. She is assisted by Miss Rae Weiner, Mrs. Morton Sosna and Mrs. Joseph Epstein. Seymour Markowitz is in charge of the scenery and lighting and Melvin Navy will be the piano accompanist.

Members of the cast include the Mmes. Al Green, Jack Sheinvold, Murray Fletcher, Seymour Markowitz, Stanley Kaplan, Stanley Rosenbaum, John Levy and Meyer Basch and the Messrs Jack Sheinvold, Irving Grubman, Harry Katzoff, Stanley Kaplan, Larry Levine, Aaron Bahl, John Levy, Jack Epstein and Herman Lurie.

Reunion Announced For Camp Greenkill

Mrs. Samuel Gally and Mrs. John Sleight have announced a reunion for campers and their friends at Camp Greenkill on the Rosendale road Sunday, April 27, at 2 p. m.

For children of pre-school age beginning with three year olds, the camp will open June 1, with all-day sessions five days each week. Lunch will be served to the children at the camp.

Additional information relative to the camp and the reunion may be had by telephoning Mrs. Gally at 1121 or Mrs. Sleight at 4787-J.

Testing Candy

If you haven't a candy thermometer and you are making caramels that must be cooked to the firm ball stage you can use the cold water test: the syrup, when dropped into very cold water, forms a firm ball that does not flatten when it is removed.

Reception Climaxes Hadassah Campaign At Governor Clinton

The event was the climax to a successful fund raising campaign sponsored by the local organization. Mrs. Alice Smiley, concert violinist, and Mrs. Harold Shorr, vocalist, were the featured artists.

Mrs. Smiley, an outstanding musician, thrilled her audience with interpretations which showed a fine technique, musical depth and sympathetic understanding. She was ably accompanied by Victor Landau, faculty member of New Paltz State Teachers College.

Impellitteri Gets

the "package" includes a proposed constitutional amendment to permit the city to boost its real estate tax limit, beginning in 1954, from 2 to 2½ per cent of a five-year average of full valuation.

The program also assumes that the city will levy a $5 and $10 automobile use tax, depending on weight, and a 25-per-cent surtax on state retail liquor license fees. Impellitteri has agreed to this.

Continue its 3-per-cent sales tax until July 1, 1955; levy a one-cent-a-pack tax on cigarettes, impose a $60-a-year fee for overnight parking of automobiles on designated streets, levy a 15-per-cent admissions tax at the city's race tracks and boost from two-fifths to four-fifths of 1 per cent the city tax on gross income of financial businesses.

They also authorize issuance of three-year serial bonds to pay off $100,300,000 in transit deficits by July 1, 1953, and the retirement of tax notes over a five-year period, instead of four.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

The wage-and-price controversy now coming to a head in the steel industry, following the wage hikes recommended by the Wage Stabilization Board, conceivably will wind up the wage-and-price spiral to the breaking point. Obviously, if the recommendations of the board are carried through, and if a sizeable offsetting increase in the price of steel is permitted, you will find a parade of similar demands made by the unions of other industries.

An economy and its people can stand just so much inflation— and then the scales tip in the other direction. There is no way to measure the degree that can be withstood. What happens is—and there are many examples from history, of course—that at a sudden moment people react to the high prices and simply refuse to buy anything but the barest essentials. In other words, it becomes a psychological reaction, rather than an economic reaction.

However, we do know that throughout the world there is a noticeable "trade recession" and deflation in numerous prices. Reports from abroad stress the trade slumps and financial difficulties in Great Britain and France—the breaks in prices of jute in India-Pakistan; of rubber in Malaya-Indonesia; of wool in Australia; and the set-backs in Japan. In nearby Canada there are reports of inventory dumping and price-cuts.

Here at home we know that there has been a marked let-down in retail trade and that prices of commodities have fallen.

So it seems to this writer that the next two or three months may well be extremely significant from a longer term standpoint.

Either the inflation will start winding up again, or we shall find that the tension is already too great and that something will snap.

General predictions in your business papers and financial reports seem almost universally agreed that the present "recession" will only last another month or two and that we shall soon witness another upward spurt in business.

But this is a little too much taken-for-granted to suit out theory of contrary opinion.

This general opinion does not take into consideration it seems to me, (1) what effect the new price increases will have on the consuming public, (2) what influence there will arise from the international trend toward "deflation," and (3) what will happen to profits when wages are boosted anywhere from 17 cents to 26 cents an hour.

If prices are held down—in steel, for example—profits will suffer. Inasmuch as profits have already suffered from the huge taxes imposed on corporations, it may come as a surprise if profits show another sharp down-turn. A cut in profits is also influential on deflation, and has to be considered as one of the forces that might snap the spiral.

There is no such thing as "a one-way street" in economics. At some stage in the journey, both up and down in the economic cycle, we come to a dead-end street. It must be freely granted that it is difficult—almost impossible—to see around the corner and know when we are approaching the dead-end. But it is always well to remember there is a dead-end somewhere ahead.

The outpouring of billions for defense complicates any appraisal of the "time" involved. However, the defense program may not change human nature—and people may still go on strike against high prices just as actively as unions strike for higher wages.

Officers Elected For School Board

New Paltz March 26—Officers were elected for the next school year at a well-attended meeting of the Campus School Planning Board March 20. New president of the board will be Mrs. Charles Langwick; secretary, Mrs. William Jay, and treasurer, Charles Moehrke.

New chairmen will be Mrs. Robert Pyle, book fair; Harold DuBois, transportation; and Mrs. Keith Smiley, Jr., current president of the board of resources.

Dallas Beal will serve as community relations chairman, replacing Miss Alma Bent, the only faculty chairman change made at the meeting.

The planning board decided that the next meeting of Campus School parents will be held on two levels. Mrs. Charles Langwick will conduct the program for the meeting of parents of nursery school children through third graders May 8. On May 15, parents of fourth through eighth graders will meet with Charles Moehrke in charge of the program.

Classroom parent groups will have an opportunity to select representatives to the planning board and their alternates at these meetings. It is planned that alternates will work closely with the regular representatives, so that they will be able to serve on the board as experienced representatives the following year.

Funds accruing from the book fair and clothing exchange will be spent in improving the organization, it was decided by the board. It was voted to assign $25 for books and pamphlets for the Parents Book Shelf in the social room. Dr. Harold Elsbree and Dr. Taylor have donated two books to the shelf recently, New Ways in Discipline and Your Children Today. Parents may borrow material from the shelf at any time.

Prepare Early For Retirement, Adult Group Told

New Paltz, March 26—Happy, full, successful lives are achieved mainly through a realization that the education and maturing process of an adult does not stop after high school or college, Dr. Paul Essert, authority on adult education, told a large group of visitors to the Adult Education Exhibit at the New Paltz Central High School Monday night.

Dr. Essert said that in a series of organized interviews with persons of 50, 60 and 70, concerning their plans for the retirement period of their lives, results had shown that few 70-year-olds were satisfied with the "perpetual rocking chair stage" that they had contemplated at 50.

Dr. Essert is a director of the Institute of Adult Education at Columbia University.

Restlessness Noted

"Most 70-year-olds reported that the rocking chair stage lasted only three weeks and then they became restless—they needed something that would give them a sense of achievement and creativity," Dr. Essert said.

"The best advice we can give," Dr. Essert said, "is to begin to prepare for the retirement stage as early as you can. 40 is not too soon."

The Adult Education program offers an opportunity to learn skills and develop interests that will afford the necessary feeling of accomplishment and creativity in later years.

In an introductory talk, Frank Bugar, high school principal, said that the Adult Education program has been operating successfully in New Paltz for five years and that 250 to 300 people took courses last year.

"New Paltz has more people participating in the program than many other towns of comparable size in the state," Bugar said.

Two new courses will be scheduled for next year if interest warrants it, according to Bugar. One would be a course on Family Relations, set up to cover a wide range of interests in this field. The other would be a discussion group which would bring in specialists on current problems to speak and lead group discussions.

All those interested in either of the two proposals were asked to contact Bugar.

Women Voters to Hold Survey in Village

New Paltz, March 26—Your doorbell may be rung any day from April 1 to April 8 when members of the New Paltz League of Women Voters will conduct a survey over a large part of the village.

League members will question their neighbors about their knowledge of the presidential primary system in New York state in a spot survey, which will be carried on all over the state in an effort to ascertain the degree of public understanding of the election system.

Three questions will be asked, with simple yes, no or don't know answers requested. None of the questions concern actual presidential candidates and names of none of the persons interviewed will be used.

Direction of the survey will be carried on by the Voter's Service Committee of the League, of which Mrs. Robert Pyle is chairman. Interviews with any requests for further information about the technicalities of the primary election will be instructed to call Mrs. Pyle.

The League of Women Voters is a non-partisan organization whose purpose is to promote political responsibility through informed and active participation of citizens in government. It does not support or oppose any political party or candidate.

In Colorado Springs they are a resident quartet and they make national tours annually. The La Salle Quartet is a quartet young in enthusiasm and mature in achievement.

Walter Levin, violinist, was born in Berlin. At the age of 16 he formed his own string quartet and toured Europe extensively. He has a degree from London University and a post graduate diploma from Juilliard. He has studied in New York with Galamian, who was the coath for the quartet. ## Officers Elected For School Board

New Paltz March 26—Officers were elected for the next school year at a well-attended meeting of the Campus School Planning Board March 20. New president of the board will be Mrs. Charles Langwick; secretary, Mrs. William Jay, and treasurer, Charles Moehrke.

New chairmen will be Mrs. Robert Pyle, book fair; Harold DuBois, transportation; and Mrs. Keith Smiley, Jr., current president of the board of resources.

Dallas Beal will serve as community relations chairman, replacing Miss Alma Bent, the only faculty chairman change made at the meeting.

The planning board decided that the next meeting of Campus School parents will be held on two levels. Mrs. Charles Langwick will conduct the program for the meeting of parents of nursery school children through third graders May 8. On May 15, parents of fourth through eighth graders will meet with Charles Moehrke in charge of the program.

Classroom parent groups will have an opportunity to select representatives to the planning board and their alternates at these meetings. It is planned that alternates will work closely with the regular representatives, so that they will be able to serve on the board as experienced representatives the following year.

Funds accruing from the book fair and clothing exchange will be spent in improving the organization, it was decided by the board. It was voted to assign $25 for books and pamphlets for the Parents Book Shelf in the social room. Dr. Harold Elsbree and Dr. Taylor have donated two books to the shelf recently, New Ways in Discipline and Your Children Today. Parents may borrow material from the shelf at any time.

An estimated 60 per cent of the world's population over 10 years of age cannot read or write, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Prepare Early For Retirement, Adult Group Told

New Paltz, March 26—Happy, full, successful lives are achieved mainly through a realization that the education and maturing process of an adult does not stop after high school or college, Dr. Paul Essert, authority on adult education, told a large group of visitors to the Adult Education Exhibit at the New Paltz Central High School Monday night.

Dr. Essert said that in a series of organized interviews with persons of 50, 60 and 70, concerning their plans for the retirement period of their lives, results had shown that few 70-year-olds were satisfied with the "perpetual rocking chair stage" that they had contemplated at 50.

Dr. Essert is a director of the Institute of Adult Education at Columbia University.

Restlessness Noted

"Most 70-year-olds reported that the rocking chair stage lasted only three weeks and then they became restless—they needed something that would give them a sense of achievement and creativity," Dr. Essert said.

"The best advice we can give," Dr. Essert said, "is to begin to prepare for the retirement stage as early as you can. 40 is not too soon."

The Adult Education program offers an opportunity to learn skills and develop interests that will afford the necessary feeling of accomplishment and creativity in later years.

In an introductory talk, Frank Bugar, high school principal, said that the Adult Education program has been operating successfully in New Paltz for five years and that 250 to 300 people took courses last year.

"New Paltz has more people participating in the program than many other towns of comparable size in the state," Bugar said.

Two new courses will be scheduled for next year if interest warrants it, according to Bugar. One would be a course on Family Relations, set up to cover a wide range of interests in this field. The other would be a discussion group which would bring in specialists on current problems to speak and lead group discussions.

All those interested in either of the two proposals were asked to contact Bugar.

Women Voters to Hold Survey in Village

New Paltz, March 26—Your doorbell may be rung any day from April 1 to April 8 when members of the New Paltz League of Women Voters will conduct a survey over a large part of the village.

League members will question their neighbors about their knowledge of the presidential primary system in New York state in a spot survey, which will be carried on all over the state in an effort to ascertain the degree of public understanding of the election system.

Three questions will be asked, with simple yes, no or don't know answers requested. None of the questions concern actual presidential candidates and names of none of the persons interviewed will be used.

Direction of the survey will be carried on by the Voter's Service Committee of the League, of which Mrs. Robert Pyle is chairman. Interviews with any requests for further information about the technicalities of the primary election will be instructed to call Mrs. Pyle.

The League of Women Voters is a non-partisan organization whose purpose is to promote political responsibility through informed and active participation of citizens in government. It does not support or oppose any political party or candidate.

Veteran Earl Harrist Is Clicking In Last Chance to Stay in Majors

(By The Associated Press)

Harrist, a knuckleball artist, has turned in some pitching for the "new" St. Louis Browns. At the moment he is counted on for relief chores, a job he performed for Washington and the Chicago White Sox in 1948.

The Browns, behind the stout pitching of Ned Garver and Harrist, turned back the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-2, at San Bernardino, Calif., yesterday.

Garver blanked the Pirates over the first five innings. Harrist was touched for both Pittsburgh runs in the ninth.

The Chicago White Sox exploded for five runs in the ninth inning to down the Cleveland Indians, 8-5, at Tucson, Ariz. Rookie George Wilson, once with the Boston Red Sox, broke up the game with a three-run homer off recruit Gerald Fahr.

Giants Win Seventh

Home runs also figured prominently in the New York Giants' 9-6 triumph over the Chicago Cubs at Phoenix, Ariz. The victory was the Giants' seventh straight.

Bobby Thomson, Al Dark and Whitey Lockman homered for the National League champions to wipe out a 4-0 deficit. Ron Northey poled a round tripper for Chicago in the seventh against Sal Maglie to end Maglie's streak of 19 scoreless innings.

The Baltimore Orioles of the International League turned back the Philadelphia Athletics, 5-3, at Hollywood, Fla.

Schedule games between Cincinnati and the Philadelphia Phils, Brooklyn and the Boston Braves, Washington and Detroit, the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Yankees were cancelled because of rain.

Yanks Sell Mauch

The Yanks, Braves and Reds sliced their rosters. The Yanks sold infielder Gene Mauch, drafted from Milwaukee, to the Cardinals for the $10,000 waiver price.

Boston shipped nine players to the minors and Cincinnati three. The Braves sent infielders Johnny Logan, Jack Dittmer, pitchers Bob Hall, Murry Wall, Don Liddle and Catchers Jim Parks and Jim Solt to Milwaukee and outfielder Harry Hanebrink and pitcher Norm Roy to Atlanta.

Knicks Outlast Celts, 88 to 87 In NBA Playoffs

Boston, March 27 (AP)—The New York Knickerbockers were one step closer to the Eastern Division National Basketball Association championship today after eliminating the Boston Celtics, 88-87, last night in a double overtime game at the Garden.

Ernie Vanderweghe sank a foul shot in the final two seconds of the second extra period to give the Knicks the victory and the right to meet the Syracuse Nationals. That series begins in Syracuse on April 2.

Minneapolis and Rochester will meet for the Western Division crown. Playing dates have not been announced yet. The winners of those best-of-five series will meet for the NBA championship.

With the score tied at 87-all in the final two seconds, Vanderweghe took a pass in the Boston pivot zone and collided with Dick Dickie. A foul was called on Dickie and Vanderweghe stepped up to the foul line and dropped in the winning point.

Call Brings Rhubarb

The Boston players disputed the referee's decision and after the game hundreds of fans from the partisan 10,018 crown surrounded League President Maurice Podoloff in protest over that foul call.

Both the Boston players and fans argued to no avail that the foul should have been called on Vanderweghe.

Bob Cousy, who poured in 34 points for the Celts, sank three fouls in the final two minutes of regulation time to tie the score at 79-all.

Phil Mandel was the big gun in Tuesday's win, hooping 25 points with a dozen fields and a singleton. Jack Schrader hit 16, Dick Bezemer 12 and Charlie Engel 10 for the winners.

Frank Reis' 10 markers topped the losers, who were outclassed in every period except the fourth when they scored 23 points against a relaxed SA defense.

Veteran Earl Harrist Is Clicking In Last Chance to Stay in Majors

(By The Associated Press)

Earl Harrist, a slim 31-year-old righthander, is making good in what probably will be his last chance to stick in the major leagues.

Harrist, a knuckleball artist, has turned in some pitching for the "new" St. Louis Browns. At the moment he is counted on for relief chores, a job he performed for Washington and the Chicago White Sox in 1948.

The Browns, behind the stout pitching of Ned Garver and Harrist, turned back the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-2, at San Bernardino, Calif., yesterday.

Garver blanked the Pirates over the first five innings. Harrist was touched for both Pittsburgh runs in the ninth.

The Chicago White Sox exploded for five runs in the ninth inning to down the Cleveland Indians, 8-5, at Tucson, Ariz. Rookie George Wilson, once with the Boston Red Sox, broke up the game with a three-run homer off recruit Gerald Fahr.

Giants Win Seventh

Home runs also figured prominently in the New York Giants' 9-6 triumph over the Chicago Cubs at Phoenix, Ariz. The victory was the Giants' seventh straight.

Bobby Thomson, Al Dark and Whitey Lockman homered for the National League champions to wipe out a 4-0 deficit. Ron Northey poled a round tripper for Chicago in the seventh against Sal Maglie to end Maglie's streak of 19 scoreless innings.

The Baltimore Orioles of the International League turned back the Philadelphia Athletics, 5-3, at Hollywood, Fla.

Schedule games between Cincinnati and the Philadelphia Phils, Brooklyn and the Boston Braves, Washington and Detroit, the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Yankees were cancelled because of rain.

Yanks Sell Mauch

The Yanks, Braves and Reds sliced their rosters. The Yanks sold infielder Gene Mauch, drafted from Milwaukee, to the Cardinals for the $10,000 waiver price.

Boston shipped nine players to the minors and Cincinnati three. The Braves sent infielders Johnny Logan, Jack Dittmer, pitchers Bob Hall, Murry Wall, Don Liddle and Catchers Jim Parks and Jim Solt to Milwaukee and outfielder Harry Hanebrink and pitcher Norm Roy to Atlanta.

Cincinnati optioned pitchers George McPhail and Buzz Zieser and catcher Hobie Landrith to Tulsa.

Knicks Outlast Celts, 88 to 87 In NBA Playoffs

Boston, March 27 (AP)—The New York Knickerbockers were one step closer to the Eastern Division National Basketball Association championship today after eliminating the Boston Celtics, 88-87, last night in a double overtime game at the Garden.

Ernie Vanderweghe sank a foul shot in the final two seconds of the second extra period to give the Knicks the victory and the right to meet the Syracuse Nationals. That series begins in Syracuse on April 2.

Minneapolis and Rochester will meet for the Western Division crown. Playing dates have not been announced yet. The winners of those best-of-five series will meet for the NBA championship.

With the score tied at 87-all in the final two seconds, Vanderweghe took a pass in the Boston pivot zone and collided with Dick Dickie. A foul was called on Dickie and Vanderweghe stepped up to the foul line and dropped in the winning point.

Call Brings Rhubarb

The Boston players disputed the referee's decision and after the game hundreds of fans from the partisan 10,018 crown surrounded League President Maurice Podoloff in protest over that foul call.

Both the Boston players and fans argued to no avail that the foul should have been called on Vanderweghe.

Bob Cousy, who poured in 34 points for the Celts, sank three fouls in the final two minutes of regulation time to tie the score at 79-all.

Max Zaslofsky was high man for the Knickerbockers with 21 points.

The UMPIRE

By BEANS REARDON
24 Years in National League

New York — (NEA) — Q. What has been the record number of injuries suffered by a single team in the majors?

Beans Reardon

A. The Yankees of 1949 had a record injury list of 71. Joe DiMaggio, Tommy Henrich and Yogi Berra only played in 17 games together that season.

Q. How many World Series have the Yankees won?

A. The Yanks have been in 18 Series, have won 14 times.

Q. How many throws per game does a pitcher average?

A. 125.

Q. What has been the longest losing streak in the majors?

A. 20 games, held jointly by the Boston Americans of 1906, and the Philadelphia Athletics of 1916 and 1943.

Q. What is the record number of years for an umpire staying in the big leagues?

A. Bob Emslie served 38 years behind the plate in the National League, from 1891 to 1929. Tom Connolly spent 33 seasons in the big show, 1899-1900 in the National, and 1900-1931 in the American.

Davey Registers TKO Over Williams

Instead Chuck Davey said: "I'm glad the referee stopped it because I would hate to have to see such a great former champion as Ike Williams knocked unconscious."

"Ike was lightweight champion for six years and was the best with class and punch...three years ago you should have seen him pulverize.."

And so it went last night at Chicago Stadium.

On Way Out

Ike, on the dressing table, didn't say a word. There was the impression in the whole room that this one-time lightweight king was washed up at 28 after 149 fights as a pro.

He remained undefeated through 32 professional bouts by scoring a fifth round technical knockout over Williams in the televised scheduled 10 rounded in Chicago Stadium last night. Each weighed 145 pounds.

Azalea Play Opens

Wilmington, N. C., March 27 (AP)—The $10,000 annual Azalea Golf Open, sports feature of the annual Azalea Flower Festival, opens here today. The top prize of $2,000 will be the target of such handy gents as Lloyd Mangrum, Sam Snead, Bobby Locke, Cary Middlecoff, Tommy Bolt, Doug Ford, Jim Ferrier, and in fact, just about every winter tour regular with the exception of Jackie Burke. The Texan who won four in a row in recent weeks, is sitting this one out in preparation for next week's Augusta Masters.

Miami Beach, Fla. — Hank Thurman, 205, Modesto, Calif., stopped Ralph Schneider, 219, Chicago, 3.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Bradenton, Fla., March 27 (AP)—Righthander Clem Labine, counted on by the Brooklyn Dodgers to take up some of the slack caused by Don Newcombe's induction into the army, has a sore arm.

"Ive had the swelling before," Labine said today, "but this is the first time I've had the pain to go with it."

St. Petersburgh, Fla., March 27, (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals are hoping for a break from the weather today. They are scheduled to meet the New York Yankees in an exhibition game, following two days of idleness.

Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell and George (Red) Munger were the Cardinal pitching choices today against Ed Lopat and Johnny Sain of the Yanks.

Bradenton, Fla., March 27 (AP)—The Boston Braves and Brooklyn Dodgers, rained out of their scheduled exhibition tilt yesterday, will try again today.

Ben Wade, who played for Hollywood in the Pacific Coast League last season, and Jim Wilson are slated to twirl for the Braves.

The Braves now have been rained out of two straight games. Club officials said the cancellations cost them "considerable money." Refunds were made at the park yesterday.

Feller Impressive

Tucson, Ariz., March 27 (AP)—Bob Feller has quit "taking it easy" in exhibition games. The results: Impressive.

Until yesterday, Bob was following his early spring training schedule of pitching in relaxed style to limber up the arm. Then, against the Chicago White Sox, he bore down for the first time.

Rookie Red Fahr was less effective. He let Chicago win an 8-5 decision in the ninth, with rookie George Wilson's three-run homer the deciding blow.

Sarasota, Fla., March 27 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox entertain the Cincinnati Reds today in their final Grapefruit League game this season at Payne Field.

Manager Lou Bourdau said he will use four pitchers—Randy Gumpert, Willard Nixon, Harry Taylor and Ellis Kinder—against the Reds.

The Sox had no game scheduled yesterday.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 27 (AP)—Manager Casey Stengel has named Vic Raschi as his opening day pitcher, but the selection came as no surprise.

The Yanks open the season against the Philadelphia Athletics on April 15 and Raschi boasts a lifetime 20-2 record over the A's.

Cramer Ends Match With 730-Pin Edge

Cohoes Ace Finishes Block With Slim Lead

Averaging 195.6 in the final 10-game block, Morris Cramer, the 23-year-old Cohoes bowling sharpshooter, nailed down the challenge match decision over Howard Braun Wednesday night in Cohoes with a final lead of 730 pins.

Cramer, who will be richer some time today when he gets the $2,000 purse, trimmed the Bowlatorium manager by 13 pins in their final set.

Braun, showing marked improvement over his first 20-game sets, averaged 194.3 in the final block last night.

The local tenpin manager, who had averaged only 175 plus in the earlier block, connected for four "200" games last night including scores of 233-210-203-232.

Protest Withdrawn

Cramer, who led from the start in the 40-game challenge match, posted five "200" games of 205-200-215-213 and 233.

Davey Registers TKO Over Williams

Chicago, March 27 (AP)—After it was all over you would expect the winning fighter to say: "I murdered de guy."

Instead Chuck Davey said: "I'm glad the referee stopped it because I would hate to have to see such a great former champion as Ike Williams knocked unconscious."

And then, in Williams dressing room where he was on a rubbing table with seconds dabbing cotton on his gashed cheek, his manager said:

And so it went last night at Chicago Stadium.

On Way Out

Ike, on the dressing table, didn't say a word. There was the impression in the whole room that this one-time lightweight king was washed up at 28 after 149 fights as a pro.

Davey, holder of a masters degree from Michigan State, had graduated to the ranks of a top welterweight contender.

He remained undefeated through 32 professional bouts by scoring a fifth round technical knockout over Williams in the televised scheduled 10 rounded in Chicago Stadium last night. Each weighed 145 pounds.

Davey's southpaw style appeared to fluster Williams—a veteran who shouldn't be bewildered by it after beating 10 portsiders in the past.

Azalea Play Opens

Wilmington, N. C., March 27 (AP)—The $10,000 annual Azalea Golf Open, sports feature of the annual Azalea Flower Festival, opens here today. The top prize of $2,000 will be the target of such handy gents as Lloyd Mangrum, Sam Snead, Bobby Locke, Cary Middlecoff, Tommy Bolt, Doug Ford, Jim Ferrier, and in fact, just about every winter tour regular with the exception of Jackie Burke. The Texan who won four in a row in recent weeks, is sitting this one out in preparation for next week's Augusta Masters.

Miami Beach, Fla. — Hank Thurman, 205, Modesto, Calif., stopped Ralph Schneider, 219, Chicago, 3.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Bradenton, Fla., March 27 (AP)—Righthander Clem Labine, counted on by the Brooklyn Dodgers to take up some of the slack caused by Don Newcombe's induction into the army, has a sore arm.

"Ive had the swelling before," Labine said today, "but this is the first time I've had the pain to go with it."

St. Petersburgh, Fla., March 27, (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals are hoping for a break from the weather today. They are scheduled to meet the New York Yankees in an exhibition game, following two days of idleness.

The Cards were rained out in scheduled games against the Boston Braves Tuesday and against the Yankees yesterday.

Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell and George (Red) Munger were the Cardinal pitching choices today against Ed Lopat and Johnny Sain of the Yanks.

Bradenton, Fla., March 27 (AP)—The Boston Braves and Brooklyn Dodgers, rained out of their scheduled exhibition tilt yesterday, will try again today.

Ben Wade, who played for Hollywood in the Pacific Coast League last season, and Jim Wilson are slated to twirl for the Braves.

The Braves now have been rained out of two straight games. Club officials said the cancellations cost them "considerable money." Refunds were made at the park yesterday.

Feller Impressive

Tucson, Ariz., March 27 (AP)—Bob Feller has quit "taking it easy" in exhibition games. The results: Impressive.

Until yesterday, Bob was following his early spring training schedule of pitching in relaxed style to limber up the arm. Then, against the Chicago White Sox, he bore down for the first time.

In four innings, with a crowd of 2,795 cheering him on, he shut out the Sox on three hits and struck out one.

Rookie Red Fahr was less effective. He let Chicago win an 8-5 decision in the ninth, with rookie George Wilson's three-run homer the deciding blow.

Sarasota, Fla., March 27 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox entertain the Cincinnati Reds today in their final Grapefruit League game this season at Payne Field.

Manager Lou Bourdau said he will use four pitchers—Randy Gumpert, Willard Nixon, Harry Taylor and Ellis Kinder—against the Reds.

The Sox had no game scheduled yesterday.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 27 (AP)—Manager Casey Stengel has named Vic Raschi as his opening day pitcher, but the selection came as no surprise.

The Yanks open the season against the Philadelphia Athletics on April 15 and Raschi boasts a lifetime 20-2 record over the A's.

Damascus Guns Belong on Mantel

By WARREN PAGE
(Shooting Editor)

Ever try running a Model-T Ford on aviation gasoline?

Burned out the valves and popped her gaskets, didn't it? Feeding today's shells into a damascus-barreled shotgun does much the same thing—except that it's more than damaging; it's actually unsafe.

The heydey of damascus barrels came between 1875-1900. Thousands of damascus-tubed shotguns were imported into this country from Belgium and England, thousands more put up in our own gun plants. But regardless of flossy engraving and handsome stocks, the best of these muskets are as out of date as the Stanley Steamer—and they're dangerous.

Powders and Pressures Have Changed

These weapons were built when black powder was standard for shot shells and were designed for pressures no higher than 6000 pounds per square inch. Today's high velocity shot shell loadings with modern progressive burning powders develop pressures between 8,500 and 12,500 pounds per square inch. Therefore, even if the damascus old timer was built with a 100 per cent safety margin, it is on the ragged edge with modern shot shells.

Many damascus owners figure they can get by without losing a hand or eye by using "light" loads. You might shoot the oldtimer the rest of your life without a blow-up. You might get away with passing on blind curves, too.

The "light" loads have nothing to do with it. Under certain conditions of shot shell loading, wadding pressures, the types of powder, chamber measurements, the pressures in hulls throwing shot charges under maximum will run just as high as in duck loads of 4s. A damascus-barreled shotgun will blow up only once, and it's very nearly as likely to let go with low-based shells as it is with the high-brass type.

Furthermore, most of the old timers were built with chambers for 2-9/16 or 2-5/8 shells, fired length. Most 1952 shotgun fodder comes with a pie crimp—except for the hulls made by Federal with their bustible top wads—and today's pie-crump shells all open out to 2-¾ fired length, regardless of what they measure before you shoot them.

How Can You Spot a Damascus Barrel?

When you fire a long hull in a short chamber the cardboard unfurls into the forcing cone of your barrel, the tapering section between chamber and bore, and partially plugs it up. Pressures rise as much as 15 per cent. This stunt in a damascus job makes a bad matter worse.

How can you spot a damascus barrel?

They may be marked as London Twist, Belgian Laminated. Damascus barrels are usually browned, not blued like modern tubes. Always you can see as an indelible part of the metal a wavy spiralling grain, often in definite handsome patterns.

The spiral pattern comes from the method of construction. Alternate strips of iron and steel, of low tensile strength by today's pressures, were twisted and welded into ribbons. These in turn were twisted around a mandrel and welded into a tube, through which the finished barrel could be bored. Look for the twisty pattern.

If you have a fowling piece with damascus tubes, no matter how sweetly it points, give it well-earned retirement. Hang it over the mantlepiece. If you just don't give a hoot about your left hand or right eye, at least call your insurance man for accident insurance rates.

Cage Experiment

Los Angeles, March 27 (AP)—Occidental College and Los Angeles State will play a basketball game tonight in which the object is to score a fixed number of points, instead of beating the opposition within the prescribed time limit. The innovation, the brain child of Los Angeles State Coach Sax Elliott, is designed to remedy last quarter stalling and fouling tactics which have been so noticeable this season. Results of tonight's experiment will be wired to Seattle, where the National Rules Committee is in session.

Limited Training Ahead

Hamilton, N. Y., March 27 (AP)—Colgate's football squad will have an abbreviated spring practice this year, but probably none in 1953. The university announced yesterday it would hold a "limited" spring session "in simple fairness" to its new head coach, Harold W. Jahar.

Change Game Stalling

Seattle, March 27 (AP)—Basketball's rules doctors will operate today on late-game stalling and cheap fouls—and in the opinion of most coaches who watched a trial run last night it should be major surgery. It seemed certain that the rules body—the National Basketball Committee of the United States and Canada—would come up with something along the line of last night's experiment in the Illinois-Santa Clara consolation game at the NCAA championships, won by the Illini, 67-64.

Police to Bowl

All members of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association who are off duty Sunday are invited with their wives to bowl as guests of the Poughkeepsie Patrolmen's Association at Poughkeepsie. A party will be held after the games. Local policemen accepting are asked to meet at police headquarters at 12:45 p. m.

A damascus-barreled shotgun will blow up only once, and it's very nearly as likely to let go with low-based shells as it is with the high-brass type.

Furthermore, most of the old timers were built with chambers for 2-9/16 or 2-5/8 shells, fired length. Most 1952 shotgun fodder comes with a pie crimp—except for the hulls made by Federal with their bustible top wads—and today's pie-crump shells all open out to 2-¾ fired length, regardless of what they measure before you shoot them.

How Can You Spot a Damascus Barrel?

When you fire a long hull in a short chamber the cardboard unfurls into the forcing cone of your barrel, the tapering section between chamber and bore, and partially plugs it up. Pressures rise as much as 15 per cent. This stunt in a damascus job makes a bad matter worse.

How can you spot a damascus barrel?

They may be marked as London Twist, Belgian Laminated. Damascus barrels are usually browned, not blued like modern tubes. Always you can see as an indelible part of the metal a wavy spiralling grain, often in definite handsome patterns.

The spiral pattern comes from the method of construction. Alternate strips of iron and steel, of low tensile strength by today's pressures, were twisted and welded into ribbons. These in turn were twisted around a mandrel and welded into a tube, through which the finished barrel could be bored. Look for the twisty pattern.

If you have a fowling piece with damascus tubes, no matter how sweetly it points, give it well-earned retirement. Hang it over the mantlepiece. If you just don't give a hoot about your left hand or right eye, at least call your insurance man for accident insurance rates.

Cage Experiment

Los Angeles, March 27 (AP)—Occidental College and Los Angeles State will play a basketball game tonight in which the object is to score a fixed number of points, instead of beating the opposition within the prescribed time limit. The innovation, the brain child of Los Angeles State Coach Sax Elliott, is designed to remedy last quarter stalling and fouling tactics which have been so noticeable this season. Results of tonight's experiment will be wired to Seattle, where the National Rules Committee is in session.

Limited Training Ahead

Hamilton, N. Y., March 27 (AP)—Colgate's football squad will have an abbreviated spring practice this year, but probably none in 1953. The university announced yesterday it would hold a "limited" spring session "in simple fairness" to its new head coach, Harold W. Jahar.

Change Game Stalling

Seattle, March 27 (AP)—Basketball's rules doctors will operate today on late-game stalling and cheap fouls—and in the opinion of most coaches who watched a trial run last night it should be major surgery. It seemed certain that the rules body—the National Basketball Committee of the United States and Canada—would come up with something along the line of last night's experiment in the Illinois-Santa Clara consolation game at the NCAA championships, won by the Illini, 67-64.

Police to Bowl

All members of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association who are off duty Sunday are invited with their wives to bowl as guests of the Poughkeepsie Patrolmen's Association at Poughkeepsie. A party will be held after the games. Local policemen accepting are asked to meet at police headquarters at 12:45 p. m.

Declares Humans May Be Made to Order in Future

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

New York, March 27 (AP)—The day may be coming when human beings will be made to order with test tubes and women who are not their mothers.

This prediction was made today by Dr. Ralph W. Gerard, professor of physiology, University of Chicago, at a "Conference of the Future" held by executives of Mutual Fire and Casualty Insurance Companies.

The new breeding method already is used on animals. Selected human parents, doing the same, would give their eggs and sperm to a scientific laboratory. There, conception would take place in a test tube. The fertilized egg would be planted in a foster mother and, according to the facts already discovered with animals, the child would truly inherit the qualities of its test tube parents.

The first human step already has been taken in an artificial insemination. But Dr. Gerard predicted it would be a long time before we have many made-to-order human beings. He said we may not want to, because they will be monotonously alike. Or they may create castes.

New Body Parts

He predicted new hearts, by transplantation, and new kidneys similarly. He said the secret of aging would be discovered and used for man's benefit.

Our present crude calculating machines, he said, will become truly brainlike and of great assistance in thinking.

In this world of tomorrow, said Dr. Louis N. Ridenour, Los Angeles physicist, machines with electronic directors will replace clerks. Human routine work will be done by machines.

He is a well-know atom scientist and he predicted that in five years there would probably be enough A-bombs to destroy all the world. Ten thousand exploded anywhere in the world, he said, would cause death everywhere by insidious radioactive poison dust.

Planes Are Grounded

Fined for 90 Miles

John Thayer, 35, of Shokan was fined $25 by Justice of the Peace Harold Macholdt of the town of Ulster today on a speeding charge. Thayer was arrested this morning on Route 28 by Deputy Sheriff Earl Conro, county identification officer, who charged him with speeding at "90 miles an hour."

Striped Bass Reported

New York, March 27 (AP)—The biggest school of striped bass seen in the lower Hudson river in 20 years is swarming upstream. Norman Understiller, licensed to net fish in the Tappan Zee, a wide area of the river near Nyack, reported he caught three tons of them in less than 24 hours.

Convicted Murderers Executed by Firing Squad

Spectators on cemetery wall strain for a better view as five convicted murderers crumple to ground while a 40-man firing squad lowers its rifles during an open-air execution in Guatemala City, Guatemala, last week. ### Former English Teacher In Princeton Dies at 77

Princeton, N. J., March 27 (AP)—Francis C. MacDonald, former professor of English at Princeton University, died yesterday at Westchester Hospital in White Plains, N. Y. He was 77.

He was one of 50 preceptors brought to Princeton in 1905 when Woodrow Wilson was president of the university. From 1905 until his retirement in 1936, MacDonald was a member of the English department.

MacDonald authored several novels and verse publications. On his retirement he presented his personal library of 45,000 volumes on nineteenth and twentieth century American literature to the university.

He was born in Siam, the son of a Presbyterian missionary, and travelled extensively throughout the Orient. MacDonald was a bachelor. He is survived by a niece, Mrs. Robert Lacy of Shade Gap, Pa.

Proclamation

Cancer Control Month

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk today issued the following proclamation in behalf of cancer control month:

Whereas, April has been designated by presidential proclamation and Act of Congress as a month in which to emphasize the need for cancer control, and

Whereas, this is a time in which all of us should give profound thought to the gravity of cancer's peril on the one hand and the hope of controlling the disease on the other, and

Whereas, statistics show that one of every five persons in this city will eventually have cancer, and

Whereas, among cancer victims only one-third are now being saved, and

Whereas, it is possible to double the number of cures through early detection and prompt treatment of the disease by radiation and surgery, and

Whereas, the American Cancer Society is summoning all of us to participate in this life-saving work by informing everyone of cancer's danger signals and to cooperate in raising funds for this work of education and for research and service to cancer patients,

Now, therefore, I, Oscar V. Newkirk, mayor of the City of Kingston, do ordain and proclaim the month of April: Cancer Control Month and request that every citizen of this city participate in observance of the occasion.

Truman Requests Relief Authority

Key West, Fla., March 27 (AP)—President Truman today asked Congress for extended authority to subsidize foreign relief shipments and said he planned to ask later for power to continue guarantees of publishing investments abroad.

The Mutual Security Agency now has such powers—as did the old Economic Cooperation Administration which it replaced — but authority expires June 30.

Legislation is before Congress to authorize the President to designate any government department or agency to continue subsidizing relief shipments.

In identical letters to Chairman Connally (D.-Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and Chairman Richards (D.-S.C.) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, the President urged passage of this measure, and added:

"At an early date there also will be submitted for the consideration of the Congress a request for authority to enable the government to continue the work of guaranteeing investments in informational media enterprises."

The President said authority for both purposes is needed to support "the mutual security efforts of the free world." He said "it is essential that these activities be carried on after June 30, 1952."

Delicious Dish

Team small cooked white onions (they come in jars or cans) with drained cooked green peas and a cream sauce; turn into a casserole, cover with grated cheese, and reheat in the oven. If the topping is not brown enough by the time the vegetables and sauce are hot run under the broiler for a minute or two.

Local Students Will Play in Carnegie Hall Concert

A national String Festival and Convention will be held in New York city this week at the Barbizon Plaza Hotel and at Carnegie Hall. One of the highlights of the festival will be a gala youth concert in Carnegie Hall, Sunday at 6:30 p. m. when 500 young string players of all ages from several states will participate. This will be the first time that such a mammoth grouping of young string players has been attempted and the first time such a group has played in Carnegie Hall. Fifteen students from the local elementary schools have been rehearsing strenuously under the direction of Miss Lulu May Roberts, elementary instrumental instructor, for the concert. They will leave the city Sunday morning and arrive in New York in time for a group rehearsal prior to the presentation of the concert. The students are, upper photo, left to right, front row, Margaret Lawatsch, Robert Gollnick, and Jerome Singer; back row, Dianne Thomas, Ellen Carney, Thelma Wright, Dorothy Neal and Nancy Domanico. Lower photo, left to right, front row, Diane Rifenburg, Bill Craft, and Robert Gillen; rear, Gail Haynes, Teresa Turck, Carolyn Hull and Judy Haines. (Freeman photos).

Warren Joins With Stassen in Seeking Eisenhower Votes

Milwaukee, March 27 (AP)—Gov. Earl Warren of California said today Eisenhower supporters "can best serve their own integrity" by voting for Warren in next Tuesday's Republican presidential primary.

The California governor, whose 30 delegate candidates already have served notice they will support Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower if Warren drops out of the race, thus joined former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota in bidding for Eisenhower backing in a race where the general's name is not entered.

Warren was asked from the audience after a campaign speech at Beloit whether a voter who wants to see Eisenhower get the party's nomination should support him or Stassen, as opposed to Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

"My immodesty makes me say that any Wisconsin voter can best serve his own integrity by voting for me," Warren replied.

Earlier, however, Warren had made it clear he expects delegates elected for him to support him at the convention. He has said if he can't make the grade for the nomination he will release them without strings.

The untested Eisenhower strength in the state apparently also may result in a surge of Democratic cross-overs into the Republican primary.

Press Is Asked To Aid Right

Washington, March 27 (AP)—The American press was asked today to help keep "rightdoers" in government from being smeared by attacks on wrongdoers.

"Let's watch our aim," Robert Ramspeck, U. S. Civil Service chief, said in a speech prepared for a luncheon of the National Press Club. "And let's hang a medal as quickly as we'd hang a culprit. There's room for both—even in an election year."

He said too little is known about the day-to-day services of the majority of federal workers in relation to misdeeds of a few.

Ramspeck said criticism of government workers should be "specific, not general" so that public faith in the American form of government is not weakened. This, he said, is a "major responsibility" of the press.

Little Change Noted in Weather

(By The Associated Press)

The nation's weather pattern of the past few days showed little change today as cold weather continued over most of the midwest.

It was zero again today in northern Michigan and below freezing was reported over most of the north central region. Light snow fell in parts of Iowa, Minnesota, the Dakotas, southern lower Michigan and northeast Indiana.

Warmer weather moved into the Rockies and it was mild in the far western states. Temperatures were around seasonal levels in other parts of the country.

Rain continued in Florida early today and rain or snow was reported in southeast Missouri and central Oklahoma. Tampa reported rainfall measuring nearly four inches on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Truman Requests Relief Authority

Key West, Fla., March 27 (AP)—President Truman today asked Congress for extended authority to subsidize foreign relief shipments and said he planned to ask later for power to continue guarantees of publishing investments abroad.

The Mutual Security Agency now has such powers—as did the old Economic Cooperation Administration which it replaced—but authority expires June 30.

Legislation is before Congress to authorize the President to designate any government department or agency to continue subsidizing relief shipments.

In identical letters to Chairman Connally (D.-Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and Chairman Richards (D.-S.C.) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, the President urged passage of this measure, and added:

"At an early date there also will be submitted for the consideration of the Congress a request for authority to enable the government to continue the work of guaranteeing investments in informational media enterprises."

The President said authority for both purposes is needed to support "the mutual security efforts of the free world." He said "it is essential that these activities be carried on after June 30, 1952."

Delicious Dish

Team small cooked white onions (they come in jars or cans) with drained cooked green peas and a cream sauce; turn into a casserole, cover with grated cheese, and reheat in the oven. If the topping is not brown enough by the time the vegetables and sauce are hot run under the broiler for a minute or two.

Local Students Will Play in Carnegie Hall Concert

A national String Festival and Convention will be held in New York city this week at the Barbizon Plaza Hotel and at Carnegie Hall. One of the highlights of the festival will be a gala youth concert in Carnegie Hall, Sunday at 6:30 p. m. when 500 young string players of all ages from several states will participate. This will be the first time that such a mammoth grouping of young string players has been attempted and the first time such a group has played in Carnegie Hall. Fifteen students from the local elementary schools have been rehearsing strenuously under the direction of Miss Lulu May Roberts, elementary instrumental instructor, for the concert. They will leave the city Sunday morning and arrive in New York in time for a group rehearsal prior to the presentation of the concert. The students are, upper photo, left to right, front row, Margaret Lawatsch, Robert Gollnick, and Jerome Singer; back row, Dianne Thomas, Ellen Carney, Thelma Wright, Dorothy Neal and Nancy Domanico. Lower photo, left to right, front row, Diane Rifenburg, Bill Craft, and Robert Gillen; rear, Gail Haynes, Teresa Turck, Carolyn Hull and Judy Haines. (Freeman photos).

Warren Joins With Stassen in Seeking Eisenhower Votes

Milwaukee, March 27 (AP)—Gov. Earl Warren of California said today Eisenhower supporters "can best serve their own integrity" by voting for Warren in next Tuesday's Republican presidential primary.

The California governor, whose 30 delegate candidates already have served notice they will support Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower if Warren drops out of the race, thus joined former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota in bidding for Eisenhower backing in a race where the general's name is not entered.

Warren was asked from the audience after a campaign speech at Beloit whether a voter who wants to see Eisenhower get the party's nomination should support him or Stassen, as opposed to Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

"My immodesty makes me say that any Wisconsin voter can best serve his own integrity by voting for me," Warren replied.

Earlier, however, Warren had made it clear he expects delegates elected for him to support him at the convention. He has said if he can't make the grade for the nomination he will release them without strings.

The untested Eisenhower strength in the state apparently also may result in a surge of Democratic cross-overs into the Republican primary.

Press Is Asked To Aid Right

Washington, March 27 (AP)—The American press was asked today to help keep "rightdoers" in government from being smeared by attacks on wrongdoers.

"Let's watch our aim," Robert Ramspeck, U. S. Civil Service chief, said in a speech prepared for a luncheon of the National Press Club. "And let's hang a medal as quickly as we'd hang a culprit. There's room for both—even in an election year."

He said too little is known about the day-to-day services of the majority of federal workers in relation to misdeeds of a few.

Ramspeck said criticism of government workers should be "specific, not general" so that public faith in the American form of government is not weakened. This, he said, is a "major responsibility" of the press.

Little Change Noted in Weather

(By The Associated Press)

The nation's weather pattern of the past few days showed little change today as cold weather continued over most of the midwest.

It was zero again today in northern Michigan and below freezing was reported over most of the north central region. Light snow fell in parts of Iowa, Minnesota, the Dakotas, southern lower Michigan and northeast Indiana.

Warmer weather moved into the Rockies and it was mild in the far western states. Temperatures were around seasonal levels in other parts of the country.

Rain continued in Florida early today and rain or snow was reported in southeast Missouri and central Oklahoma. Tampa reported rainfall measuring nearly four inches on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Favors Breaking Up Of Bank Monopoly

Washington, March 27 (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board is reported favoring 3 to 2 an order to break up as a monopoly the huge Transamerica banking empire.

It was built by the late A. P. Giannini in California, Oregon, Nevada, Washington and Arizona. The board council says it includes 48 banks with 667 banking offices.

Reliable informants said the board majority was planning an order which would let Transamerica keep its minority stock in the Bank of America chain in California — the world's largest bank —but would force it to give up its interest in the banks in the other four states.

If the decision, said to be still not "formalized," is handed down, it is expected to be thrown into a lengthy court battle. The fight before the board has been going on for years.

Transamerica attorneys contend the company is being prosecuted just because it is big. They say it faces plenty of competition where it operates.

Challenges McCarthy

Washington, March 27 (AP)—Senator Benton (D.-Conn.), target of a two million dollar damage suit brought by Senator McCarthy (R.-Wis.), challenged McCarthy today to press for trial "before his bid for re-election next November." Commenting on the "libel, slander and conspiracy" suit the Wisconsin Republican filed yesterday, Benton said in a statement: "I can prove in court the truth of my carefully documented charges. . . ."
